DISTRICT ROAD FUND

NOTIFICATION No 200

The 6th May 1884

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Monghyr Bhagulpore, Lurneah Maldah and Sonthal Pergunnahs for the cess year 1882 83 together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division are published for general information

G F L S NILL Major M S C

Under Secy to the Govt of Bengal, P W D

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Monghyr, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882 83

THE collections during the year were not satisfactory they having amounted to 87 per cent, against 97 during the previous year. The collections thus fell short by 10 per cent and this decrease is mainly due to laxity in carrying out the certificate procedure in consequence of want of sufficient staff and other similar reasons. The work of re valuation has been completed and the collection under it has been commenced during the year. An increase of Rs 30 000 in the demand has been effected under this re valuation.

All the meetings held by the members of the District Road Committee during the year were attended by a sufficient number of members to form quorums and consequently business was regularly transacted at each of them. The attendance of the mofussil members was not satisfactory, as reported in previous years.

The members of the Begooserai Branch Committee were regular in their attendance but this cannot be said of the Jamui Branch Committee the members of which have neglected their duties in this respect. Some of the members however of this Branch Committee have attended regularly and afforded much assistance. The European members as well as some of the native members of the Begooserai Branch Committee took a lively interest in their work and rendered great assistance in carrying out and supervising the numerous petty works annually executed.

Great improvements are annually made in the village communications for which purpose grants have been made to the Branch Committees.

Tree planting has been attended to by the Committee. Several miles of roads have been planted with fruit trees and it is hoped that within the next few years, most of the important roads under the Committee will be well supplied with trees.

A greater portion of the outlay during the year under review consisted in the maintenance and repairs of the existing roads. Among the new works undertaken by the Committee, there is none which needs any special mention, except the bridging of the Sheikhpura to Sekandra road. On the whole the state of the roads in the district is generally good.

The several establishments under the Road Committee have worked satisfactorily.

Road Committee

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Bhagulpore, on the Committee's operation, for the cess year 1882 83

THE Cess Act has worked well in this district. Inconvenience is, however, experienced when a Vice Chairman who is a non official leaves the district or head quarters temporarily, sometimes for two or three months. The appointment of an acting Vice Chairman should be provided for in the new Act.

The members of the District and Branch Committees have generally taken a good deal of interest in their work.

The District Committee have done a good deal of useful work in the way of completing the bridging of roads during the past cess year. All the timber bridges on the important and much used road from Bhagulpore to Amerpore, and on that from Amerpore to Banka, have been thoroughly restored with new and in places with old but serviceable sal timber. This work has been completed in a satisfactory manner at a cost of Rs 9589. The bridging of the road from Mudehpoorah to Sonbursa, which was left incomplete in the previous year, has been completed. The bridging of the road from Milki to Sonbursa was commenced and completed during the year. A new bridge has been built over Tilabeh river at a cost of Rs 7,055 half of which was contributed by the Monghyr District Committee. Similarly the bridging on two or three other roads has been completed during the year.

Very little has been done in the way of tree planting during the year owing to want of funds, Rs 4,127 having been expended by the District and the Branch Road Cess Committees. At present 7600 trees have been planted out, and this is over and above the number of trees which have grown sufficiently to require no more looking after. The Maharajah of Durbhunga has planted fruit trees along several miles of the Kanowli road, but they have been planted too far from the roadway, apparently with the object of preventing disputes about ownership in future years.

The several establishments under the Committee have done their work well, and the books and returns of the Committee were found in good order.

on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83*

THE Act works smoothly enough in this district, and the people are pleased with the improvement that has taken place in the communications. There was no special meeting of the District Road Committee held during the year, but eight ordinary meetings took place, and the working of the Committee was satisfactory. There was no quorum at one of the meetings held at Kissengunge and at one held in Arrareah. Most of the members took great interest in the road cess matters, and many of them gave valuable assistance in carrying out repairs to district and village roads. The Executive Engineer Bhagulpore Division and another non official member did not attend any of the meetings but the average attendance of members was fair.

All the district roads were repaired last year almost up to the budget allotment and the existing bridges received due attention. Of the nine inspection bungalows one was renewed and seven thoroughly repaired the remaining one needed no repair.

All the village roads were repaired during the year with the exception of a very few and the total expenditure on this account was Rs 9 170.

Trees were planted on roads Nos 14 and 5 and near inspection bungalows, at a total cost of Rs 137. The existing trees on district and village roads also received due attention.

The several establishments under the Committee have, on the whole worked satisfactorily.

PURNRAH,

The 22nd November 1883

Vice Chairman District Road Committee

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Muldah on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83

THE collection work during the year has been satisfactory. The amount of road cess unrealized at the close of the preceding year was Rs 1,574 to which the demand for the year Rs 28,883 being added, and Rs 122 previously paid in advance being deducted, the net amount of road cess realizable within the year stood at Rs 30,335. Of this sum Rs 27,947 has been collected and Rs 38 remitted leaving an outstanding balance of Rs 2,390 at the end of the year. To this amount has to be added the sum of Rs 201 paid in advance, and the total road cess levied in the district amounted to Rs 28,148, the percentage of which on the current demand was 97.4. The demand for the current year has increased from Rs 24,899 to Rs 28,883 by the revaluation of the district.

There were six meetings held during the year for transacting business and all were presided over by the Chairman. The attendance of the members of the Committee was not satisfactory, but some of them have given much assistance in superintending the repairs of roads in their respective neighbourhoods.

All the existing trees on roads were properly taken care of, and a few that had been destroyed by fire were replaced during the year.

There are 93 roads in the district aggregating 572 miles in length. Of these about 386 miles are under the personal supervision of the District Engineer, and the rest are kept in repair by local zemindars, planters, &c.

The several establishments under the Committee generally worked fairly well throughout the year.

W M SMITH,
for Deputy Commissioner, Sonthal Pargannah

No 440 P W, dated Bhagulpore the 24th March 1884

From—G N BARLOW, Esq, Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual accounts and reports of road cess operations for the cess year 1882 83 from all districts in this division

2 The report from the Monghyr district was not received until the 27th of February 1884, and for this reason the submission of my report has been delayed The reports and accounts from other districts were received in good time

3 Receipts—The percentage of collections in the five districts was as follows —

Monghyr	87 0 per cent
Bhagulpore	95 7 „
Purneah	101 74 „	(The increase is owing to arrears and advance collection)
Maldah	97 4 „
Sonthal Pergunnahs	No road cess in this district

The Chairman, District Road Committee, Monghyr, states the reasons of the falling off in percentage of collections during the year

In Monghyr Bhagulpore, and Maldah re valuation has increased considerably the road cess demand

4 The Chairmen of the three most important districts—Monghyr, Bhagulpore, and Purneah—report most favourably on the state of the roads in their districts, and in the great improvement which is yearly taking place

In Maldah the income is small, and there are many difficulties in the way of getting work done but even here old main roads are again being brought into order and a number of surface roads maintained, where, but a few years ago there were none

The Act is reported to work well and be appreciated, and there can be no doubt of the very great improvement which has been (and is being) effected in the general communications of these districts during the last few years since the system has gradually settled down into practical working order In all new works masonry bridges are taking the place of timber structures, or, where these latter are still necessary they are put up in a more permanent form The miserable structures on old bridged roads are being quickly replaced by better ones The result is now beginning to be apparent in the lessening of the annual amounts required for repairs, and each year will bring an improvement in this respect, and I consider it not too much to say that with the present system kept in good working order for a few years more these districts will be supplied with the necessary communications throughout that the funds will be ample to keep them in proper order, and to allow of such new works as will necessarily be, from time to time, required, being constructed without further help from the Local Government Such will each year tend more and more, to show the cess payers that they are gaining some real, useful, and practical advantage from what they pay

A number of surveys were carried out during the year and many important projects submitted, some of which had been unsettled for years notably the embanked Tirhoot road in north Monghyr and the main northern road in the Bhagulpore district to Muddehpura

In the Sonthal Pergunnahs, there being no road cess or Committee, the Deputy Commissioner confines his report to a brief statement of work done, but this district is no exception to the rule, and under his immediate energetic supervision the main roads are being completed, minor roads opened out, and nearly all maintained in first rate order, being mostly drivable throughout

5 The number of members of each District Committee and the average attendance is given below —

NAME OF DISTRICT	Number of meetings	Number of members.	Average number attending each meeting	Numbers who did not attend any meeting
Monghyr	6	18	5½	8
Bhagulpore	8	17	6	4
Purneah	8	18	6 12	2
Maldah	6	20	6	9

* The number of meetings held at Monghyr and Maldah is insufficient for the Committees to have exercised much real control over the work, while the number of members who did not attend any meeting is large, and shows that many members have been selected who take no interest in the road cess work I think that, if Committees are to exercise any real control over work, that meetings should be held not less than once every month, and this, if possible, on a stated day in each month, so that members living at a distance can make their arrangements for attending in time.

In Purneah the Committee are reported to have worked satisfactorily, and, in Bhagulpore, to have taken much interest in the work. The services of the Vice Chairman, Rai Shib Ohundra Banerjee, Bahadoor, are specially noted.

6 Branch Committees—In Monghyr, the members of the Begooesera Sub-Committees are reported to have been regular in their attendance, and to have given much assistance in carrying out and supervising most of the work in the sub division. In Jamui the attendance was unsatisfactory, and but a few members appear to take any interest whatever in the work.

In Bhagalpore, the Branch Committees are reported to have worked well. The attendance was good. The services of the Vice Chairmen of the Sudder and Supul Branch Committees, Baboo Sri Mohun Thakoor and Syud Ghulam Maula, are specially noticed.

In Purneah, the attendance of the Branch Committees has been fair, and they appear to have worked satisfactorily.

There are no Branch Committees in Maldah.

ORIGINAL WORKS

7 Monghyr—The principal work has been—the completion of the bridging on the Secundra to Sheikpura road No 15 (not yet fully done), and that on the Ramghur and Sheikpura road No 17 (completed), making a new diversion on the road from Luckeesera to Jamui, at a place where the Keal river was breaching the old road and constructing a diversion road round the large bazar and village of Burhea on the Patna road No 13 the line through the bazar for over two miles being nearly impassable, 325 r ft masonry bridges were completed, and 600 r ft temporary structures were restored.

All roads in the district were thoroughly repaired early in the season, and many old culverts and bridges dismantled and properly restored.

8 Bhagulpore—The principal works have been—the re construction of timber bridges on the road from Bhagulpore to Umerpore at a cost of Rs ,600 the completion of the masonry bridges on the Sonbursa and Muddehpura road on the north, and the construction of a large timber bridge over the Telabee (where the Monghyr district is met) at a cost of Rs 7,000. The masonry bridges on the short road from Milki to Sonbursa were commenced and completed during the year.

All the roads in the list have been kept in good order and repair, and in the north many temporary bridges replaced by better structures. A saving of Rs 5 000 was effected on the total estimate for repairs which was satisfactory.

Thirty two roadside wells have been constructed for the use of passengers four inspection bungalows have been built 149 r ft of new bridging was completed and 704 r ft of timber bridging restored during the year.

9 Purneah—The chief work in this district was the bridging of roads Nos 6 and 7, Raneegunge to Barsoe, and Bassantpore to Raneegunge. In road No 6, 330 r ft of timber bridging was completed. In road No 7, 370 r ft of ditto ditto, the work being of a substantial character. A great deal of work was also done in road No 1, from Purneah to Barsoe, in raising the road above flood level and filling in breaches. Many other roads were raised, straightened, or improved.

The roads of the district were kept in good repair, and much attention was paid to giving them a proper section. Before they were nearly all, more or less, hollow at the centre. They have now nearly all a proper rounded surface which throws off the rain water.

10 Maldah—No new works of any importance have been carried out, and until the old main lines of road which have been allowed to fall into entire disrepair have been restored it is not advisable to commence any. Grants in aid were given for —

1	The Gadagari and Dinagepur road	No 10
2	Nawabgunge to Jhelum „	„ 39
3	Mukrampore to Parbuttypore „	„ 42

These lie to the east of the district, carry very heavy and important traffic but had been entirely neglected for years. Most of the bridges and bank of the first have been restored. The second has been completed and put in good order. A good deal of work has been done on the third, including four timber bridges, but the work is not completed.

On the old main road from Rajmahal to Dinagepore some work has been done between Rajmahal and Maldah, but from (old) Maldah north the road has been neglected. No work has been done on this for years. A large grant has been made for the purpose of restoring this road during the next cess year. The other roads in the district do not carry heavy traffic. The usual repairs have been executed throughout. Much of the repair work of this district is done by Messrs Reilly, Hennessy, Walton, and Saupin, Mr Reilly alone having 12½ miles of road under his charge. The north-west of the district has been much opened out and communications improved by him.

Most of the navigable rivers have been brought into the road cess list, and it is hoped that next cess year something may be done in the way of removing snags and cutting through shallow bars.

11 Sonhal Pergunnahs.—Two masonry bridges were built on road No. 4, Dumka to Muraroe Railway Station. These streams were difficult to cross, and the bridges are most useful here. The roads in the district have been kept generally in good repair, and the main roads are in excellent order. During the close of the year all roads before under the Public Works Department were taken over as district roads. Several projects are in hand for completing the bridging of the main existing roads, for which a grant-in-aid has been given by Government.

12 Village roads—These have been repaired and considerable improvements effected in Monghyr and Bhagulpore. In Purneah most but not all, have been maintained in good order. In Maldah village roads are included in the list of district roads. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs, the three village roads have been repaired. Below is given expenditure on purely village roads—

NAMES OF DISTRICTS	Expenditure on village roads
	Rs	A	P
Monghyr	13 295	1	8
Bhagulpore	19 623	14	11
Purneah	8 317	8	3
Maldah	3,191	1	6
Sonthal Pergunnahs	429	7	9
Total	44 857	2	1

13 Planting trees—This has been carried out more or less, in each district, with varying results. In Monghyr, whole lengths of road have been let out to contractors for payments by results. The Chairman reports this is still a tentative system, but I think, as most of the contracts were given out in 1882 that enough experience has been gained to allow of the results being judged. On one road, Ramghur to Seikhpoura it has been a complete failure. On the Firhoot road the trees are reported to be doing well. On the Patna road No 13 and Sugrampore road No 16 the results cannot be said to be satisfactory. Everywhere the smallest seedlings have been put in which will require one or two years' more care and maintenance than proper sized trees from nurseries and the Committee have made themselves responsible for a very heavy future annual expenditure, the amount of which they have no means of judging. The maintenance of existing trees on the roads in the south of the district has not been satisfactory.

In Bhagulpore two years old trees from nurseries are only planted out and maintained departmentally. These are well looked after. Many planted out three to four years ago now require no maintenance. All planted are strong and flourishing and it is only to be regretted the Committee were unable to allot more funds for planting out from the well stocked nurseries. I strongly urged some further moderate allotments.

In Purneah and Maldah the existing trees have been fairly maintained, but nothing worth mentioning has been done in planting out. In these districts, with so much uncultivated land and jungle, this is a work which I am not inclined to press on much, until the state of communications are much more complete than at present.

In the Sonthal Pergunnahs, the trees are planted out from nurseries, maintained departmentally, are well cared for and thriving, and a fair length of road has been newly planted out. Below is an abstract of trees planted out and maintained—

Monghyr	1,545	18,150
Bhagulpore	1,184	11,881
Purneah	349	2,517
Maldah	None	3 miles
Sonthal Pergunnahs	(20 miles) 8,000	9,500

14. Accounts—The year commenced with a balance in hand of Rs. 47,889, including an unnecessary heavy balance in Maldah of Rs. 20,956; fair working balances in Purneah and Sonthal Pergunnahs, and an insufficient balance in Monghyr and Bhagulpore, in which districts work was, more or less, retarded for want of funds at the commencement of the year. The year closes with a balance in hand of Rs. 1,04,227. Monghyr again has an insufficient balance for working purposes. Bhagulpore and Purneah have fair working balances, and Maldah and Sonthal Pergunnahs heavy balances of Rs. 21,554 and 59,196 respectively. The heavy balance in Maldah was on account of work estimated for not having been carried out that in the Sonthal Pergunnahs on account of Government grants given late in the year, which could not be utilized until estimates were prepared and sanctioned.

The suspense accounts are heavy in the districts of Monghyr Bhagulpore, and Purneah. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs only has all expenditure been finally booked up to the end of the year. These large suspense heads are probably chiefly for work done but not finally measured, paid for, or booked but, until detailed render nugatory any comparison of actual expenditure under head of "repairs" and 'original works'.

Abstracts giving the totals of receipts and expenditure in this division the same showing details under the various heads expenditure on works in the different districts, the expenditure on village roads and the balance in hand at the close of the cess year.

15 Establishment — The only change in establishment has been in Purneah, where the District Engineer Mr Roberts, took six months leave last September and Baboo Nogendra Nath Chatterjee, B.C.E. was appointed to act for him. The establishment throughout is reported to have worked well. The District Engineers have now a complete knowledge of their districts and deserve credit for the many improvements made and for their steady attention to their work especially considering the very uncertain nature of their present appointments.

To the Divisional Superintendent my best acknowledgments are due for the interest he takes in the work. I cannot wish better for my division than that his services may long be retained here.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS OF THE OPIUM AGENTS OF BEHAR AND BENARES FOR 1882-83

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MIS REVENUE

READ—

A letter from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue No 89B dated the 11th February 1884 submitting the reports of the Opium Agents of Behar and Benares for 1882-83

The working of the Opium Department in both Agencies was thoroughly investigated during the year by a Commission consisting of the Hon'ble H J Reynolds and Messrs Duthoit and Forbes, and a very valuable report was submitted by these gentlemen, which is now receiving the Lieutenant-Governor's attention. Mr Rivers Thompson hopes shortly to lay before the Government of India his views on the many important questions discussed and the reforms suggested by the Commission.

2 The past season was in both Agencies, as regards yield, the most unfavourable that has occurred for many years. The quantity of land engaged for, the quantity sown, the net quantity actually cultivated, and the outturn in each Agency in the last two years, are compared in the following statement —

SEASON	Area engaged for	Land sown for cultivation	Net cultivation	Produce at 75° consistence
BEHAR	Bighas	Bighas.	Bighas	Mds s c
1882-83	4 63 9 7	4 64 772	3 94 213	27 073 24 56
Increase
BENARES
1881-82	4 50 474	5 99 478	5 40 659	51,449 7 3
1882-83	4 5 541	4 1 0 5	3 04 9 2	43,313 5 10½
Increase		14 147	2 353
Decrease	21 933			9 136 1 7½

Behar, it will be observed, shows a falling off under every head, resulting in the serious loss of over 22,366 maunds in the produce, while in the Benares Agency, also, notwithstanding an increase in the net cultivated area, the outturn declined by 9,236 maunds. Of the total cultivation in Behar, 1,96,590 bighas lay south and 1,97,642 north of the Ganges. The whole of the former area was irrigated, but only 91,581 bighas of the latter had the benefit of irrigation. The decrease of cultivation was in the proportion of 43,213 bighas in the North Gangetic to 22,937 bighas in the South Gangetic districts, and the Agent accordingly concludes that the latter districts, with their larger facilities for irrigation, are more favourable for poppy cultivation, and that we must look to them alone in future for an extension of our operations. It is doubtful, however, that canal irrigation is altogether favourable to the poppy and for this and other reasons the Lieutenant Governor does not think the Agent's views on this point free from doubt. The figures for the Benares Agency are, on the whole, not unsatisfactory, and it is evident that the falling off in produce was entirely due to the very unfavourable conditions of the season. The decrease in settlements is attributed by the Agent to greater care in rejecting applications for advances for lands which the ryots were evidently not in a position to cultivate, while there was an increase both in the area sown and the area actually cultivated.

3 The season began most favourably in the Behar Agency, but matters were entirely changed by the occurrence of bad weather in January and subsequently, leading to a widespread development of blight and destruction of the crops. In the Mozufferpore kotha only 43 maunds of produce were gathered against 379 maunds in the previous year, in Hazarepore only 238 maunds were collected out of an estimated outturn of 2,000, and in Alligunj only 811 maunds out of 7,300 expected by the Sub Deputy Agent. The districts south of the Ganges did better, but really good crops were obtained only in Hazari bagh and Monghyr. The Benares Agency experienced similar weather, while, in addition to the injury done to them by blight, the crops suffered a good deal in places from caterpillars, hail and frost. Some portion of the produce is also stated to have been lost in consequence of the exudations from the forward plants having been washed away by rain while the opium was being collected. The effect of the weather on the average produce per bigha was, as might be expected, of a marked character in both Agencies. In Behar the average was reduced from 4 seers 4½ chittacks in the previous season to 2 seers 12 chittacks, and in Benares from 5 seers 2½ chittacks to 4 seers 1½ chittacks. Under such circumstances, it is satisfactory to know that the prospects of the current year's crop are favourable, and that the outturn is expected to go some way towards making up for last year's deficiency.

4 The total quantity of produce available for manufacture in the Behar Agency comprised the season's outturn shown in the above statement, and 4,349 maunds of Benares opium of 75° consistence transferred to Patna, and from this amount 16,000 chests of provision opium were manufactured against 26,022 chests in the previous season. The number of chests of excise opium manufactured during the season was 802 (130 maunds of produce being left in hand for manufacture at the date of the Agent's report) against 2,222 in the previous year. At the Ghazipore Factory 22,124 chests of provision opium were manufactured from the produce of the Benares Agency, and a considerable quantity of excise opium was prepared from Malwa produce in accordance with the scheme to which reference is made further on.

5 Of the total quantity of opium sent in to the Factory as good in the Behar Agency, only 26 maunds received from two divisions were so bad as to justify confiscation, against 4 maunds 7 seers in 1881-82. Besides this, 298 maunds 34 seers were sent in as adulterated, of which 8 maunds 34 seers were confiscated against 19 maunds 25 seers in the previous year. These results show an improvement, notwithstanding a slight increase in the quantity of the produce on which mulcts and fines were imposed. In the Benares Agency, on the other hand, the quantity of impure produce which escaped detection by the Sub Deputy Agents shows a very large excess over that of the previous season, being 712 maunds 23 seers against 99 maunds 19 seers. The quantity detected by them was 68 maunds 35 seers against 74 maunds 12 seers, and 15 maunds 29 seers were confiscated. It is stated that the nature of the season rendered the separation of pussehah from the produce more difficult than usual.

6 As a consequence of the extensive failure of the crops in the Behar Agency, the outstanding balances of the advances made to cultivators were very heavy during the year. They amounted at first to Rs 5,58,887, but were reduced by the end of the year to Rs 2,40,474. The Lieutenant Governor is glad to have the assurance that the standing orders of the Government in regard to the realization of these advances were observed, and that the collections were made judiciously and with due regard to the circumstances of the defaulters. The balances of the Benares Agency were not so large, and of the total amount (Rs 1,85,158), Rs 1,08,169 have since been recovered. The policy which should be followed by the Government with respect to these advances has been discussed by the Opium Commission, and the matter has recently been submitted by the Lieutenant Governor, with his opinion, for the consideration of the Government of India, in anticipation of the review to be submitted on the general questions raised in the Committee's report on the future administration of the Opium Department.

7 There was a large increase during the year in the amount paid in Bengal as rewards to informers in opium cases, which is attributed to increased vigilance on the part of the Excise Department. The Behar Agent, however, doubts whether the system under which such large rewards are given to informers is a good one, and observes that "it has, no doubt, raised up in some districts professional informers, who think it no harm to bolster up a weak case by false evidence, and who rendered themselves a terror to ignorant cultivators more than to the unscrupulous dishonest smugglers who regularly trade in smuggled opium." The Board have not expressed their opinion on this point, and the Lieutenant Governor is not aware how far the Agent's opinion is supported by the experience of the local officers, but abuse is, no doubt, likely to result from insufficient discrimination in the grant of rewards, and the Lieutenant Governor desires to call the attention of the Inspector General of Police and the Magistrates and Police officers of all opium districts to the Agent's remarks. In the Benares Agency a smaller sum than in the previous year was spent in rewards, and the Agent reports also a falling off in cases under the Opium law in the North Western Provinces and Oudh, this decrease being, he thinks, due to the passing of sentences of rigorous imprisonment in most cases, and to greater activity on the part of Police and Opium officers. It is satisfactory to notice that, notwithstanding the reduction in prosecutions under the Opium law, sales of excise opium have increased in almost all districts.

8 The Lieutenant Governor is glad to learn that success has attended the plan of permitting cultivators to construct aqueducts across canal distributaries for the purpose of conveying well-water to their fields, to which sanction was given last year, the preference of the ryots for well to canal water for poppy cultivation having been shown, on enquiry, to be reasonable. The Sub-Deputy Opium Agent of Tehta reports that the far tree shoots have been a great boon to the cultivators, and have prevented hundreds of bighas from going to sugarcane, for which canal water is suited. The cost of these shoots and aqueducts is borne by the Government, and Rs 3,040 were expended on them in the Telita and Patna Sub-Agencies during the year. The expenditure has been fully justified by the saving to poppy of a large area which would have been used for other crops, if canal water only had been available for irrigation, and the new system should be extended to other localities where the cultivation of poppy suffers from the competition of crops for which canal water is suitable. The amount advanced for the construction of wells in the Behar Agency amounted to Rs 39,019 against Rs 30,309 in the previous year, and 151 pucca and 5,408 kutchia wells were constructed, while a large number of wells were repaired. The extension of the well system of irrigation appears, however, to make little or no progress in the Sub-Agencies immediately north of the Ganges, except Alligunj (Sewan), and the Lieutenant Governor is disposed to agree with Mr Kemble that, notwithstanding the insecure tenure on which the ryots generally hold their lands in those divisions, the Sub-Deputy Agents might do more towards encouraging the construction of wells by offering advances to and helping those tenants who are not liable, owing to causes which have been thoroughly discussed in connection with the Tenancy Bill, to be ejected at will from their holdings. The advances for wells in the Benares Agency also show an increase over those of the previous year, and applications for them are stated to be steadily increasing.

9 The quantity of pucca-wah delivered by the cultivators was 116 maunds against 196 in the previous year in the Behar Agency, and 46 maunds against 20 in the Benares Agency. The influences of the season were unfavourable to the experiment, sanctioned last year, of encouraging the delivery of this fluid, by raising its price from Rs 28 to Rs 38 a seer, but both Agents speak well of the effect of the measure so far. The experiment should certainly be continued during the present season.

10 The concessions which have been made to the opium cultivators of Nepal, in the shape of commission and travelling allowances, apparently account for the further increase in the quantity of opium received from them. The deliveries amounted to 628 maunds last year, this being the largest quantity received within the past ten years. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely approves of the rule made by the Board in connection with the complaint that the indulgence granted to the Nepal cultivators had been in some cases abused. A rigid rule on the subject would be unwise. It will suffice to leave it to the discretion of the officer conducting the weighments to refuse travelling allowances to men whose presence at the weighments was not really required, and who, it may be safely assumed, have attended merely for the purpose of drawing these allowances. The arrest of a number of these cultivators by the police in Tirhoot for carrying opium without a license was a regrettable occurrence, and the Lieutenant Governor desires to learn, as soon as possible, what measures have been taken, as a result of the correspondence which has passed on the subject between the Board, the Inspector General of Police and Agent, to prevent the recurrence of such proceedings.

11 The question whether the cultivation of poppy has lost its popularity and is in danger of being supplanted by the growth of other crops of greater value to the cultivators has been much discussed of late years, and the general tendency of opinion in the Opium Department has hitherto been that the cultivators were manifesting an increasing disposition to devote their best lands to the potato, the sugarcane and other paying crops, leaving the inferior soils only for poppy. The Opium Commission, however, who have examined the question, share in no degree the fears of those who predict the gradual decline of poppy cultivation under the growing competition of other crops. While admitting that the opium producers of both Agencies, and especially those of Behar, have been disheartened by the successive bad seasons from which they have suffered of late years, they have nevertheless arrived at the general conclusion "that there is no actual competition of other crops with the opium poppy at present to be dreaded." This is a question which affects large interests, and which the Lieutenant-Governor will consider fully in connection with the Commission's report.

12 The Lieutenant Governor regrets that the experiment of sowing indigo on poppy lands, to which Mr Donald Reid, a planter of the Alliganj Sub Agency, has given his attention, could not be thoroughly carried out during the year, owing to his absence from India. If one crop cannot be cleared from the ground before the land is required for another it would seem likely that the competition of Government and European planters for the same land would very often lead to undesirable complications. The Agent however, has promised an enquiry into the subject, and the results of that enquiry will be awaited.

13 A full report was lately received from the Board regarding the substitution of Malwa for Bengal opium in the manufacture of the excise drug with the view of setting free for exportation the Bengal produce hitherto used for excise purposes. The scheme has been in operation now for two years, and the results having been very satisfactory, its continuance for another year has been sanctioned. The drug thus manufactured met with some objection from excise dealers, in the first instance, on account of its oily flavour, due to the custom of mixing oil with their opium prevalent among the Malwa cultivators, and of the loss of weight which it suffered by keeping, but measures have since been taken, with considerable success, to extract the oil from the drug in the course of manufacture, and orders have also been issued for compensating the dealers for the loss of weight which have fully removed the objection on that ground. The quantity of Malwa opium purchased last year was 4 000 maunds at 90' consistence, and the excise opium manufactured was utilized for the supply of the North Western Provinces, Oudh, the Central Provinces Assam and Burmah. Great credit is due to Mr Rivett Cunnac for the successful working of the scheme, and the thanks of the Government of India and of this Government have already been conveyed to him.

14 Experiments as to the best mode of storing and packing provision opium were continued during the year, and a report on them has recently been received from the Board. With the exception of storing opium balls on open racks in the factories till required, and the use of tin lined chests, regarding which further trial is advisable, none of the methods have yielded satisfactory results, and the Lieutenant Governor has decided not to proceed further with the experiment.

15 The outturn of the saw mill at the Patna Factory was not satisfactory during the year, the number of chests having fallen short of that of the previous year by 7,096. This result is attributed to a portion of the machinery not having been available for work for over two months, owing to the substitution of a new for an old vertical frame, and to the failure in the supply of emery discs used for sharpening the saws. The Board of Revenue should see that proper arrangements are made to obviate the risk of any similar failure in future. It is satisfactory to note that the supply of mango chests by contractors had been very good up to the date of report. The Lieutenant Governor also observes that the stock of timber, planks and chests at the Factory was sufficient, after providing for this season's demand, for 81,739 chests and 31,210 compartments.

16 The control of the Department by the Board has been efficient, and the Agents also deserve the thanks of the Government for the work done during the year. The Lieutenant Governor notices also the favourable mention made of the Principal Assistants and of Messrs Tytler, Turnbull, Cosserat and Hastings by their respective Agents.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A P MACDONNELL,

READ—

The Report of the Judges of the Small Cause Court of Calcutta for 1883

The year under report was the first in which the Presidency Small Cause Court Act XV of 1882 was in force throughout

2 The following statement will show the number of suits which came before the Court, and the disposal of them during the last three years —

Pending from the previous year	1 507	1 333	1 288

Pending at close of year	1 801	1 507	1 333
Total	27 534	30 886	35 396

The working of the new procedure has thus resulted in an apparent decrease of 3,526 suits as compared with 1882. In that year Act IX of 1850 was in force for the first six months, and the present Act during the last six, and there was a decrease of 1,555 suits as compared with 1881, the last complete year under the former Act. Comparing, therefore, the institutions of the last year of the old procedure (1881) with the first year of the new procedure (1883), it appears that there has been a decrease under the latter of 8,081 suits. Part of this very large decrease is undoubtedly merely nominal. As pointed out by the Judges, investigation under section 278 of the Civil Procedure Code, of claims to and objections to attachment of property attached in execution of a decree, are no longer treated as interpleader suits. They are tried as ordinary cases, but are not shown as such in the returns. The number of these claims last year was 323. Again, under the old procedure, parties nonsuited under sections 42 and 53 of the Act frequently re-instituted their suits, and these were shown as fresh cases. The practice of nonsuit being abolished, these can come on the file only as applications for restoration and rehearing. Making allowance, however, for these nominal reductions caused by changes in the law, it is plain that, so far as the years above mentioned afford the means of comparison, there has been a great and real decrease in the number of suits instituted since the new Act has come into force. This is chiefly remarkable in the suits of values up to Rs 10. These have fallen from 10,776 in 1882 to 8,387 in 1883, a decrease of 2,389. In the next class, that of values up to Rs 50, there has also been a considerable diminution, the number in 1882 being 12,130 and in 1883, 11,020. The same decrease is noticeable, though to a smaller extent, in all the other classes except in that of over Rs 1,000, there would naturally be an increase in this class, as the Act extending the Court's jurisdiction was in force during the whole of 1883, but only during six months of 1882. A similar result followed the introduction of the Act in Madras, and its provisions have had, it is now plain, a distinct effect in discouraging suitors for small amounts. Under Act IX of 1850 the procedure was summary, and the Court was empowered to make and alter rules of practice. The speedy disposal of cases was thus much facilitated. The jurisdiction of the Court, which then embraced suits up to Rs. 500, was afterwards extended, first under Act XXVI of 1864 up to Rs. 1,000, and ultimately under the present Act to Rs 2,000. The simple procedure laid down in section 26 of Act IX of 1850 for the institution of suits has now been altered, and the provisions of sections 36, 37 and 41 of the Civil Procedure Code made applicable to the Small Cause Court, with the exception of clause 4 and the last paragraph of section 37. It is believed that the difficulties entailed upon suitors by these sections had mainly conduced to the decrease in the institution of suits, particularly of those of the smaller values. Petitions have been received from certain merchants and other inhabitants of Calcutta complaining of inconveniences. These complaints were briefly—

- (1) That in consequence of the extension to the Court of section 36 et seq of the Code of Civil Procedure, suitors were no longer able to transact their business through the agency of their relatives, managers, servants or accredited agents, or of certified mukhtars of the Court, but were compelled either to appear in person or to employ a pleader.
- (2) That in the Court a stamp of the value of one rupee had to be used for powers of attorney instead of a court fee stamp of the value of eight annas, as in the mofussil.
- (3) That suitors were no longer able to keep a decree alive by suing on the judgment of the Court, or by taking out execution before the expiry of three years.
- (4) That plaintiffs experienced difficulty in drawing out from the Court money in which they were jointly interested.

There were also complaints regarding the appointment of pleaders as agents and the excessive fees demanded by them as such.

Some of these complaints appeared to the Lieutenant Governor on investigation to be based on no sufficient grounds to justify interference, but later enquiries show that suitors were really inconvenienced by being compelled to appear in person or by pleader, unless residing beyond the limits of the Court's local jurisdiction, and that the law requiring a stamp of one rupee on powers of attorney, instead of eight annas, bore heavily on the poorer suitors. A notification reducing this duty to eight annas has already been issued by the Government of India. A rule relaxing the severity of sections 37 and 41 Civil Procedure Code, has been proposed by the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court, and on the approval of it by the High Court, the necessary notification will be issued. The Lieutenant Governor hopes that, with this relief and a better understanding of the new procedure, the smaller suitors will again have recourse to the Court.

3 The Lieutenant Governor regrets to observe that in spite of the very large decrease in the number of suits instituted the arrears have continued to increase, that the average number of days' duration of contested suits has risen from 54.8 to 71.5, and that the number of cases pending more than three months at the close of the year was 359, while in the year preceding it was only 228. The proportion of contested suits, whether decreed in favour of plaintiffs or dismissed after trial, to the total number of suits pending during the year, is nearly 19 per cent, almost exactly the same as in the previous year, yet the actual number disposed of was above 10 per cent less than in 1882. The general explanation given by the Court is that the work has not decreased to the extent which might be inferred from the figures merely, as many applications, shown in former returns as cases, are no longer so shown, while the new procedure throws in certain respects additional work on the Court. There has been also a large increase in the number of institutions in suits of values over Rs 1,000, which has added considerably to its labours. The Lieutenant Governor is willing to accept the explanation, but he would be glad if some arrangement could be made by which all the miscellaneous work of the Court could be fully represented. As matters appear upon paper at present, less work has been done by the same number of Judges in 1883 than in preceding years, and though there may be no ground for supposing that the increase of arrears is due at all to want of attention on the part of the Judges, it is impossible, upon the facts which the report contains, to press on the Government of India the recommendation for the appointment of an additional Judge, or any increase to the pay of the present Judges.

4 The total value of the suits instituted in the Civil and Revenue Courts in the Court of Small Causes was Rs 19,89,465, being Rs. 1,61,122 more than in 1882. Yet a decrease took place in the number of suits of every description, except of title and other suits of values not exceeding Rs 500, and of suits of values not exceeding Rs 5,000. The increase in the preceding year amounted to nearly a lakh of rupees. It seems, therefore, likely that a more frequent recourse will be had to the Court for the disposal of causes of the higher values, the inconveniences and expenses which harass the smaller not affecting the richer suitors to the same extent, even if those inconveniences and expenses were to remain unremoved. Parties will probably also avail themselves to a larger extent of the provisions of section 20 of the Act, to bring within its simpler procedure suits beyond its ordinary limited jurisdiction.

5 The forms of statistical returns prescribed by the Government of India, by Resolution Nos 384-57, dated 14th March 1883, will for the future supply all the necessary information given by statements 1 to 6, and the latter may for the future be omitted from the annual report.

6 A note should be made in the body of future reports, regarding the number and average value of suits tried by consent of parties under section 20 of Act XV of 1852, and also regarding the manner in which the work of the Court was distributed.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be communicated to the Judges of the Calcutta Court of Small Causes.

The mean pressure temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmann's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

Explanation of Summary — The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the season. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 100. The normal means of the rainfall are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district obtained from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions. The total rainfall at the sub-divisions stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rain for the past one year. The variations are negatives when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head district names stations for the period in question during the past 14 years. The means for the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received in one or more than an hundredth of an inch fall.

CALCUTTA,

The 7th May 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING 2ND MAY 1884

THE past week has been similar in its meteorological features to the previous week. Pressure was generally above the normal amount, temperature below the average of the period and the atmosphere slightly disturbed. This was mainly due to the fact that southerly and easterly winds prevailed steadily over the whole Province with the exception of the Shahabad and Gya districts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Thunder storms with rain hence occurred at intervals in Bengal and Orissa and gave moderate rain, less in amount than last week and more unequally distributed.

Atmospheric pressure—The barometer was very high at the beginning of the week under review and very considerably above the normal height. It was about an eighth of an inch above the mean of the day on the 26th in all parts of the Province. It fell slowly and steadily through upwards of a fifth of an inch until the 30th when it was slightly below the average height. It then began to rise and was rising at the end of the week. The mean pressure of the week was hence above the average throughout the Province by nearly the same amounts as last week. The excess was greatest in East Bengal, North Behar and probably North Bengal for which it averaged 0. In South Behar, South West Bengal and Orissa pressure was 0.3 in excess and in Chutia Nagpur 0.1. Pressure was relatively to the remainder of the Province, lowest in Chutia Nagpur and the western districts of South West Bengal.

Temperature—The temperature of the week was generally below the average of the period in consequence of the continuance of moist sea winds over the greater part of the Province and the occasional occurrence of thunder shower. The effects of these conditions were least marked in Behar and Chutia Nagpur where temperature consequently increased to some extent. Higher maximum in shade thermometer readings were recorded in Behar and West Bengal than during the preceding week. The following are the highest temperatures at all stations where the maximum exceeded 105° during the week.—

Gya	108.8° on the 30th April
Midnapore	107.9° , 1st May
Chyebassa	107.9° , 2nd
Dehree	107.5° 29th 30th April and 2nd May
Raniganj	107° , 2nd May
Bankipore	105.6° , 1st
Chapra	105.5° 2nd
Airah	105.4° , 30th April and 1st May
Cuttack	105.4° 30th April and 2nd May

Temperature generally increased in the western districts of the Province until the 30th, after which it varied little. Over the greater part of Bengal the fluctuations of the temperature depended almost entirely upon the occurrence of rain.

The mean temperature was considerably below the average in Bengal and North Behar. In Central and East Bengal the deficiency ranged from $1\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ to 4° and averaged $2\frac{1}{2}$. In North Behar it was 3. In the western districts of South West Bengal, Orissa (excepting False Point), Chutia Nagpur and South Behar the mean temperature of the week varied very slightly from the normal but was generally in defect.

Winds—They were generally the same in direction as were established during the preceding week. Southerly winds prevailed in South Bengal, south easterly winds in East Bengal, and easterly winds in North and Central Behar. Winds were variable in direction in the Gya and Shahabad district of South Behar and in Chutia Nagpur. Westerly winds, the continuation of the dry winds of Upper and Central India however predominated.

Humidity—The air was more humid than usual in all parts of the Province, except the Gya and Shahabad districts and Chutia Nagpur. The following are the lowest humidities observed during the week in the six districts.—

Dehree	8 per cent on April 30th
Hazaribagh	9° , on May 1st
Gya	11° , on April 28th
Ranchee	16° , on , 28th
Chyebassa	21° , on May 1st

Rainfall—The rainfall of the week occurred under similar conditions to that of the preceding week. It fell most abundantly in the neighbourhood of the hills in East and North Bengal. The Chittagong, Noakholly, Comillah, Mymensingh, Furreedpore, Bogra, Pubna, Rangpore, Julpigori and Darjeeling Hill districts received from fifty to a hundred per cent more rain than the normal. The Moorshedabad and Nuddea districts in South-West Bengal, received several heavy showers which gave rainfall slightly in excess. Over the remainder of Bengal and in Orissa the rainfall was moderate in amount. The Purneah district in North Behar received fair rain, which gave it an average slightly in excess. It fell, however, mainly in the neighbourhood of the hills.

Over the remainder of Behar and in Chutia Nagpur no rain with the exception of a few light showers of no importance, fell. In consequence of the unusually heavy rain of the previous week the rainfall of the month is in excess in all districts of Bengal and Orissa excepting the 24 Pergunnahs Howrah, and Hooghly where it is very slightly below the average, and in the Purneah district of North Behar. It is below the average generally in Behar and Chutia Nagpur in which the weather was unusually dry.

General rain fell in East and North Bengal and the northern and eastern districts of South West Bengal, on the 26th, 27th, and 28th. During the next two days showers occurred in Orissa. On the first of May heavy thunder showers occurred in the northern districts of East Bengal. The second was a day of general rainfall over nearly the whole of Bengal. The only rainfalls exceeding two inches registered during the week were—

3.07 inches at Serajgunge on the	2nd May
2.65 , at Chaudpore ,	2nd May
2 , ,	26th April
2.65 , at Agartola	2nd May
2.25 , at Brahmunbaria
2.26 , at Buxa on the	28th April
and 1 , at Netrokona	1st May

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday the 2nd May 1884 —

Meteorological Reporter to the Govt of Bengal

MEMORANDA

THE first class Municipalities in Bengal presented, during the week ending 19th April 1884 a birth rate of 22.2 per 1,000 of population against the same proportion in the preceding week ending 12th April and a death rate of 44.6 per 1,000 against 45.5 per 1,000. A reduction is thus seen in the number of deaths registered.

(2) The Municipalities which returned the highest proportions of births and deaths were—

Births		Deaths
	Rate per mill		Rate per mill
Serampore	39.2	Beaulah	99.8
Santipore	35.5	Jessore	79.6
Durbhanga	38.5	Bhagulpore	76.0
Ranaghat	36.0	Utterpara	75.5
Hughli	34.9	Suburbs of Calcutta	67.4
		Purneah	62.3
		Gya	61.7
		Ranaghat	59.9
		Patna	51.0
		Howrah	48.7
		Burdwan	44.2
		Kishnaghur	34.1
		Santipore	33.3
		Dacca	32.4

(3) The mortality from the principal diseases (mentioned below) contrasted with the death rates from the same causes in the preceding week stands as follows—

	Rate per mill	Rate per mill
	19th April 1884	12th April 1884
Cholera	13.0	15.2
Small pox	5.6	6.2
Fever	11.2	12.5
Bowel complaints	4.4	3.9
Injury	3	2
Other causes	7.0	7.5

The noticeable features indicated by the above figures are that in comparison with the outcome of the preceding week there was a sensible abatement in the death rates from cholera and small pox particularly from the first named disease and an increase of mortality from fever and bowel complaints.

(4) Excluding the casualties from violence which were nowhere noticeably great the above mentioned diseases proved most fatal to life in the following Municipalities—

Cholera	Rate per mill	Small pox	Rate per mill	Fever	Rate per mill	Bowel complaints	Rate per mill	Other causes	Rate per mill
Beaulah	74.5	Bhagulpore	35.1	Purneah	45.5	Patna	11.4	Purneah	17.4
Jessore	55.1	Gya	20.5	Ranaghat	41.5			Patna	12.8
Suburbs of Calcutta	36.8	Patna	13.6	Beaulah	26.3			Midnapore	12.4
Howrah	28.6	Chupra	5.9	Bhagulpore	26.2			Dacca	12.3
Utterpara	28.3	Dacca	5	Jessore	21.5			Suburbs of Calcutta	10.8
Kishnaghur	15.1			Burdwan	24.4			Burdwan	10.7

Santipore	9.8			Santipore	21.0
Midnapore	7.7
Hughli	6.7
Burdwan	6.1
Gya	4.8
Patna	2.3

Beaulah, Jessore, the Suburbs of Calcutta, Howrah, Utterpara, Kishnaghur and Serampore appear to have suffered inordinately from cholera, Bhagulpore, Gya and Patna from small pox, and Purneah and Ranaghat from fever.

(5) The death rates under the heads of Sex, Class and Age stands as noted below—

According to Sex		According to Class		According to Age
	Ratio per mille		Ratio per mille		Ratio per mille
Males	47.1	Christians	13.0	Under 1 year	332.8
Females	41.7	Hindus	44.7	1 and under 5 years	97.2
Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths	127	Mahomedans	45.1	5 and under 10	36.5
		Budhists	48.4	10 and under 15	22.2
		Other classes	72.8	15 and under 20	28.2
				20 and under 30	32.4

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore 0 03 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0 2° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0 6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS

In comparison with the traffic of last March and against that of the month under review a steady and satisfactory increase has to be recorded in almost every item of traffic. The principal increases are in food grain miscellaneous piece goods and salt. On the other hand however the decrease in jute and gunny which commenced in 1st December continues and counter balances any good resulting from the increase under all other heads. Taken together the falling off under these two staples amounts to the considerable figure of 831.08 tons. The gross weight lifted during the month is 15 506 86 tons against 21 526 49 tons having a decrease of 6 019 63 tons as the result.

INCREASES

Ale Tons 294
At this time of the year the Commercial despatches of this article commence
Food grain Tons 541 51
Despatches in paddy and seeds account for this increase. The traffic in rice has fallen off both upwards and downwards. The following figures will explain this—

	March 1883	March 1884
Rice	Tons 2 039 23	Tons 997 46
Paddy	498 3	1 100 39
Seeds	105 40	1 085 92

Ginger Tons 104 82
After many months of depression the traffic in this article appears to be reviving.
Miscellaneous Tons 245 27
A considerable quantity of machinery stores &c have been coming forward.
Piece goods Tons 73 80
Though there appears to be but little demand for the muslin advantage is being taken of the present dry weather to replenish local stocks.
Railway material Tons 1 037 19
As usual stores for the Dinapore Extension and Locomotive Coal make up this increase.
Salt Tons 351 91
Large stocks in Calcutta and favourable prices are naturally stimulating this traffic.
Tea Tons 1 17
It is probable that this is a sample consignment of the new crop.

DECREASES

Gunny bags Tons 1,284 31
So long as the jute market remains in its present depressed state this industry cannot revive.
Jute Tons 7 030 87
There has been little or no change in the prospect of this traffic. The market remains without animation.
Sugar Tons 9 19
The market remains unchanged.
Tobacco Tons 5
The heavy traffic done in this staple last month will account for this small falling off.

The Report for 1882 and the Resolution recorded upon it

The number of admissions into the asylums which had fallen in 1882 to 165, the smallest number on record, rose to 209 during the year under review. The increase was most marked in the case of males, of whom 184 were admitted against 114 in the previous year, while the number of females admitted was 25 against 21 in 1882. Criminal lunatics contributed chiefly towards the increase. The number of readmissions was the same as in the preceding year, viz 23 with this difference that whereas the number in 1882 was composed of 20 males and 3 females, the readmissions in 1883 were of males only. The daily average population of the asylums was 878.67 against 867.12 in the previous year. The lunatics who remained in the asylums at the close of the year numbered 907, of whom 724 were males and 183 were females.

2 The total number of persons treated for insanity was 1,081, as compared with 1,056 in 1882 and 1,094 in the preceding year. The number of recoveries was 90 against 83 in 1882, but the number of cases in which there was an improvement fell from 34 to 27. The percentage of recoveries on the total number treated for the different kinds of insanity was, in the case of acute mania 16.81, chronic mania 6.22, melancholia 4, acute dementia 5.71, and chronic dementia 1.43. The percentages are lower in every case than the corresponding proportions in the previous year, except in the case of chronic mania. These figures, however, are, as has been pointed out by the Surgeon General on previous occasions quite unreliable for scientific purposes, so long as complete uniformity does not exist in the various asylums in the diagnosis of different forms of mental disease. In his present Report he writes — "In my last Report I spoke of the uncertainty of nomenclature in the hands of different Superintendents who are required to record all cases under headings which can be said to afford only a general classification. In 1883 changes in the superintendence of asylums were unusually frequent and I conclude, from the entire course of events in that year that the changes affected the nomenclature of disease. Thus there were 92 new cases of acute mania, and a total number of 252 cases treated with 18 cases of recovery and improvement with discharge. In 1882 there were 69 admissions and a total of 200 cases with 17 cases discharged. Going back to 1881, we find, again, 99 admissions and 213 cases in total, with 55 of recovery and improvement. Recovery from acute mania within a year is frequent and it is probable that if practice as to nomenclature had been the same in the two later years, the figures would have been somewhat differently arranged. The same must be said of chronic mania. There is fluctuation in the proportion of recoveries which point to uncertainty of names. So much at least is certain that taking all kinds of insanity together, the percentage of recoveries on the total number of cases treated was higher in 1881 than in the previous year."

3. The number of inmates in the Dacca and Cuttack Asylums at times exceeded the nominal capacity of the wards, but there was no real overcrowding in either of these institutions as harmless lunatics were allowed, as in previous years, to sleep in the verandahs, which are not included in the estimate of capacity of the buildings.

4. The following table shows the number of criminal lunatics treated in the asylums during the last three years —

The steady increase in the number of criminal lunatics, which was noticed in the Resolution recorded last year, was continued in the year under review. The admissions and re-admissions increased in the aggregate by 18 when compared with the preceding year. In the Report for 1881, a statement showing the offences with which the criminal lunatics then in confinement were charged, was given for the purpose of ascertaining whether there had been any increase of crime among lunatics at large, which might be attributed to the operation of the orders of the Government of India issued in 1876. These orders pointed out that persons suffering from the temporary results of sickness, intemperance or debauchery, and those whom their friends ought to support, were not proper objects of charity, and that, besides criminal lunatics, only those patients should be received in State asylums who were absolutely dangerous, or who, having no friends or resources, were in the acute stage of mental disease in which there was most hope of recovery under medical treatment. The return submitted with the Report for 1881 did not show that there had been any increase of crime in consequence of these orders. The Report for 1882 did not furnish a similar return, and the Surgeon General was asked to include it in future reports, provided this could be done without difficulty. In accordance with these orders, a very elaborate and interesting table has now been submitted, showing the offences with which the criminal lunatics, who were admitted into the asylums between 1874 and 1883, were charged. A perusal of this table strengthens the inference that there has been no increase of crime in consequence of the operation of the orders issued in 1876. The fluctuations that appear are not more than must be expected when considerable numbers are being dealt with. The Surgeon General makes the following observations —“The first columns of the table, showing commitment for graver crimes, present numbers which were all exceeded in the earlier years, except the second (column headed ‘Attempt to murder’), but these are not the crimes of which the record would probably be affected by the change of practice. The result, if there were any, would probably appear under the head of theft, trespass, suicide, mischief, bad behaviour, bad livelihood, &c, and these do not increase either relatively to the whole, or absolutely in such manner as to support any imputation against the existing rules of admission to asylums.”

5 The causes of insanity were unknown in 98 out of the 232 cases admitted and re-admitted during the year. Of the cases in which causes were assigned, 108 cases were ascribed to physical and 26 to moral causes. The following table shows the number of cases in which the cause of insanity is attributed to intemperance and the use of drugs —

ASYLUM	N ^o cause assigned	CAUSE ASSIGNED
		Ganja & opium	Intoxication	Other causes
Dullunda	30	22	0	14
Dacca	30	5	3	19
Patna	17	27	7	2
Cuttack	10	10		2
Berhampore	6	12		6
Total	98	76	15	43

In commenting on intoxication as a prevalent cause of insanity, the Surgeon General makes the following appropriate remarks —“I have said before that occurrences in the asylums show that the statements on this point are below—I might say very much below—the truth, and that on the other hand resort to intoxication is sometimes assigned as the cause of a derangement of which it is only an early result. There were in all 76 admissions from ganja and bhang in 1883, and only 34 recoveries. If the cases were rightly ascribed, the proportion was small, and again proves that, with increased admissions, there was no increase of cases of mere temporary intoxication among them.”

6 There has been a gradual and satisfactory improvement in the health of the lunatics during the last few years, and this was especially marked in 1883. The admissions into hospital numbered only 230 against 394 in 1882 and 385 in 1881. The following table shows the prevalence of the principal diseases in the year under report —

	Dullunda		Dacca		Patna		Cuttack		Berhampore		Total
	1882	1883	1882	1883	1882	1883	1882	1883	1882	1883	1882	1883

Pneumonia	1	1	4	1					3	2	7	4
Phthisis	3	5	5	10	10	10	3		1	1	23	20

There was no increase in the number of cases of anæmia and debility except at Patna, where the number rose from 14 to 17. Diarrhœa, dysentery and fevers fell considerably on the whole, while there was no material variation in pulmonary disease. Cholera reappeared at Dullunda and Patna. There were two cases in the latter asylum, both of which proved fatal. No fault was found with the drinking water, which is supplied from the best well in the neighbourhood and passed through a standard filter, but the water used for bathing should, as suggested by the Surgeon General, be examined. The supply of water for the shower baths in the Dullunda Asylum again failed during the year, and the inmates had to use tank water for bathing purposes. Arrangements have however, been made since the close of the year to improve the water supply in this asylum. It is satisfactory to observe the absence of cholera and the reduction of dysentery, diarrhœa and fever at Dacca, following immediately on the introduction of filtered water into that asylum. At Berhampore the absence of dysentery, which had been largely prevalent, was remarkable. Cases of accident and injury occurred at Dullunda, Dacca and Patna. At Dullunda a violent epileptic ruptured his spleen during a fit and died. The other cases were few in number and of comparatively little importance.

7 The general improvement in the health of the lunatics was accompanied, as might have been anticipated, by a reduction in mortality. The deaths numbered only 52, which is the smallest number on record, the corresponding figures in 1880, 1881, and 1882 being 109, 84, and 87 respectively. The largest number of deaths—thirteen—was from phthisis. The number of deaths from cholera was 2 out of 4 persons attacked. There were 6 deaths from apoplexy, 5 from diarrhœa, 4 from dysentery, and 3 from fevers. The total number of deaths from all causes was at Dullunda 12, at Dacca 13, at Patna 15, at Cuttack 3, and at Berhampore 9. The marked decrease in the mortality from zymotic disease testifies to the efficiency of the sanitary arrangements in the asylums.

The total expenditure on the asylums during the year was Rs 82,845 9 7, with a daily average of 878 67 inmates. There was an increase of Rs 1,202 over the expenditure of the previous year, which is attributed to the increase in the number of persons treated during the year under review. The total cost per patient was Rs 94 4 4 against Rs 94 2 3 in 1882, and the net cost of each inmate, after deducting the amount realized from friends of patients, and the net profits from manufactures, was Rs 86 13 8, against Rs 82 7 2. The total cost on account of establishment was Rs 37,427 against Rs 39,702 in the previous year. This reduction was partly due to the fact that the arrangement by which the charge of the Dullunda Asylum was entrusted to the First Resident Surgeon, General Hospital, was in force throughout the year, and not for a portion only, as in 1882. Part, however, of the reduction was apparent only, and due to the circumstance that the salary of the Officiating Overseer, an Assistant Surgeon, was paid from the budget of the Medical Department. The reduction was partly neutralized by a slight increase in expenditure caused by the filling up of some offices at Dullunda which had been vacant in 1882, and by annual increments of salary at Berhampore.

9 The money outlay on account of diet was Rs 20,294 against Rs 19,260 in 1882. This is due to the comparative dearness of food, and not to any material change in the dietaries. The average cost of diet per head was highest at Dullunda, where it amounted to Rs 42 14 11, and lowest at Cuttack, where it was Rs 19 11 11. The charge for clothing was Rs 2,836. Of this sum, Rs 1,418 represents the cost price of articles manufactured in the asylums. The corresponding figures in 1882 were Rs 2,467 and Rs 1,806. The amount expended on raw materials, for manufacture was Rs 27,376 against Rs 27,038. The estimated value of raw materials, manufactured goods, and plant and machinery on 1st January 1883 was Rs 61,404. The total debit was therefore Rs 88,780. The amount paid into the treasury was Rs 19,984, the cost of manufactured goods consumed in the asylums was Rs 12,701, and the estimated value of the stores in stock at the close of the year was Rs 61,524. This makes a total of Rs 94,209. The excess of credits over debits was Rs 5,429, but, after adjusting certain items shown in Statement XI appended to the Report, the net profit on manufactures amounted to Rs 5,547. This profit is, however, as explained last year, no proper measure of success, the articles consumed in the asylums being charged at cost price, profit being allowed on outside sales only.

10 In the foregoing paragraphs only the native asylums of the Province have been considered. Regarding the European Asylum at Bhowanipore, it is observed that on the 1st January 1883 there were 27 patients remaining over from the preceding year. Twenty four were admitted in 1883 against 20 in 1882, of whom three were from the Army. Of the 51 patients under treatment 3 were discharged cured, 10 were despatched to Europe under the Merchant Shipping Act or otherwise, 8 were transferred to the care of friends, and one died. This death was of a man who had been admitted in a very emaciated condition, the consequence of chronic diarrhoea. Twenty nine persons remained in the asylum at the close of the year. The female ward was, as in former years, constantly full, and admission had to be refused to several applicants. The total expenditure amounted to Rs 19,860 against Rs 21,136 in 1882, the decrease being chiefly due to the transfer of the asylum to the charge of the Resident Surgeon, General Hospital, of which the effect was felt during the entire year. There was also a decrease in the average cost of diets as compared with the previous year, when a large number of patients had, under accidental circumstances, been admitted into the asylum in a weak and emaciated condition, and had to be kept up by extra quantities of food. The average net cost to the State of each lunatic was Rs 165.

11 The Lieutenant Governor is glad to acknowledge the care and attention bestowed by the Superintendents on the Asylums under their charge, and to find that they bear unanimous testimony to the good conduct of the subordinate officers. He appreciates the labours of Mr and Mrs De Vere, the Deputy Superintendent and Matron of the Bhowanipore Asylum. Mr Lawton, the Overseer, and Mrs Lawton, who acted as Matron during the absence, on sick leave, of Mrs De Vere, are also well spoken of by the Surgeon General. The management of the asylums throughout the Province during the year was excellent, and reflects credit on the Head of the Department.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon General, Bengal, for information.

The Rules of 26th July 1882 for the award of Junior and Senior Scholarships

Two letters from the Director of Public Instruction dated 7th February and 18th March 1884 regarding the transfer to Medical Colleges of scholarships held by female students, and the grant of special scholarships to such students

In June 1883 the important question of the admission of females to the classes of the Calcutta Medical College came before the Lieutenant Governor for decision, and the principle that all possible facilities should be offered for the training of female medical practitioners was deliberately affirmed from the standpoint of general policy as well as of individual freedom. The grounds for this decision, which it is hoped will confer a lasting benefit upon the people of Bengal, have been set forth at length in the letter of 28th June quoted in the preamble to this Resolution. It is needless to repeat them here. An opportunity has now arrived for giving immediate effect to the policy thus laid down, and furthering the cause of female medical education in Bengal in a manner which promises to yield speedy results.

2 Under the existing rules for the grant of scholarships for girls, three junior scholarships of Rs 20, Rs 15, and Rs 10 a month respectively, and tenable for two years in some collegiate institution approved by the Director of Public Instruction, are open annually for competition at the Entrance Examination to female candidates educated in any school in Bengal. Two senior scholarships, worth Rs 25 and Rs 20 a month respectively, and tenable for the same term, and on the same conditions as the junior scholarships, are open for competition at the First Examination in Arts to female candidates educated at any college in Bengal affiliated to the University of Calcutta. In January 1882, Miss Ellen D'Abreu and Miss Avala Das, who had passed the First Arts and Entrance Examinations respectively from the Bethune School, were awarded, the first a senior scholarship of Rs 25 a month, and the second a junior scholarship of Rs 20 a month, each tenable for two years. After holding their scholarships in the College classes of the Bethune School for nine months, they joined the Medical College of Madras, where their scholarships expired in December 1883. They have now applied, through the Principal of the Madras College, who strongly supports their application, for permission to hold their scholarships during the remainder of their course of study. Miss D'Abreu has entered the B. M. class, which requires a training for five years, and Miss Avala Das the L. M. S. class which occupies four years. The Director of Public Instruction recommends an extension of the term of the scholarships for three years and nine months in the case of the former, and for two years and nine months in the case of the latter lady. The Director also reports that Miss Virginia Mary Mitter, who gained a senior scholarship of Rs 20 at the First Arts Examination in January 1884, wishes to hold her scholarship in the Calcutta Medical College, and that Miss Bidhu Mukhi Bose, who passed the First Arts Examination at the same time, but did not gain a scholarship, is anxious to study medicine, and prays that, as a special case, a scholarship may be granted to her for that purpose.

3 In recommending these several applications for the favourable consideration of Government, Mr Croft puts forward the important proposal that special scholarships of Rs 20 a month, tenable for five years in the Calcutta Medical College, should be awarded for the next ten years to all female candidates who enter that institution after passing the First Arts Examination, whether they have gained scholarships in that examination or not. He shows that in all probability the cost of the scheme would be trifling in comparison to the benefits which it would confer upon the women of Bengal, and points out that the principle of granting stipends is by no means a new one but was regularly resorted to in the early days of the Medical College as an inducement to male students of medicine. Thus, in the year 1838-39, there were 50 students in the Medical College, all of whom "received monthly stipends ranging from Rs 7 to Rs 12 according to their seniority and deserts." Whatever reasons existed forty years ago for encouraging male students to fit themselves for medical work, are equally applicable now to the case of female students.

4 The existing senior and junior scholarships, which are tenable for only two years, are clearly inadequate to the purpose now in view, and a strong case has been made out for granting special scholarships of a duration proportioned to the length of the course of study in the Medical College. The Lieutenant Governor has, therefore, after full consideration, accepted the conclusion that the demand in Bengal for female medical practitioners requires to be met, in the first instance, by measures of special encouragement, and he readily sanctions Mr Croft's proposals as offering a fair prospect of attaining the end in view within a reasonable time. Mr Croft shows that, assuming an average of two pupils a year, the cost of the scheme will rise from Rs 480 in the first year of the ten years' period to Rs 2,400 in the last. It will then decline, as scholarships expire by lapse of time. In the present stage of the question, the Lieutenant Governor is unwilling to impose any limitations on the number of scholarships granted. Even if that number should rise beyond what may now be expected, there will, it is believed, be no difficulty in meeting the charge.

5 The general lines of the scheme being thus determined, it remains to apply them to the particular cases which have given rise to Mr Croft's proposal. It is understood that Miss D'Abreu and Miss Anila Das will continue their studies in the Madras Medical College until they return to practise their profession in Bengal. The Lieutenant Governor sanctions the grant to both of them of scholarships of Rs 20 a month from the date on which their original scholarships expired until the completion of their course of study. Scholarships of the same value, tenable for five years in Calcutta, will also be granted to Miss Virginia Mary Mitter and Miss Bidhu Mukhi Bose. All of the four scholarships now sanctioned will be termed "Female Medical Scholarships," and provision will be made in the Education Budget for the grant of similar scholarships to all females willing to study medicine in the Medical College for the next ten years. Only the experience of years can show whether the educated women of Bengal will avail themselves of the facilities now offered to them, and prove, by real work, that they are fit for the duties and responsibilities which some of the more advanced among them are anxious to assume.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—AGRICULTURE

READ—

The Annual Report on the Royal Botanic Gardens Calcutta, for the year 1883 84

The completion of the general scheme for improvements last year left little to be done in the way of original work. The planting out of the palm house, the erection of which had been completed during the previous year, was the most noticeable work carried out in the Garden during 1883 84. For this purpose, plants that had outgrown the limits of the former low roofed conservatories were transplanted, while the interspaces between the larger plants were filled in by lower growing species of various kinds—aroids, marantas, selaginellas, and the like. The palm house already presents a handsome appearance, and the general effect of it will be greatly enhanced as the plants continue to grow. The steam pump, which was lately erected to keep the river water in the Garden tanks at a high level throughout the year, has proved a success. These ornamental lakes, besides improving the appearance of the Garden, have also conduced to its healthiness.

2 The distance and inaccessibility of the Garden from Calcutta greatly impair its value as a health and pleasure resort. A service of passenger steamers has recently been established which call at several points within the port, one of the calling places being the Mattiabruj ghât, opposite the Garden. Dr King has suggested that, if a landing stage were erected by Government on the Howrah side of the river, at some place close to the Garden, the steamers might be induced to call there, and thereby render it much more accessible to the public. The Lieutenant Governor would be glad to see this done if it does not involve a large expenditure. A communication on the subject will be addressed to the Agents of the Steamer Service.

3 The economic plants which engaged the Superintendent's attention during the year were the Sabai grass, the paper mulberry (Broussonetia papyrifera), the Cinnamon plant yielding the Cassia bark of commerce, and the Soy bean. The Sabai grass was extensively distributed in various parts of the Province, and its suitability as a paper fibre has been established beyond doubt. The bark of the paper mulberry, which has an easy and rapid growth, was reported on by a paper manufacturer, and pronounced to be "an admirable paper material." Dr King believes that the plant is capable of producing one of the very best paper fibres known—a fibre at once strong and fine, and requiring very little bleach. Experience has shown that the plant grows as well in the drier climate of Durbhunga as in the lower parts of Bengal, and with a view of extending the cultivation of the tree, Dr King is having a large number of plants prepared for issue and for planting out in vacant spots along the Garden boundary. A further consignment of the Cinnamon plant was received from Hong Kong during the year. The plants, though healthy, are quite young, and as they seem to grow slowly, it will be some time before their suitability to the soil of Bengal can be ascertained. The Soy bean, of which Dr King had arranged for a supply from Japan, was distributed during the year among planters and others for experimental cultivation. The result, as was anticipated, has been a failure.

4 The experiment of utilizing the ornamental lakes in the Garden as a breeding ground for Gourami fish has also proved a failure. One of these lakes was stocked with a quantity of this fish, which had been supplied by the Hon'ble H S Thomas of the Madras Civil Service, but on the lake being dragged some months after, not a single fish could be found. The Superintendent, however, proposes to make a further trial.

5. Owing to the insufficient accommodation afforded by the old herbarium, it had not been possible to arrange and name a large collection of dried plants received during the past few years, but since the completion of the new building, this work has made considerable progress under Mr Brace's supervision. A beginning was also made in classifying the large number of botanical pamphlets which the Garden library contains. Very valuable contributions were received in the herbarium during the year from the Royal Garden at Kew, and from Government officers and other gentlemen both in India and other countries. Among the chief contributors were Mr Kunstler, Mr Gamble, Mr Talbot, Dr Schlieh, Mr Duthie, Dr Timmen, Mr Levinge, Mr Ford, Dr Cooke, Mr Hallett, Mr Maries, Mr Clarke, Mr Woodrow, Mr Hildebrand and Dr Hay. The interchange of seeds and plants went on actively during the year. Twenty three thousand eight hundred and nine living plants and 3716 packets of seeds were distributed, the principal recipients being, as usual, Station Committees, Cantonment Magistrates, and Superintendents of Hospitals and Jails. A considerable number of plants was also sent to the International Exhibition in Calcutta. On the other hand, 9,179 plants and 1,038 packets of seeds were presented to the Garden by various contributors. The receipts from the sale of surplus plants amounted to Rs 1,341 11 9, while the whole of the budget allotment of Rs 70,350 was spent.

6 For the third year in succession, the Lloyd Botanical Garden at Darjeeling suffered from the ravages of the cockchafer grub. Specimens of this grub and of the beetle into which it develops have been sent to a specialist in London for identification and report, but no answer has yet been received. Dr King's proposal to suspend all distribution of living plants from the Garden, in case the grub shows itself again this year, commends itself to the Lieutenant Governor. A similar grub, it is stated, has proved very destructive in Ceylon to coffee planted in patana or grass land. Fortunately the Darjeeling grub has not as yet displayed any partiality for tea.

7 The Lieutenant Governor desires to acknowledge the excellent work done by Dr King and his subordinates during the past year.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the Report and of the Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India, in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens for information.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

E. N. BAKER,
Offg Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The mean pressure of the seven days

The average pressure of the corresponding period for 24 years, S G's Office

The total number of hours of bright sunshine of the seven days

The mean temperature of the seven days

The highest pressure of the wind on one square foot during the seven days

The mean relative humidity during the seven days

The total fall of rain from 4th to 10th May 1884

The total fall from 1st January to 10th May 1884

The mean pressure, temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newnan's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS IN BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1884

DURING the month of April temperature increases rapidly in Northern India. The area of maximum temperature includes the Central Provinces, West Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, South Gya and the districts in Central India bordering on the Central Provinces. Concurrently with the increase of temperature pressure diminishes. The total diminution of the month is the result of a series of oscillations in which the downward movement is greater than the upward. The meteorological actions in the Province are similar but stronger and more developed than in the month of March. Easterly winds, the continuation partly, if not mainly of winds down the Assam valley prevail along the foot of the hills in North Bengal and Behar. South westerly winds from the Bay of Bengal varying in strength considerably with the period of day blow over South and Central Bengal. In Central and South Behar and Chutia Nagpur westerly dry winds, the continuation of the air current blowing down the Gangetic valley in Upper India prevail. Usually during the month the sea winds extend their influence over a larger area of the Province increasing the humidity and give more or less frequent showers of rain.

The main effect of the convergence of these three air currents varying so widely in strength, humidity and other characteristics is to give frequent disturbances chiefly thunder storms generally local in character but occurring as a group or series over a large part of the country. The barometric indications of these small local storms are very doubtful.

The rainfall of the month is almost entirely due to these storms. The average distribution of the rainfall in Bengal for the month of April is simple. The lines of equal rainfall run mainly north and south or parallel to the hills on the borders of Eastern and Northern Bengal. To the east of a line running through Jalpore, Rungpore, Seragunge, Burisal and Chittagong the rainfall varies from 1 to 6 inches. The rainfall diminishes westwards and to the west of a curved line running through Bettiah, Durbhunga, Doonla, Hazaribagh and the Cuttack Hills the average rainfall for the month of April is less than one inch. It is least in Shahabad where it is barely one fifth of an inch.

The meteorology of the past month has been very unusual. The first fortnight was characterized by the same features as the previous month, viz. unusually high temperature, diminished air pressure, excessive dryness of the air and an almost entire absence of thunderstorms and rain showers. This culminated in three or four days of intense heat and dryness lasting from the 12th to the 16th, when a rapid change took place. The westerly winds in Behar gave way, easterly winds advanced northwards and westwards, frequent thunderstorms occurred over the greater part of the Province which gave rainfall above the average over nearly the whole of Bengal. Temperature hence decreased rapidly and was generally below the normal, and concurrently pressure increased slightly and was above the mean for the period until the last two days of the month. The meteorology of the second half of the month thus stands in striking contrast to that of the first half.

Atmospheric pressure —The barometer oscillated rapidly and within narrow limits at the commencement of the month. It fell rather rapidly on the 7th. A series of thunder storms occurred over the greater part of Bengal on the afternoon of that day, which caused the barometer to rise again. It oscillated slightly for several days and then fell suddenly on the 13th and 14th. The fall amounted to a tenth of an inch in Behar, and nearly a sixth of an inch in North Bengal. Pressure was hence considerably below the normal of the day on the 14th. It increased slightly during the next four days and oscillated within comparatively narrow limits until the 25th, when a rapid rise occurred lasting until the 27th. This was followed by a still more rapid fall on the 28th and 29th. During the latter part of the month the barometer moved very unequally in different parts of the Province, and occasionally at adjacent stations indicating a disturbed state of the atmosphere. Frequent thunder storms occurred during this period, when the barometer was generally above its normal height. The average pressure of the month was slightly in excess for the great majority of stations. The excess averaged 0.15" for the Central Bengal stations, and 0.2" for the East Bengal stations. Pressure was normal in Behar and very slightly below it in Orissa and the adjacent districts of South West Bengal.

Temperature —The first fortnight was marked by high temperature over the whole Province. The 12th to the 16th was a very hot period, and preceded the general change in the weather already described. The temperature fell rapidly over the greater part of the Province during the next four or five days, and was for the remainder of the month below the average in every part of the Province except Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. During the first half of the month the mean temperature was 1° above the normal temperature of the period in East Bengal, 2° in South West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and 3½° in Behar.

The highest maximum in shade temperatures of the month at the majority of stations were registered during the period. The following table gives a few of the more remarkable —

	Highest maximum April 1884	Highest maximum in any year registered April
Cuttack	109.9 on the 15th	109.6 in 1881
Purneah	107.8	108.1 in 1879
Behrampore	107.7	111 in 1881
Cyia	108.8 30th	113.2 in 1881
Burdwan	102 17th	108.7 in 1881
Calcutta	103.5	102 in 1881

The temperature was hence higher in Orissa and the adjacent districts of South West Bengal than in any corresponding month on record. At Calcutta (Vijpore) the temperature was considerably above that in any previous year since the opening of the observatory in 1876. The maximum temperatures recorded in Behar were not high as compared with previous years, but this was due to the unusually large rainfall over the greater part of the Province and the prevalence of cloud during the latter part of the month. During the second half of the month the mean temperature was 1° below the normal average of the period in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, 2½° in South Behar, 3° in South West Bengal, 3½° in North Behar and 4° in East Bengal.

The combination of these two opposite variations was to give a mean daily temperature for the month in defect in Bengal and Orissa and very slightly in excess in Chutia Nagpur and Behar. The deficiency was greatest in East Bengal for which it averaged 1½°. The excess in Behar and Chutia Nagpur was small, nowhere exceeding 1°.

Winds — During the first fortnight westerly winds prevailed over the whole of Behar and Chutia Nagpur and a large portion of Central and North Bengal, occasionally extending eastwards as far as Dinapore and Serajgunge. The southerly winds had a much stronger westerly component than usual. On the 17th the westerly winds gave way rapidly and were displaced by easterly winds in Central Bengal and North Behar and were variable in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. At the end of the month winds ranging between south and east were prevalent throughout the Province.

Humidity — The contrast between the meteorological features of the first and second fortnights of the month was most strongly shown in the humidity and rainfall. The extreme dryness of the air in Behar, Chutia Nagpur and Central Bengal which formed a marked feature of the month was continued and intensified during the first fortnight. Lower humidities were observed on the 15th and 16th than have been observed for many years. The following are a few of the most remarkable measures of the humidity observed on these two days —

Midnapore	6 per cent on the	10th
Dinapore	6	11th & 16th
Deltoe	6	11th
Hazaribagh	6	10th
Bhagulpore	6	2nd
Cyia	8	10th
Ranigunge	10	10th
Balasore	11	11th
Burdwan	11	11th
Purneah	11	16th
Motihari	11	11th
Arrah	11	11th

The air on these two days was almost as dry in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur as it is in the hottest and driest weather in the Rajputana desert, North Sind or the adjacent districts of the Punjab. The air became damper from the 17th in consequence of the setting in of strong sea winds which rapidly extended to Behar. The effect of this was, however, not fully felt in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur until the 22nd. The increase in the humidity was so great that it was from 5 to 20 per cent above the normal average of the period during the last ten days of the month.

Rain — Thunder showers, which gave moderate rain, fell in Bengal (except the 21 Pergunnahs, Midnapore, Howrah districts of South West Bengal, and the Cooch Behar, Maldah, Julpigori and Darjeeling districts of North Bengal) on the evening of the 7th. Thunderstorms again occurred on the afternoon of the 17th in South West and East Bengal. During the remainder of the month frequent showers (which generally accompanied thunderstorms) fell in Bengal, and to a less extent in Orissa and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. One or two light local showers of no importance occurred in Behar and Chutia Nagpur.

The rainfall of the month hence occurred almost entirely during the second fortnight and was above the average in all districts of Bengal, except the 21 Pergunnahs, Howrah,

Hooghly Burdwan, Burrisal, Rungpore and Darjeling, in each of which there was a slight deficiency

Eastern Bengal and the eastern districts of South West Bengal (i.e. Jessore and Khulna) received the largest amounts absolutely and relatively to the average. The excess averaged from 20 to 100 per cent above the normal.

The rainfall was below the average over the whole of Chutia Nagpur and Behar (with the exception of the district of Lurneah) and in the Pooree and Cuttack districts of Orissa. The deficiency was most marked in these two last districts, as they usually receive a fair amount of rain brought by norwesters from the Orissa Hills.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of April 1884—

Explanation of Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same time. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 100. The normal means of the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions, the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is denoted by 1 and a dry day by 0.

for the past one year. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head district observed for the period in question during the past 15 years. The means for the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received on which at least an hundredth of an inch fell.

THE week under review has been one of slight general and almost continuous disturbance. Pressure as is frequently the case at such periods in the hot weather, was above the average. The barometric movements were however unequal and irregular over the Province an indication of abnormal and local atmospheric action and of general disturbance throughout the whole or a large portion of the Province. Frequent thunderstorms occurred in almost every district which have given rainfall considerably above the average over a large part of the Province and more especially in those districts of Behar and South West Bengal which received deficient rainfall during the previous fortnight. Temperature was hence considerably reduced, and the weather has been unusually cool for the season of the year.

Atmospheric Pressure—The barometer was low on the 2nd and slightly above the average. Pressure increased from that date until the 6th after which it diminished rapidly until the 9th. During this period the barometer fell two tenths of an inch in Behar and West Bengal and upwards of a quarter of an inch in East Bengal. Notwithstanding this considerable decrease on the two last days of the week the mean pressure was above the average more especially in Central Bengal and Behar. Orissa (Chutia Nagpur) and the south western districts of South West Bengal formed an area of low pressure during the week as they have done for some time previous.

Temperature—In consequence of the unusually large rainfall of the week the weather has been unusually cool. The only station which recorded maximum temperatures exceeding 100° were Chybasa and Gya. The highest readings of the maximum thermometer at these stations were 107° and 105.2° respectively. The decrease in the temperature as a glance at the observations show directly dependent on the rainfall. It is reatest in South West Bengal for which the mean temperature was nearly 6° below the normal for the period. The deficiency averaged 4½° for Behar and Chutia Nagpur and 3½° for East Bengal. It was least in Orissa for which it was only 1°. The greatest reduction of temperature occurred at Berhampore, Burdwan and Jessore.

Winds—Moderately strong sea winds have been blowing across the Bengal coast during the past week which have extended their influence over the whole Province giving south and south east winds over South and Central Bengal, and east winds over North Bengal, Behar and variable winds in Chutia Nagpur.

Humidity—In consequence of the unusual prevalence of easterly winds the humidity of the air has been higher than usual during the week. The following gives the average 10 A.M. humidity of the week in different parts of the Province, and the normal 10 A.M. humidity in the month of May for comparison.—

	Average humidity of week	Normal humidity
Orissa	68	64
South-West Bengal	70.5	70
East Bengal	75	70
North Behar	73	66
South Behar	50	47

Rainfall—The week has been one of almost constant atmospheric disturbance. Frequent thunderstorms have occurred in every part of the Province. They have been most frequent and probably most severe in South West Bengal. The 5th (i.e. the 24 hours preceding 6 P.M. of that day) was the day of most general rainfall. The only portion of the Province which received no rain on that day was South Behar. Rain, however, extended to that area on the 9th, when showers were received in every district of Behar except the Gya district. The general result of the week's rainfall has been that Behar, Chutia Nagpur and South West Bengal have received double of their normal amount. The rainfall was on the whole normal in East Bengal and slightly below the average in the case of North Bengal.

The rainfall was deficient in the Pooree and Cuttack districts of Orissa. Every district in South-West Bengal, except Moorsheadabad, received rain in excess of the normal amount. In the Dacca, Comillah and Mymensingh districts the rainfall of the week was from twenty to fifty per cent. below the average. The corresponding districts in North Bengal, in the neighbourhood of the hills, viz. the Rungpore, Bogra and Julpigoree districts as well as the Darjeeling Hill Tracts, also received rainfall (from 40 to 60 per cent.) below the normal amount. The Gya district was the only one in Behar where the rain was below the average. The rainfall in the Pubna and Shahabad districts was irregularly distributed, but was on the whole much above the average.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday the 9th May 1884 —

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over East Indian Railway during five weeks ending 29th March 1884

INCREASES

Coral—This increase is due to large despatches to foreign railways
Pecca goods—Attributable to fir demand at up-country stations from this increase is ascribable to large despatches of heavy machinery to mofussil stations for Jute Indigo Mills, &c.
Grain and pulses (excluding wheat and rice).—Local demand due to partial failure of crops

Railway Material Forwarded—Large quantities of material were forwarded for the construction of the State Railways north of the Ganges.

Saltpeir—Due to moderate demand in the Calcutta market

Brass—Improved demand principally at Mirzapore and Benares

Indigo Seed—The increase in this seed is due to a good crop attended with low prices

DECREASES

Wheat—This decrease is due to absence of demand in English and Continental markets owing to the American crop having been unusually good coupled with large stock being held in the home market and decline in price.

Rice—This decrease is accounted for by scanty rainfall and partial failure of crops in some places.

Sisal—Due to failure of crops for want of rain.

Jute nanfctured—Want of demand for gunny bags owing to depressed state of the wharf market.

Iron—No business transacted in this staple owing to low prices.

Ropes—There was an increase in the weight arrived but decrease in the earnings owing to short distance traffic.

Sisal—This is due to ordinary fluctuation and the excessive dispatches which were made lately.

Sisal—Ordinary fluctuation of trade is the only cause that can be assigned for this decrease.

Wheat—The decrease is due to limited demand in Calcutta.

Coal—An increase in weight attended with decrease in freight attributable to consignments being sent by rail instead of by road.

I HAVE the honour to submit my report on Savings Banks in India for the year 1882-83

2 I have nothing special to report except that Post Office Savings Banks were established during this year, and transfer to them of depositors from District Savings Banks were freely permitted under Financial Department Resolution No 1460, dated 2nd June 1882. These however, have not occurred to any great extent, as will be seen from the subjoined statement

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce

READ—

Financial Despatch from the Secretary of State No 46 dated 27th January 1881 directing that the Comptroller General be requested to prepare annually a report comparing the accounts of the last year with the Budget of that year and with the account of the preceding year with explanations of any important variations, and requesting an expression of the views of the Government of India regarding the expediency of delegating the duty of making an appropriation audit to the Comptroller General or to another officer free from all administrative functions

Resolution by the Government of India in the Financial Department No 1900 dated 2nd July 1881, declaring that the offices and accounts of the Controllers of Military Accounts, of the Examiners of Public Works Accounts, and of the Comptroller to the Post Office will be open to the inspection of the Comptroller General and his inspecting officers

Despatch from the Government of India to the Secretary of State, No 919 (Financial), dated 1st October 1881 replying to that portion of the Secretary of State's Despatch of 27th January 1881 which dealt with the question of establishing in India an independent appropriation audit to supplement the departmental audit

Despatch from the Secretary of State No 103 dated 23rd March 1881 replying to the Despatch from the Government of India dated 1st October 1881

Despatch from the Government of India No 278 dated 8th September 1882, containing the final proposals of the Government of India on the subject of an annual appropriation audit

Despatch from the Secretary of State No 401 dated 21st December 1882, conveying his approval of the recommendations made by the Government of India in the Despatch No 278 dated 8th September 1882 above quoted

Resolution—The question of the expediency of establishing in India an independent appropriation audit to supplement the existing departmental audit was raised by the Committee appointed in 1880, by the Secretary of State for India to inquire into the system of military account and estimate in India. This question was connected rather with the general system of accounts in India than with that of the military accounts but as the matter had come to the notice of the Committee, they submitted recommendations on the subject to the Secretary of State. The Committee were not unanimous in opinion but the recommendation made in the body of their report was to the effect that the appropriation audit should be made by the Comptroller General.

As a complete audit in detail of every charge against the vouchers was effected by the local and departmental account officers and as abstract statements of the results of this departmental audit were submitted month by month to the Comptroller General, the Committee were of opinion that the Comptroller General should carry out the appropriation audit from the materials thus supplied to him and that he should be required to submit an annual comparison and report to the Governor General in Council.

In reply to the objection that by reason of his being entrusted with certain executive and administrative functions the Comptroller General could not be regarded as an altogether independent auditor it was observed that owing to the circumstances of the country, the Comptroller General did not like the Auditor General in England, audit the accounts with vouchers but could only exercise the functions of appropriation auditor by reviewing the results after examination of the materials received from his Sub Accountants, and for this purpose it was considered that the office of Comptroller General as at that time established was sufficiently independent.

2 In forwarding the report of the Committee to the Government of India, the Secretary of State requested that the Comptroller General should be instructed to prepare annually a report comparing the accounts of each year with the estimates for that year and with the accounts of the preceding year with explanations of any important variations, the report to be considered by the Government of India and forwarded with such remarks as might seem necessary to the Secretary of State for India. At the same time the Secretary of State requested an expression of the opinion of the Government of India regarding the expediency of delegating the duty of conducting the appropriation audit to the Comptroller General, or to another officer free from all administrative functions.

The recommendations which were made in the first instance by the Government of India involved the appointment of a separate and independent Auditor General with a staff of subordinate auditors at a total cost of rather more than one and a half lakhs of rupees per annum. On further consideration, however, doubts were felt regarding the applicability to India of the principle which regulates the appointment of an Auditor General in England. In the United Kingdom the supplies are annually voted by Parliament, which exercises a very jealous control over the Executive Government in the disposal of those supplies, and requires that an officer, independent of the Executive Government, shall report to it whether the law has been in all cases observed and the moneys distributed according to the intention of the House of Commons. In India the case is different, as the allotment of supplies is made by the Governor General in Council and it is, primarily for his satisfaction that an appropriation audit is needed in order that he may have brought before him in a clear and precise manner any deviations which have occurred in the expenditure of the year from the original intentions of the budget. It was evident that this object could be attained without the appointment of an officer independent of the Government of India, and without incurring the considerable expenditure involved in the appointment of a separate officer as the report was to be made to and for the information of the Governor General in Council there was no object to be gained by the appointment of an officer who would be wholly independent of the Government of India.

3 On reconsideration of the whole subject and with reference to the wishes of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, the Government of India finally recommended and the Secretary of State sanctioned the following arrangements —

- I — The appropriation audit should be made by the Comptroller General who in order to give due prominence to his special duties of audit, should be designated Comptroller and Auditor General.
- II — The Comptroller General should be relieved of the executive work which he performed in his capacity of Accountant General in respect of the treasuries classed under India.
- III — The Comptroller General should be authorized to undertake a test audit in any of the offices of Account and Audit under the Government of India whenever he deemed it desirable to do so.
- IV — An addition should be made to the staff of the Comptroller General to enable him to carry out the above duties.
- V — The various Accountants General (including those of the Military and Public Works Departments) or heads of Departments of audit and account should be required to submit annually in appropriation audit report to the Auditor General who would compile his report from the materials supplied to him and forward it to the Government of India.

4 In pursuance of these arrangements the Governor General in Council is now pleased to formally appoint the Comptroller General to be Comptroller and Auditor General and to direct that each Accountant General, including in the term the Military and Public Works Accountants General and each head of a separate Audit Department shall prepare and forward to the Comptroller and Auditor General each year an appropriation audit report of the Province or Department of which he compiles the accounts.

Two officers have already been appointed to class I of the enrolled list of the Financial Department of whom one under the title of Comptroller of Indian Treasuries will have charge of the duties connected with the treasuries immediately under the Government of India the examination and audit of the daily cash transactions of the Government with the Bank of Bengal at Calcutta, the accounts and expenditure by offices and establishments serving directly under the Government of India, and the accounts of interest of the public debt.

The second of these officers, under the title of Deputy Auditor General, and the former Inspector of Local Accounts who will now receive the same title of Deputy Auditor General, will be employed on the duties of test audit and inspection.

5 The offices and accounts of the Controllers of Military Accounts (including their Examiners), of the Examiners of Public Works Accounts (including Telegraph) and of the Comptroller to the Post Office, have already been declared to be open to the inspection of the Comptroller General and his inspecting officers and similar authority is now delegated to the Auditor General and his staff. The Comptroller and Auditor General, in person or by his Deputies, is not merely entitled to inspect the offices and accounts in question, but also to make a test audit of so much of the accounts of any office as he may consider necessary, and the auditing or inspecting officer is entitled to enter any branch of the office, to call for any documents and to ask for any information he may require for the purposes of his audit or inspection, and it will be the duty of the heads of all departments to supply such information, and to afford every reasonable facility for making a test audit.

The arrangements indicated in these last paragraphs have in fact already been brought into operation, and the offices of the Controller of Military Accounts, Bengal and of the Accountant General, Madras, have already been audited.

6 The following duties will remain with the Comptroller and Auditor General, in addition to his general duty of supervising and directing the work of the Civil Accountants General and Comptrollers —

- (1) Compilation of the Central Accounts, both monthly and yearly
- (2) Compilation of estimates and comparison of current facts therewith
- (3) Appropriation audit
- (4) Audit and inspection of all offices of Account
- (5) Management of the Paper Currency Department
- (6) Control of personnel of Civil Department of Account

- (7) Resource— that is, the providing of money both by increasing the balances as a whole, and by transferring them to the points whence they are required
 - (8) Management of the Public Debt now including Stock Notes
 - (9) Accounts of the District Savings Banks
 - (10) Adjustment of accounts of Guaranteed Railways
 - (11) Account with London and with the Colonies
 - (12) Management of Reserve Treasuries and of the Bank balances
 - (13) Central accounts and custody of securities held in trust by Government officers

 - (16) Collection of mutual accounts of accounting officers
 - (17) Audit of such accounts as Administrator Generals and other Law Officers and Emigration Agencies of Colonies
 - (18) The Accounts of the Forest Department
 - (19) Examination of accounts of Service Funds

ORDERED that this Resolution be communicated to the several Local Governments and Administrations the Comptroller General the several Accountants General and Comptrollers, the Military Department and the Public Works Department

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Bankoora, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83

THE road cess was levied at the maximum rate in the district during the year under report. It was on the whole realized without much difficulty. Out of the actual demand of Rs 39,776 from cess on lands and mines Rs 36,775 were realized up to the end of the year leaving a balance (inclusive of Rs 9 remitted) of Rs 3,001 unrealized of which Rs 1,675 were outstanding against the Ghatwali and Rs 1,317 against the revenue paying and revenue free estates. Partial revaluations under the Cess Act IX (B.C.) of 1880, are still in progress in this district.

Twelve non official members of the District Committee, having failed to attend six consecutive meetings ceased to be members under section 115 of the Act. Seven of them, however, have been reappointed by Government, and three new members have also been appointed in the place of two deceased and one unwilling to continue on the list. The attendance of the non official members was not satisfactory.

Six (one official and five non official) members of the Branch Committee of Bishenpore have become disqualified members, having been absent at six consecutive meetings. The attendance of the other members has been reported by the Chairman of the Branch Committee to be satisfactory.

The following are the works of important nature that were executed under the head "Original Works" during the year—

Indas and Kotulpore Road—The construction of this new line of communication was commenced in January 1882. The total estimated cost of the work as sanctioned by Government was Rs 9,493. Up to the end of the year under report the Committee have been able to allot up to Rs 7,500. The remainder of the estimated cost has been allotted in the current year's budget. The District Engineer reports that the work has now been completed with the exception of turfing, which could not be done for want of rain.

Indpur and Khatra Road—This road is about 12 miles in length, and has been commenced at the Khatra end. The last five miles of it, from Rangamatia to Khatra, were sanctioned by Government during the cess year 1881-82. The District Engineer reports that the temporary survey staff has already commenced the detailed survey of the remaining seven miles, and the necessary project will be prepared and submitted in due course. The progress made in the construction of the last five miles has been reported as fair.

Pilgrim Road—The construction of this road outside round the town of Bankoora has for its object the preservation of the town from the contagion from the pilgrims en route to

Juggernath The work was completed and paid for during the year There is a culvert wanting over a gap

Panighar Railway Station and Bishenpore road—The metalling of the last 7 miles of the railway feeder road from Panighar to Bishenpore was completed and finally paid for during the year The work done on it has been reported to be satisfactory

Taldangra and Raipore road—The necessary project for this road has been submitted to the Divisional Superintendent He has however called for an estimate for a bridge over the Joypanda which is under preparation by the District Engineer under the instructions of the Divisional Superintendent The bridge however will be beyond the means of the Committee for many years to come, and it is hoped the rules of the department will not prevent putting in hand the worst portion near Taldangra about two miles in extent, by which means through traffic will be secured, as the land from this point to Raipore is comparatively high

Raipore—Salboni road—The next work worthy of notice under the head was the construction of a road from Raipore to Salboni in the Midnapore district This road will afford very great benefit to the people of Raipore who have scarcely any means of access to the trading centres for the disposal of their produce The work was in progress during the year and will be completed ere long Every possible attempts are being made to open up this tract of country with means of communication

Village roads—About 25 village roads were constructed in the district during the year 12 in the Sudder and 13 in the Bishenpore Sub Division Eleven unfinished village roads of the previous years were also completed during the year under report The total subscription in money or labour received from the villages was Rs 677 The work of the improvement of village roads is now administered by the Committees themselves without the aid of the Engineering Establishment

The planting of trees on the road sides which forms an item under head 'Original works' deserves mention It was carried on as previously under the contract system and on three roads only partially by the establishment of paid coolies 3745 trees planted during the previous years were properly maintained during the year under report There were some cases of failure, but on the whole the work was, as the District Engineer reports satisfactorily done

The objectionable procedure of keeping repair works unfinished and unpaid at the end of the year has been put a stop to All the repair works of the year under review were completed and finally paid for before the year closed Unfortunately as this was not contemplated when the budget was framed, no provision was made for short collections and cost of establishment in first quarter the result has been that the account stands overdrawn This will, however, be covered by the Government contribution of one third towards the cost of revaluation now due for two years and for which application has been made

DWARKANATH SEN,

For Chairman.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Midnapore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83

The percentage of average attendance of members was 36.06, while that of the previous year was 37.70. During the year under report there were six meetings of the Branch Committee at Tumlook and two meetings at Contai. In all the meetings of the Branch Committees there was quorum.

All the main line of communications particularly metalled roads, received renewal coats of metal, and petty repairs to metalling where necessary so that at the beginning of the new cess year 1883-84 the roads were found in good order. All the unmetalled roads received necessary repairs and were never unfit for fair weather wheeled traffic.

The following are the most important and noteworthy works under the head of "Original Works" in the course of execution or executed during the year —

(a) Some small culverts have been made on road No. 3, Lodhasye to Panihatty for the purpose of irrigation, as well as to discharge surface drainage of the country.

(b) About 3 miles of the most muddy portions of the Bombay road have been metalled towards the frontier to the great convenience of the public, and the road hitherto remaining in an impassable state has been opened to traffic.

(c) The remaining portion of the causeway in the 17th mile of Road No. 6 Burdwan Road has been completed and the injuries to which the road was hitherto subject from extraordinary floods have been guarded against.

(d) The whole length of road No. 8 Gurbetta to Ramgurih which was very narrow, has been widened to 20 feet so that two carts can easily pass each other.

(e) The most muddy portions of road No. 9 Chunderconah to Amlajorah, have been metalled and the road itself repaired and widened. This is one of the principal feeder roads to Ghatal Port, and the improvements made in it have apparently tended to the development of traffic.

(f) The whole length of road No. 10, Chunderconah to Gohaltore, has been widened to 20 feet and this fully meets the requirement of traffic on the road.

(g) The metalling of road No. 11 Belda to Contai has been completed. This will make communication with Contai easy, and a considerable increase of traffic on it is already observable.

(h) The work of bridging road No. 12 Dabjuri to Sildah has made much progress. It is in contemplation to metal this road next year.

(i) The metalling of road No. 25-28 Ramgurih to Cossye, has been completed. It has been considered necessary to divert the portion of road No. 25 from Cossye river to Binpore with a view to shorten its length as well as to avoid the floods of Sarafeni river, to which the present road is subject. Thus several roads linked together will form a main line of communication between Barabhoim and Ghatal.

(l) The restoration of road No. 26, Chuttergung to Ramjeebunpore, has been completed.

(m) The portion of road No. 29 Satpatty to Kantapaharee traversing the dense sal jungle near Kantapaharee has been reformed, and the shortest route from Raipore to Midnapore opened.

(n) Feeder road from Lutchmapore to Jonardhonepore has been completed.

(o) Feeder road connecting the Cuttack Trunk Road with Mohunpore Lock on the western terminus of the Canal has been completed with the exception of the culverts. The construction of this bit of the road has considerably increased traffic from southern quarter of the district.

Trees have been planted on some principal roads and those planted before have been maintained and reared. Their general growth and health are promising and satisfactory.

Work on the village roads was carried out chiefly by village Panchayats, under the supervision of the Sub Divisional Officers, and the members of the Branch Committees, and in some cases by zemindars, planters and missionaries. Chairmen of the Branch Road Cess Committees and the officer in charge of the village roads of the sudder sub division were as usual allowed the assistance of a Sub Overseer from the District Road Staff during the working season for the purpose of reporting on new proposals, checking accounts, &c.

The books and accounts of the Committee have been kept with great care and very systematically.

The annual accounts were duly examined and audited by the Sub Committee and passed at a special meeting of the Committee held on the 11th January 1884.

The late District Engineer, Mr. Mackenzie, having resigned his appointment the work has been carried on pending the arrival of his successor by the Head Overseer, Baboo Chunder Sikher Doss, who deserves much credit for the manner in which he has discharged this unusually responsible duty. The Subordinate Executive Staff have generally worked satisfactorily.

Explanatory memorandum to accompany the annual accounts

Receipt side—In the annual account a sum of Rs 3,678 5 11 has been shown as 'interest' on the arrear of Road Cess but the progressive total of the monthly return for September 1883 shows Rs 3,473 5 9 only against that head that is less by Rs 205 1 2. The collection of interest Rs 205 0 2 for February 1883 was erroneously shown in the monthly return for that month against the head of 'Miscellaneous' as before. This has now been transferred to its proper head.

2 The sum of Rs 1,853 6 4 being contribution out of collection from Government Estates was shown under the head of 'Miscellaneous' in the monthly account for March 1883 as usual but in the annual account this sum has been shown under the head 'Grant from Government' agreeably to the instructions conveyed in the Accountant-General's, Bengal audit notes Nos 063L—F, dated 16th June 1883, and 0148L—F, dated 17th September 1883.

3 Expenditure side—The expenditure as shown in the annual account under the head of 'Original' and 'Repairs' is Rs 51,970 5 9 and Rs 91,500 9 10, while the expenditure in the monthly account against those heads amounts to Rs 52,062 3-6 and Rs 91,408 12 1 respectively that is the expenditure of 'original work' has been decreased by Rs 91 13 9 and that of 'repairs' increased by the same amount. The reason of this difference is that out of the materials collected and manufactured for original work and the cost of which formerly charged to that head materials worth Rs 91 13 9 have subsequently been transferred to the head of 'repairs' for repairing bridges, culverts, bungalows &c.

4 According to previous instructions on the subject the sum of Rs 1,558 being contributions on account of the Divisional Superintendent of Works and his Establishment was shown under 'Establishment Public Works' in the monthly accounts for March 1883. In the annual account the total charges on that account for the year have been shown under distinct heading 'Establishment of Divisional Superintendent of Works' vide Accountant General's Circular No 7 dated 6th July 1883.

5 In the monthly account for June 1883 there appears to have been a discrepancy of annas ten in the progressive total of heading 'advance—suspense account'. This discrepancy has been reconciled in the annual account. The progressive total should be Rs 26,323-2 instead of Rs 26,323 12.

6 The figures of the quarterly returns for the 1st 2nd and 3rd quarters have been compared with those of the monthly accounts of this office and their sums total found to be correct. But it is not understood how the figures under the sub-heads of 'Miscellaneous' in the 3rd Quarterly Returns have been arrived at. The total amount under the general head 'miscellaneous' agrees and it is only in the distribution of the total amount under the sub-heads that the quarterly return does not tally with the accounts submitted by this office. The Accountant General will have to be asked on what principle the distribution has been made.

7 Under orders of Accountant General Bengal Circular No 7, dated 6th July 1883 the charges on account of the Divisional Superintendent of works ought to have been, entered in a separate heading, but in the Quarterly Return they have been shown under the head of 'Establishment Public Works'.

Abstract of a report by the Vice-Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Hooghly, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83

There has been an increase in the total length of roads under the District Road Cess Committee during the past cess year 1882-83, as shown below —

	1881-82		1882-83.
	M	FT	M	FT
Metalled roads	70	87	74	87
Unmetalled roads	857	61	365	61

All repairs to roads as estimated in the Budget estimate were undertaken and duly completed within the cess year, with the exception of the Dhaniallah road, and the road from Howrah to Jugutbullubpore, which were completed on the third week of October, and the first week of November 1883. Owing to the failure of the contractor in charge of the Jugutbullubpore road to supply materials in time, the delay was inevitable. The scarcity of rain during the latter part of the autumn of 1883, interfered with the early completion of the Dhaniallah road. There is always heavy traffic on these two roads, and the completion of their metalling has been very great convenience to the public.

The road from Bydchatty to Bhola, being part of the road to Tarakeswar, was kept in tolerable repair all throughout the year. But the want of funds and the heavy traffic carried on this road made it impossible to keep it in that state of repairs which the public expected.

The estimate for the iron girder bridge over the Mohiary khali was sanctioned in 1881-82, but no steps were taken for its construction in that year. It was only during the past year that it was undertaken, completed, and opened to traffic.

The estimate for the bridge over the Ari khall was sanctioned in April 1883, and its construction was taken in hand in the June following. Though the heavy rains of July temporarily retarded its progress, it was completed within the cess year with exception of the rails which have been since put up.

The general condition of the bridges in the district is fair but that of the roads, both metalled and unmetalled, on which there was much cart traffic, is not at all satisfactory.

The state of the roads under Class II was much improved in the Pandua, Hooghly, and Howrah sub divisions. The roads in the Jehanabad sub division are yet in a very backward condition. They have been neglected since the transfer of that sub division from Burdwan to this district. Last year estimates were framed for bringing two of the roads into a proper state of repair, and sanctioned by the Chairman but for want of funds nothing could be done, and the roads are now in the same state as they were before.

The village roads were repaired by the local sub committees zemindars, and village head men whose work was generally satisfactory. In many instances the grants from the Committee were supplemented by local contributions. But no steps were taken to supervise the work on the village roads by any responsible agency. Measures have been taken to remove this irregularity from the present year.

The experiment of planting fruit trees has to some extent been successful. Rs 1,081 were spent in planting fruit trees on the Pandua to Culna, Uttarpara to Kallipore, Old Benares road and Mohanad to Bhastara roads. Altogether 1,000 mango, mahogany, teak and other grafts were planted during the year. The mahogany and teak plants were obtained from the Botanical garden.

The subordinate establishments of the different departments of the Road Cess gave satisfaction in the discharge of their respective duties.

The working of the Branch Committees shows that most of the members took a fair share of interest in their work.

Memorandum by the Chairman on the Annual Administration Report of the Hooghly and Howrah District Road Fund for the cess year 1882-83

I wish to add some remarks to this report which the Vice Chairman has prepared under section 78 of the Cess Act. As I did not join the district until the 13th November, I have not been able to see all the roads in the district but I have seen all those in the Sudder sub division and some of those of each class in the Jehanabad and Serampore sub divisions. I propose to divide my remarks into four headings:

- | | |
|---------------------|---------------------------|
| (a) Metalled road | } On the Committee's list |
| (b) Unmetalled road | |
| (c) Village roads | |
| (d) Tree planting | |

(a) The metalled roads which I have seen are not in good order. They are all metalled with brick (with the exception of the Baidyabati to Bhola road) and the traffic on them is very heavy consisting chiefly of country carts laden with bricks and produce to and from the East Indian Railway and river Hooghly.

The conditions are such as render it almost impossible to keep these roads in good order. They are repaired once a year or less often and are then left to take care of themselves until the next periodical repairs are done. There is no such thing as maintenance or constant petty repairs or the principle that a stitch in time saves nine. For two years the Committee has had a windfall in the shape of a large increase of collections an account of the arrears of Lakraj assessments and this has enabled it to spend a considerable extra sum on the repairs of these roads. But when the arrear collections have been gathered in it will have to fall back on its normal yearly income of only Rs 47,000. It is impossible with this income to keep all the roads of the district in good order and the mileage of metalled roads tends to increase yearly without any corresponding increase of income. It becomes therefore a serious question what is to be done in the future. The Jehanabad sub-division is in crying want of communications, but cannot make its voice so well heard as those parts of the Sudder and Serampore sub divisions which adjoin the railway. In my opinion the only chance of avoiding a complete breakdown lies in the application of constant petty repairs to metalled roads, as opposed to heavy and costly annual biennial or triennial repairs coupled with subsequent neglect. If the former plan be adopted more active and constant supervision will be necessary on the part of the district Engineer.

(b) Unmetalled roads—There is not much to be said about these. When once they have been bridged it is not possible to do much good except in the way of surface repair. To throw up earth every year to be blown away as dust is mere waste of money. When the road gets thoroughly worn into ruts a new coating of earth should be given from end to end one or more roads being taken up in this way year by year as funds are available. The state of the unmetalled roads which I have seen is generally very fair, but depends entirely on the nature of the soil and the extent and nature of the traffic. No unmetalled road in the world will stand the wear and tear of constant streams of carts with narrow tyres to their wheels. Except in the rains, the roads generally afford all reasonable facilities for wheeled traffic.

(c) The matter of village roads is one to which I have devoted much attention in the sudder sub division while the sub divisional officers have zealously taken it up in their sub division. I found during my tour that many villagers had applied for, and had previously obtained grants for the repair of the village paths and streets inside the village boundary though they did not lead to any open line of communication. I refused all such applications, the want being of general communications with the outside world. It was extremely difficult to ascertain how the grants made in previous years had been expended, and the absence of any such record increased the difficulty of deciding the petitions for village roads. To obviate such inconvenience in future and to secure the permanent record of money spent and work done in village roads, I opened two registers (the form of which are attached to this memorandum) the use of which will I think amply repay the slight trouble involved in keeping them up. I made no grant without making a personal and local enquiry and the sub divisional officers have observed the same rule. The Overseers are ordered to make periodical inspections and progress reports, and the parties who undertake the work give a stamped bond to spend the money properly and give full accounts of their expenditure. With the above precautions, money is very well and usefully spent on small village roads but without them I consider that it is merely wasted.

(d) On the subject of tree planting I have to observe that the present principle of at once planting out seeds or very small seedlings on the roads is a wrong one. A large percentage of seedlings dies, as it is impossible to water and tend them properly or to supervise the mulees employed to look after them. Not only this but each one requires separate protection for some eight or ten years whereas if young plants were raised in nursery gardens, and put out when two or three feet high, one fence and one mulee would do for all for at least half the time of their growth. I have introduced this change and established the principle in future working.

Generally speaking, I may say that the district is very fairly well off for communications with the exception of the Jehanabad sub division where difficulties of flood are severely felt. But there looms in the distance the difficulty of ever increasing wants and demands and a stationary income to meet them. Much could be done by the District Engineer by good management and constant inspection and supervision to remedy this but it is nevertheless a serious matter for the future.

BIMOLA CHURN BHATTACHARYA

For Chairman

From—JOHN BRAMES, Esq, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department

I HAVE the honour herewith to submit in original, for publication in the Calcutta Gazette, the annual reports and accounts of receipts and expenditure of the Road Cess Funds, of the several districts of this division as noted in the margin, for the Cess year 1882-83

Chairman, Road Com. Committee Ban
corrah's No 81 of 28th November 1843
Chairman Road Com. Committee Duwan's
No 81 of 19th January 1844
Chairman, Road Com. Committee Midon-pore's No 245 of 24th January 1844
Chairman Road Com. Committee Beer
bhon's No 19 of 6th February 1844
Chairman Road Com. Committee Hooghly's
No. 29 of 27th February 1844

2 The total receipts in this division during the year amounted to Rs. 8,58,969 8 inclusive of Rs 1,55,308 14 6 the balance in hand on the 1st October 1882, and of Rs 1,01,536 8 1 under the head of advances and deposits. The net disbursements of the year amounted to Rs 6,78,543 5 5 exclusive of advances and refunds of deposits amounting to Rs 1,01,623 6

The balance remaining in hand on the 30th September 1883 is Rs 1,13,762 2 7 including the deficit balance Rs 1,160 9 7 in the Bancoorah district

3 The very irregular system of allowing works of repair estimates sanctioned in any one year to run over the succeeding year or years which was in vogue in almost all the districts of this division has been put a stop to by the careful supervision and control of the Divisional Superintendent of Works, and I am glad to note that almost all the repair works of every district, sanctioned for the past cess year, have been completed within the year

4 Attention was paid by every District Committee towards the improvement of arboriculture. New trees have been planted on the sides of many principal roads of nearly every district, and those planted in previous years, have in most cases, been carefully preserved and maintained

5 Attention has been paid by most of the Road Cess Committees to the improvements of village roads, though some irregularities still occur. The present Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Hooghly, has devoted his special attention to this important branch, as well as to the plantation of trees on road sides. The method proposed to be adopted by him for the execution of works under the former of these two heads appears very systematic, and is calculated to yield satisfactory results in the latter

A—Instructions for the guidance of public vaccinators under the provisions of Act V (B C) of 1880—

1 According to the provisions of this Act, the parent or guardian of every child born in any place in which the Act is in force shall, within one year after the birth of such child, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of 14 years brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently in any such place, within six months after such child's arrival at such place, or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old, within one year and three months after its birth, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in any such place at the date of this Act coming into force, and whose age at such date exceeds one year but does not exceed fourteen years, shall, within six months from the said date, take it or cause it to be taken to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated, or shall, within such time as aforesaid, cause it to be vaccinated by some public vaccinator.

2 Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a child, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the above provisions, remains unprotected, he shall ask the parent or guardian of such child to have it forthwith vaccinated, and explain to him the liabilities he will incur if he declines to do so; and if the parent or guardian of such unprotected child does not comply with the vaccinator's requisition, the latter shall at once bring the matter to the notice of the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer of the district or cantonment in order that legal proceedings may be taken against the parent or guardian of such unprotected child.

3 Public vaccinators must be very careful to supply the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer of the district or Cantonment with correct information, for if they fail to prove their statements before the Court, they will be liable to pay any damages which the Magistrate may order for the unnecessary trouble of the person whom they have caused to be prosecuted.

4 Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a person whose age exceeds 14 years is still unprotected, he shall ask such unprotected person to get himself forthwith vaccinated; and in the event of the latter declining to do so, the public vaccinator shall bring the circumstances to the notice of the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer, in order that the said unprotected person may be served with a notice in form of Schedule (D) annexed to the Act, requiring him, within fifteen days after the service of the same, to submit himself to a public vaccinator to be vaccinated.

5 Vaccinators should endeavour to ascertain—

- (a) Whether children born in any place in which the Act is in force have had their births registered at the police station of the section, and been served with notices. Information ought at once to be given to the Registrar in cases in which this duty has been neglected.
- (b) Whether any child under 14 years of age not protected by vaccination in small pox, or small pox has been brought to reside in any place in which the Act is in force. In such case also information ought to be given at the police station in order that a notice may be served.

it back to the station on the fourth or fifth day after the operation that they may see whether all the points of vaccination have taken. If there be a failure of one or more points they should be careful to repeat vaccination at those points and enter the fact of their having done so in the remark column of the vaccine register. The vaccinators shall again direct the parent or guardian to bring the child once more on the seventh or eighth day, that they may ascertain and enter in their register the final result of the operation.

9 If the operation proves successful, the vaccinator must deliver to the parent or guardian a certificate to the effect in the form of schedule (C). If it proves unsuccessful the vaccinators must forthwith again vaccinate the child and issue instructions for its inspection as before.

is insusceptible of successful vaccination he should deliver to the parent or guardian such child a certificate in the form of Schedule (A)

12 This certificate shall remain in force for three months but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until the vaccinator deems the child to be in a fit state for vaccination when the child shall with all possible despatch be vaccinated, and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of Schedule (C) if warranted by the result.

13 A public vaccinator shall on no account charge any person for granting certificates

No fee to be charged for granting certificate of successful vaccination, of postponed vaccination, or of insusceptibility to vaccination, whether the same be granted at a public vaccine station or elsewhere.

14 Every public vaccinator who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of Schedule (A) (B) and (C) shall within 21 days after giving same transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of his or the police section of the municipality where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered, or in which the child, if its birth has been registered resides.

where than at a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child, shall charge a fee of four annas for every such vaccination. He is to inspect the child on the fourth and seventh of the day and grant certificates as in cases of vaccination in the stations. No fee is to be charged for inspection and for granting certificates.

16 Public vaccinators are to grant printed receipts for amounts paid to them as fees.

Receipts for fees to be given to the parent or guardian and the amount collected should be deposited at the office of the Civil Surgeon, &c., every week.

Punishment for misappropriation of fees

These amounts are to be deposited at the office of the Civil Surgeon or other principal Civil or Military Medical Officer every Saturday, or when that officer so orders. The vaccinators are not to misappropriate any portion of the fees to themselves, for if they do so they are liable not only to be dismissed from the department, but also to be criminally prosecuted.

17 To ensure successful vaccination, the following cardinal points are to be remembered by every vaccinator—viz good virus, a clean lancet, and the healthy condition of the person to be vaccinated.

Vaccinators should use none but the best virus, they should remember that vaccination with bad virus is worse than no vaccination, for it not only does not protect persons only who are free from constitutional diseases, especially syphilis. Lymph should never be taken from a child who has an eruption on his skin, lumps about the anus or genital organs, bad teeth, or a sore throat or cold. In fact, none but perfectly healthy children should be used as subjects for conveyance of lymph. A clean lancet should invariably be used when a foul lancet is used it produces an amount of irritation in the vesicles

Good virus should always be used

Healthy persons are only to be vaccinated in ordinary times
Eruption in times of epidemic which renders success doubtful. In ordinary times persons in good health are only to be vaccinated but in times of epidemic every unprotected person, whether in sound health or otherwise, should be vaccinated. There is no fear in vaccinating pregnant women

18 In cases of good and successful vaccination the following phenomena are observed in the places where the virus is inserted—No change takes place until the third day when the points of insertion of the virus appear like red spots or mosquito bites. On the fourth day these spots look like little pimples. On the fifth and sixth days the pimples enlarge into vesicles and contain clear lymph. On the seventh day the vesicles are fully developed. On the eighth day areola form around the vesicles. There is sympathetic fever from this day. On the ninth day the contents of the vesicles become perfectly yellow, and the surrounding inflammation becomes more dense. After the tenth day a crust gradually forms brownish black in colour and of considerable thickness and should fall off from the 18th to the 20th day, or two days earlier in the hot season. It should leave a well depressed cicatrix, with marked edges and floor lined and pitted.

The period at which the lymph is to be taken

19 Lymph should be taken on the sixth and seventh days in the winter season and on the fifth and sixth days in the hot and rainy seasons

20 In taking lymph the vesicles are to be punctured from the top and not from the side. If the vesicles be punctured at the side, the inner septa of the vesicles would prevent the flowing of the lymph into the seat of puncture. The upper surface should not be scraped off. It should only be punctured, and if the lancet be placed flatly an abundance of lymph will flow on it.

Manner of taking the lymph

The lymph thus taken on the point of the lancet is to be inserted in at least four different places two on each arm one above and the other below the insertion of the deltoid muscles from an inch to an inch and a half apart from each other. The virus is to be inserted below the scarf or upper skin, but not deep enough to draw blood. Three such punctures are to be made in each place thus.

21 The vaccinators must be kind and courteous towards the people that come to the public vaccine stations to have their children vaccinated. The people from their ignorance of the vaccine disease will ask many useless and tedious questions of the vaccinators, but the latter should not get annoyed at this. They should particularly explain everything which the parent or guardian of vaccinated children may want to know. While vaccinating at private houses they should be equally kind and courteous in their manners and although the law does not prohibit their taking any reward or present from persons able and willing to pay, they should make no demands.

B—Instructions to Registrars—

1 The Bengal Vaccination Act 1880 (Act V of 1880) requires of Registrars of Births the following duties connected with compulsory vaccination, in addition to those duties relating to the registration of birth and deaths which the law imposes upon them—

2 On the registration of the birth of a child the Registrar shall deliver to the person bringing information of such birth a printed notice in the form of Schedule E appended to the Act

Section 18

3 The Act further requires that parents and guardians of children under 14 years of age not born, but brought to reside whether temporarily or permanently, in any place in which the Act is in force, to have them vaccinated within six months of arrival, or if at the time of arrival they are below one year of age, within 15 months of birth. On such cases coming to the knowledge of Registrars, a notice should be served in Schedule E, altered according to circumstances. Such cases should be included in the register of vaccination, column 4 being left blank.

4 These notices will be issued to Registrars in the form of a book, each notice having a counterfoil which will, when filled in, constitute the minutes of the notices required by section 20 of the Act.

5 Vaccinators are directed by the Act when a person or child is successfully vaccinated, to transmit to the Registrar a duplicate copy of the certificate (Schedule C), the original of which has been handed to the parent, or guardian or person. Similarly, when the vaccinator considers it advisable to postpone vaccination on account of ill-health or unfitness from any other cause, a certificate to that effect (Schedule A) is given to the parent, or guardian, or person and a duplicate thereof sent to the Registrar, and when a person or child is found insusceptible of vaccination, a certificate (Schedule B) is given, and a duplicate sent to the Registrar. These duplicate certificates (schedules A, B, and C) of postponed, unsuccessful, and successful vaccination should be filed in separate bundles, and the information conveyed by them entered in the proper columns of the registers

6 A register of vaccination shall be kept in the following form, of which columns 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 will be filled up on issue of the notice (Schedule E), and the remaining columns on receipt of the duplicate certificate mentioned in the last paragraph —

Register of vaccination for

Serial No	Name of child	Date of birth	No of entry in register of birth	Date of notice Schedule E	Date of certificate of successful vaccination — Schedule C	Date of certificate of insusceptibility — Schedule B	Signature of Registrar
-----------	---------------	---------------	----------------------------------	---------------------------	--	--	------------------------

7 An additional column will be in future added to the ordinary 'Register of Births' in which an entry will be made referring to the 'Number in the Vaccination Register'. Thus these two registers—the 'Register of Births' and the 'Vaccination Register'—will contain references to each other and no difficulty can be experienced in ascertaining whether a certificate has been received regarding the vaccination of any child whose birth has been registered

8 When a certificate has been received of the postponement of vaccination (Schedule

A) an entry should be made in the special 'Register of postponed vaccination' (Schedule F) prescribed by the Act. Care should be taken that a child, regarding whom a certificate of this kind is received, is eventually vaccinated, and unless a renewed certificate of postponement has been received an entry should be made of the name in the return mentioned in the next paragraph

9 As soon after the first of every month as possible a return will be forwarded to the Civil Surgeon or other Principal Civil or Military Medical Officer in the following form showing the cases in which notice has been given or certificate of postponement has been received and the period mentioned in the notice or certificate of postponement has expired without receipt of a certificate of successful vaccination or insusceptibility (Schedule B or C). A case once returned in this form need not be entered again except in the instance of a fresh postponement —

Return of cases in which notice of vaccination has been served but certificate has not been received for the month of

Name of child	Name of parent or guardian	Residence	Date of issue of notice

10 It is obviously desirable, for the purpose of ensuring that every child born in any place in which the Act is in force shall be vaccinated that every endeavour should be made to render the registration of births as perfect as possible. Every endeavour should therefore be made to ascertain and cause the registration of every birth occurring in any place in which the Act is in force

Circular order issued by authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal

CRIMINAL

No 8 dated the 18th April 1884

5 For clause (c) of rule 14 chapter VI pages 114 115, Criminal Rules and Orders (1863) substitute the following —

(c) [Depositions, &c, to be translated—C O No 4 of 28th February 1881]—In Sessions cases, every vernacular (1) document, (2) deposition or (3) examination of an accused person, admitted in evidence at the trial, shall be translated into English and a copy of such translation fully written out shall be incorporated in the record. The translation of more than one document, deposition or examination shall not be written on one sheet of paper

After the words incorporated in the record in (revised) clause (c) rule 14 chapter VI page 114, Criminal Rules and Orders (1883) insert the following —

“Provided that, when a vernacular document the contents of which are not relevant, is used in evidence for a limited purpose, such as to prove a signature, or handwriting or the nature of writing materials or the like it shall not be necessary to make an English translation of the contents of such document”

No 9, dated the 23rd April 1884

19 [Chapter XXV C C P—Evidence to be recorded legibly—C A No 2 of 13th August 1862]—(a) Difficulty having been frequently experienced in reading the evidence of witnesses the attention of all Criminal officers is called to the necessity of carefully writing such evidence in a legible manner

To Chapter VI, Section 19 (a) page 116 of the Criminal Rules and Orders add after the words legible manner —

“Depositions should be written on one side of the paper only, a margin of one fourth of the sheet being left blank”

From—C S BAYLEY Esq, Officiating Registrar, High Court,

To—All Sessions Judges and Magistrates in Bengal and Assam

As considerable inconvenience in reading the records of criminal cases has been found to result from the practice of recording evidence on both sides of the paper, I am directed to request that in future all depositions may be taken down on one side of the paper only. A margin of one fourth of the sheet should be kept blank. The Superintendent of Stationery will be directed when next supplying paper for depositions to Sessions Judges and Magistrates, to furnish a certain proportion of blank half sheets with a ruled margin. These half sheets should be used to finish any deposition the whole of which cannot be written upon the paper with a printed heading on which it has been commenced

General letter No 5, dated Calcutta, the 18th April 1884

To—All District and Sessions Judges and District Magistrates in Bengal and Assam

The Court having reason to suppose that an impression prevails with some officers that the term “recent legislation” used in the instructions noted on the margin regarding the preparation of annual reports on the Administration of Civil and Criminal Justice is limited to the legislation of the year with which the report is concerned, I am directed to state that no such limitation was intended. The effect of the legislation of any particular year can very rarely be observed before the close of that year. The term was therefore intended to embrace the legislation of comparatively recent years, the results of which may have become observable during the year under report

Rule 116 (7) pag 1^o General Rules and Circular Orders (C C D)
Rule 1 (c) pag 11 General Rules and Circular Orders (Criminal)

To—All District Judges in Bengal and Assam

I am directed to inform you that, in the case of notices prescribed by Act VIII (B C) of 1869, Act XI of 1868, Act XXVII of 1860, Act V of 1881, and other Acts which contain no express provisions as to the manner in which the notices thereby directed are to be served or published, the mode of service or publication is, subject to the provisions of section 647 of the Code of Civil Procedure, left to the discretion of the Judge. As a matter of convenience, however, it is inexpedient that any practice which is established in any particular district should be disturbed without good reason.

§ In all cases in which more than one copy of a notice has to be affixed to court houses or offices situated at the same station, one fee only should be charged for its issue, but a separate fee may be charged for any copy that has to be posted in any other locality.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND

The 20th May 1884

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Hazareebagh Lohardugga Manbhoom and Singbhoom for the cess year 1882 83 together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore are published for general information

G F E S NEILL, Major M S C,

Under Secy to the Govt of Bengal, P W D

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Hazaribagh on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882 83

THE road cess was levied at the maximum rate in the district. The demand of cess on lands and mines during the year amounted to Rs 44 170 against Rs 34 608 in the previous year. The total amount recoverable in the year, including the arrears of last year was Rs 45 605, of which Rs 44 378 were collected, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 1 227 at the close of the year.

There were five meetings held by the District Road Committee and six by the Giridi Branch Committee during the year, at all of which a full quorum was obtained, and the attendance of the members was fair.

The construction of culverts on the Hazaribagh and Chattra road and the Giridi and Kharukdiha road was taken up in the year 1881 82, but no satisfactory progress was then made in the work. During the year under report all the culverts on the Giridi and Kharukdiha road were completed and about three fourths of the sanctioned number of culverts on the Hazaribagh and Chattra road were constructed. One inspection bungalow at Maunhidi on the Gola and Gobindpore road has been built during the year. A pucca well 45 feet deep has also been made at Ramghur.

The existing metalled and fair weather roads have been repaired and maintained in proper order, and they are passable for carts.

Rupees 11,500 were allotted for village roads during the year. Of this sum Rs 9,858 were expended, viz Rs 3 864 in the head quarters sub division, and Rs 5 994 in the Giridi sub division. The works in the former were executed under the supervision of the District Engineer and those in the latter under the supervision of the Branch Committee.

No new trees have been planted during the year. 14,147 trees planted out along district roads have been maintained, and a few trees kept up in the compound of each inspection bungalow.

The several establishments under the Road Committee have, on the whole, worked well.

GIRINDRA NATH MITTER

Vice Chairman

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee Lohardugga, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83

THE cess was levied at the maximum rate in the district. There was no difficulty in collecting it at head quarters but the same difficulty as in previous years was felt in the realization of cesses in the Palamow sub division. This however will be removed in the ensuing year as the re valuation of the district has been completed. The road cess is by no means unpopular in the district, as the people now understand that the money is spent for their benefit.

There were eleven meetings held during the year by the District Road Committee of which nine were special and two ordinary. One special meeting was adjourned for want of a quorum. The attendance of both the official and non official members of the Committee was very unsatisfactory as out of six official and six non official, three official and two non official did not attend six consecutive meetings and were consequently struck off the list under section 115 of Act IX (B C) of 1880. The average attendance was four, against six of the previous years.

One permanent masonry bridge of one span of 30 feet was commenced and built up to springing level during the year, and four brick masonry culverts were commenced and completed. A portion of the Hinu diversion line has been finished with earthwork, turfing and temporary bridges. In addition to these some expenditure was incurred in making curves on the Kuru and Lateyhar, Lateyhar and Daltongunge, Ranchi and Serai and Gurwah and Majhwan roads.

The greater portion of the amount expended on village roads was used for making hill roads passable about eight village roads were maintained and two newly opened.

The work of tree planting has been extended over six miles of roads. The total length planted out up to the end of the year is 65 miles. The trees planted in previous years are thriving well.

The different establishments under the Committee have done their work satisfactorily.

on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882 83*

THE working of the Cess Act was on the whole, satisfactory. The total demand on account of cesses for the year was Rs 31 387 and the outstanding arrears of the previous year amounted to Rs 265, making an aggregate demand of Rs 31,652. The whole of this amount, with the exception of Rs 1 755 was realized during the year, together with Rs 2 532 on account of future quarters. The total collection therefore, exceeded the demand by Rs 777.

A meeting of the District Road Committee was convened regularly every month and there was no meeting without a quorum being formed. Of the 18 members (6 official and 12 non official), none failed to attend any meeting during the year and the average attendance at each meeting was 7.

There is no Branch Committee in the district. The maintenance of village and other communications in the Gobindpore sub division was carried out under the management of the Sub Divisional Officer. Village roads in the sudder sub division have been repaired and improved by construction of rough stone and wooden culverts in several places.

The works done during the year were chiefly restricted to the maintenance of all the finished roads in the district excepting a few small culverts on the Roghoonathpore Hazaribagh road and one at the boundary of the Roghoonathpore Ranigunge road, and a couple of wells in the compounds of the Nodiara and Ichoolin Cart Serais which were constructed. Portions of the Purulia Chybassa and Purulia Bankoorah roads were greatly improved by gravelling in muddy places and turfing side slopes of the roads. The road from Roghoonathpore towards Ranigunge was also improved, it being realigned and made of full breadth in several old portions chiefly between Saltora and the boundary. The old famine road from Damdah on the Chybassa road towards Kailapal via Barrabazar and from Roghoonathpore towards Hazaribagh were also taken up and generally repaired to make them fit for traffic.

There have been no changes in the working establishment during the year.

C H GARRETT

Chairman, District Road Committee, Singbhaom

CHYERASSA
The 6th January 1884

No 263D R, dated Chota Nagpore, the 24th March 1884

From—J F K HEWITT, Esq., Commissioner of Chota Nagpore,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the reports and accounts received from the several District Road Committees in this division on the operations of the District Road Funds during the cess year ending with 30th September 1883

2 The dates on which the several reports and accounts have been received in this office are as follow —

Hazaribagh	3rd January 1884
Lohardugga	29th February „
Manbhoom	17th January ,
Singbhoom	9th January „

3 The Cess Act IX (B C) of 1880 was in full force in the three cess districts of this division—Hazaribagh, Lohardugga and Manbhoom. In Singbhoom a sum of Rs 10 000 was assigned by Government as grant in aid—vide their letter No 404 F F of 6th June 1883. No contribution from the Dalbhoom estate was credited to the District Road Fund, as was the case in the year before last, as the estate passed out of the management of the Court of Wards during the year under report.

4 From the commencement of the current cess year the Cess Act has been introduced in pergunnah Dalbhoom only in the district of Singbhoom, and the valuation of the pergunnah is in progress.

5 In Hazaribagh, Lohardugga and Manbhoom the road cess was levied at maximum rates.

6 The subjoined statement shows the number of members constituting the Road Cess Committees in each district and their attendance at the meetings of the Committees during the year under report.

DISTRICT	Number of members of managing Committee		Number required to form a quorum	Number of meetings held	Number of members who attended	Average attendance of meetings	Number of members who attended only once	NUMBER OF MEMBERS WHO ATTENDED ONLY—												Total
	Official	Non-official						One	Two	Three	Four	Five	Six	Seven	Eight	Nine	Ten	Eleven
Hazaribagh	7	17	6	5	7	9	4	1	3	2	1	2	2	1	3	1	3	20 16
Lohardugga	6	6	4	11	4	2	1	2	1	5	1	2	3	3	1	3	1	3	30 10

Manbhoom	6	1	6	13	7		1	1	1	4									38 8
Singbhoom	3	13	5	1	12	3	3	9											80

7 In Hazaribagh there were five meetings of the Committee all of which were presided over by the Chairman and in all a full quorum was obtained and the attendance of the members was fair. The other particulars regarding the meetings are shown in the above statement. There is only one Branch Committee at Giridih, the sub divisional head quarters in which six meetings were held during the year under report, and the attendance of the members is reported to have been satisfactory.

8 In the Lohardugga district there were eleven meetings of the District Road Committee, of which nine were special and two ordinary. One special meeting was adjourned for want of a quorum. The average attendance was four against six of the previous year. The attendance of the official and non official members of the Committee was very unsatisfactory, for out of six official and six non official, three official and two non official members did not attend six consecutive meetings, and their names were consequently struck off the list under section 115 of Act IX (B C) of 1880. As the time came for reconstituting the Road Cess Committee, new members have been appointed under Bengal Government order No. 98, dated 30th November 1883. All who attended showed great interest in the proceedings. Regarding Palamow Branch Road Committee, the Assistant Commissioner has said nothing.

9 In Manbhoom a meeting was convened regularly every month, and there was no meeting without a quorum. The average attendance in this district was seven. There is no Branch Road Committee in the Govindpore sub division. The Sub Divisional Officer was in charge of the roads in his sub-division during the year under report.

10 In the Singbhoom district there was only one meeting held during the year under review. It was attended by three official and nine non official members.

DISTRICTS	DEMAND		COLLECTION		Total demands	Total collected	Percentage of collection on current demand
	Arrear	Current	Arrear	Current
	Rs	Rs	Rs	Rs	Rs	Rs
Hazaribagh	1 436	41 110	1 193	42 919	45 006	44 37	97 3
Lohardugga	908	46 014	908	44 808	46 952	47 716	97 2
Total	2 591	1 16 728	2 569	1 11 510	1 13 311	1 11 095	98 6

12 The total current and arrear collections of the past year amounted to 98 6 per cent of the current demand against 105 per cent in the previous year. The falling off is mainly attributable to the exclusion from the past year figures of all sums collected as advances for future years and interests on arrears. In Hazaribagh and Lohardugga the collections exceeded 95 per cent of the current demand, while in Manbhoom they equalled it very nearly.

13 The following statement shows the percentage of the total cost of all establishments including contingencies on the total of the actual receipts of the District Road Funds in the cess districts of this division —

DISTRICTS	ACTUAL RECEIPTS OF THE YEAR				Total cost of establishments	Percentage of cost on total receipts
	Current	Contingencies	Miscellaneous	Total
	Rs	Rs	Rs	Rs	Rs
Hazaribagh	42 567	1 842	5 415	49 824	10 343	20 74
Lohardugga	45 114	13	6 566	52 313	13 628	26 05
Manbhoom	21 918	1 488	3 682	30 088	7 511	24 31

14 The percentage of the cost of establishment on the total demand was highest in Lohardugga being above the maximum of 25 which was exceeded owing to the employment of an extra establishment for the revaluation of the district. In Manbhoom it very nearly approached the maximum rate while it was the lowest in Hazaribagh falling below the maximum by nearly 4 25.

15 The following statement shows the total funds at the disposal of the several Road Committees including balances of previous year, together with the percentage of the cost of different establishments —

DISTRICTS	Total income of the year	Total cost of establishment	Percentage of cost on income	Total available	Cost of establishment	Percentage of cost on available	Total income	Cost of establishment	Percentage of cost on total income
	Rs	Rs		Rs	Rs		Rs	Rs
Hazaribagh	51 022	10 343	20 2	44 415	1 896	4 2	31 511	7 042	20 3
Lohardugga	54 209	13 628	21 2	45 753	6 940	15 1	32 616	5 611	17 9
Manbhoom	45 018	7 511	14 4	28 521	1 991	4 8	28 403	4 17	14 5
Singbhoom	17 764	1 919	10 8				7 032	39 0	21 8

16 It will be seen from the above statement that in the districts of Lohardugga and Singbhoom the amount spent on works is proportionately less than in the other two districts during the year under report. In Hazaribagh and Manbhoom the proportion of the expenditure on works to the total available income was above 50 per cent of the latter, while in Lohardugga and Singbhoom the proportion was only about 50 and 39 per cent respectively. The comparatively high percentage of cost of establishment in the office of collection in Lohardugga was due to the cost of revaluation establishment, while in Hazaribagh and Manbhoom this percentage was nearly equal. The ratio of the cost of the working establishment to the outlay on works was highest in the non cess district Singbhoom and lowest in Manbhoom. In Hazaribagh the ratio was comparatively higher than in the other two cess districts owing chiefly to the entertainment of extra Sub Overseers during the year under report.

17 Original Works—In Hazaribagh the construction of culverts on the Hazaribagh and Chatra road and the Girin and Kharakdiha road was taken up in the year 1881-82, but no satisfactory progress was then made in the work during the year under review. All the culverts on the Girin and Kharakdiha road were completed and about three fourths of the sanctioned number of culverts on the Hazaribagh and Chatra road were constructed.

One inspection bungalow at Manjhidi on the Gola and Govindpore road was built during the year. A pucca well 45 feet deep has also been constructed at Ramghur. The provision in the budget estimate under this head was Rs 12 919, exclusive of Rs 4 000 provided for village roads. Of the former, Rs 10 869 have been spent on the above mentioned works.

18 In Lohardugga one permanent masonry bridge of one span of 30 feet was commenced and built up to springing level, and four brick masonry culverts were commenced and completed. A portion of the Hinu diversion line has been finished with earthwork turving and temporary bridges. In the budget estimate the sum of Rs 11 100 has been provided for under this head out of which only Rs 4 037 1 4 have been spent on the roads named in the margin.* In addition to the above some expenditure was incurred in making surveys on the Kuru and Latyhar. Latyhar and Daltongunge Ranchi and Larai and Gurwah and Majhigowan roads. A sum of Rs 4,554 has been transferred from this head to that of repairs.

19 In Manbhoom the construction of one culvert of 6 feet span in the Roghunathpore and Raneegunge road and a small culvert on the Roghunathpore and Hazaribagh road was taken up in hand. The only works completed under this head consisted of two wells in the compound of the Nodiarah and Tholincart serais. The amount budgeted for these works was Rs 2,200 of which only Rs 1 734 were spent during the year of report.

20 In the district of Singhbhum altogether 22 small culverts were built on the Midnapore Bangoon and Burrakur roads respectively. The amount provided for in the budget estimate under this head was Rs 2,834, of which nearly the whole was spent during the year under review.

21 Repairs.—In Hazaribagh the existing metalled and fair weather roads have been repaired and maintained in proper order and the Deputy Commissioner reports that they are passable for carts. Under this head there was in the sanctioned budget estimate a provision for expenditure during the year of Rs 26 986, of which Rs 23 643 or about 87.5 per cent was expended during the period under report.

22 In Lohardugga 400 miles of roads have been thoroughly repaired. The work consisted of filling cutting levelling dressing sloping banks of streams turving slopes cutting side drains and repairing and renewing temporary bridges from 3 to 25 feet spans and fencing over 50 miles of roads. A sum of Rs 25,104 was first allotted under this head in the budget for 1882-83 but a sum of Rs 4 554 was subsequently transferred from original works to this head as stated in paragraph 18 of this report. By adding thereto the unexpended budget balance of previous years paid during 1882-83, a total of Rs 31,999 7 is obtained out of which Rs 28 540 odd annas was spent during the year under review and the balance of Rs 3,458 9 will be paid during 1883-84 in addition to the sums provided in the current year's budget. The Deputy Commissioner says it is a matter of regret that nothing definite is yet known as to what line the Cuttack Benares Railway or the Gya extension will take as until this is known the Committee is uncertain what roads will ultimately become the most important.

23 In Manbhoom the works were chiefly restricted to the maintenance of all the finished roads in the district. Portions of the Purulia Chyebassa and Purulia Bankoora roads were greatly improved by travelling in muddy places and turving side slopes of the roads. The road from Roghunathpore towards Raneegunge was also improved it being realigned and made of full breadth in several old portions, chiefly between Saltora and the boundary of the district. Certain old famine roads were also taken up and generally repaired to make them fit for traffic. A sum of Rs 26 025 was provided for in the budget estimate, out of which Rs 23,532 was spent on the above work during the year under report.

24 In Singhbhum substantial repairs have been executed to a total length of 36 out of 71 miles of the Midnapore road and surface repairs to the remainder. The Burrakur road has been repaired according to requirements along its entire length, and some realigned portion standing over since last year has been completed. The Deputy Commissioner reports that the approaches to the new culverts in this portion of the road remains incomplete for want of funds. Thorough repairs have also been done to portions of the roads noted in the margin and petty repairs to the remainder. Seven wooden culverts on roads Nos 2 and 3 have also been repaired. The staging bungalow at Band gaon on road No 1 has likewise been thoroughly repaired.

1 Chyebassa and Ranehi road.
2 Gorjan road.
3 Jointghur road.

25 The following statement shows the amount estimated and spent on village roads.—

	Estimated amount for expenditure on village roads.	Actual expenditure on village roads.	Total amount spent on all works.
	Rs	Rs	Rs
Hazaribagh	11 500	9,858	34,511
Lohardugga	4,500	3,988	32 618
Manbhoom	4 000	2 497	28,408
Singhbhum	637	837	7,082

26 Of the total expenditure in Hazaribagh, Rs 3 864 were spent in the head quarters and Rs 5 994 in the Giridih sub-division in both original and repair works. The village roads in the former are reported to be fit for wheeled traffic. In the latter their condition has been improved.

27 In the Lohardugga district the greater portion of the amount expended under this head was used for making hill roads passable. About eight village roads were maintained and two newly opened.

28 The greater portion of the total expenditure in Manbhoom under this head was incurred in the sudder sub-division in the maintenance of 56 miles of village roads. In the Govindpore sub-division the road to Toondi, an important line was taken up for repairs and some worse parts were made passable by sloping approaches to ravines and construction of cheap stone culverts. Two new village roads were also started—one from Govindpore to Nagarkerri, and the other from Rajgunge on the Grand Trunk road towards Nowa-hur via Katras. The Deputy Commissioner states that the latter will eventually prove a very important one when it is extended to Telmoochi on the Damooda so as to join with the old Ranchi road and the road towards Purulia via Chass.

29 In Singbhoom 29 miles of village roads in three different lines were thoroughly repaired and 13 culverts thereon repaired. Petty repairs according to requirements were also done to eight other roads including repairs to wooden culverts and construction of two kutcha rubble stone masonry.

30 Plantation—No new trees were planted along roadsides during the year in the district of Hazaribagh as the Committee had not money to spare for the purpose. Fourteen thousand one hundred and forty seven trees previously planted along the roads have been maintained.

31 In Lohardugga the work of tree planting has been extended over six miles of roads. The total length planted over up to the end of the year is 65 miles. The trees planted in previous years are thriving.

32 In the district of Manbhoom nursery plantations have been made in the compound of police road posts and trees planted along the sides of some of the roads and a young tree nursery has been started at Purulia. A great deal however, still remains to be done and as trees take time to grow no great results will in any case be visible for some years to come.

33 In Singbhoom 2 244 mango and jack fruit seedlings were planted and enclosed during the past year on the Burrakur Midnapore Bandgaon and Jyntgurrh roads.

34 The establishments entertained in the several districts are reported to have worked well during the past year.

35 The accounts of the District Road Committee of Lohardugga was last inspected by the Examiner of Public Works Accounts on the 15th January 1884. Those of the Hazaribagh and Manbhoom Committees by the Examiner of Local Accounts in September and October 1883 respectively. And those of the Singbhoom District Road Fund by the last mentioned officer, in the beginning of January 1884.

No 172 of 7th January 1884 from Manager, Tirhoot State Railway

No 46 F of 15th January 1884, from Manager Northern Bengal State Railway

No 165 L of 10th January 1884, from Manager Calcutta and South Eastern and Nalhati State Railways

OBSERVATIONS—In Resolution No 1023 R E of the 28th February 1883, noted above, it was stated —“The progress made in the employment of native drivers and shunters is considered on the whole satisfactory. The real difficulty still is to obtain men with the necessary qualifications, and to overcome the aversion the men have to attend the night schools provided for them.”

* * * They should, however, be employed to the fullest extent on goods trains, and the Lieutenant Governor trusts that the officers in charge of lines will not relax their efforts to see that this order is carried into effect.”

2 The reports for the year 1883 show that the following progress has been made in the employment of native drivers and shunters on the railways under the orders of this Government —

NORTHERN BENGAL STATE RAILWAY—The Locomotive Superintendent reports as follows

There are now two teachers attached to the school—one to teach Bengali and the other Hindi

The numbers of pupils on the rolls are 25, of whom five learn Bengali and twenty Hindi the average daily attendance is 12

The comparative statement showing the number of native drivers employed in the various grades during the year 1882-83, and the salaries drawn in each grade, is as under —

Grade Rs	No of men	Salary Rs		Grade Rs	No of men	Salary Rs
20 to 40	1	38	7 Drivers, 1 Shunter and 1 Assistant shunter	20 to 40	1	38	10 Drivers, 7 Shunters and 1 Assistant shunter.

	1	16			1	18
	1	14			3	16

Of the 12 drivers, one was transferred from this railway to the Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway line in May last, two are employed in the Kaunia and Dharila Railway line, and two in running trains in the Ruugpur Branch, and seven in the main line, working goods trains

The seven shunters are employed as yard shunters at Saidpur, Sara, and Siliguri

The assistant shunter is employed at this station

All these men, except one, are working in a satisfactory manner. They are regular in attendance

The two drivers of the Kaunia and Dharila Railway line have been awarded a reward of Rs 5 each at the end of last half year for keeping their engines clean and in good order

TIRHOOT STATE RAILWAY—The Assistant Locomotive Superintendent states as follows in his letter No 632D, dated 30th December 1883, to the Manager—

The number of men employed for the years 1881, 1882, and 1883 compare as follows—

	Grade	1881	1882	1883
Drivers	Rs 15 to 40 {		2	5
Shunters		3	2	5*
Assistant shunters			1	2
		3	5	12

From these figures you will see that the number of available enginemen and shunters has been doubled in the last year. You will also note that we have now eight men capable of working trains, and two others who should be fit to go out on the line in another six or eight months time.

No alteration in the mode of supplying men has been made during the year. The old rule of promoting cleaners to firemen, firemen to shunters, and shunters to drivers having been pursued, each man undergoing a careful examination before he is promoted to shunter, and again when he is promoted to driver. At the present time there are some five men having worked their way up to posts of first firemen and shunters, who are fit to be promoted to shunters whenever they may be required, two of whom are now actually employed in shunting in the Somastipur yard during the present increase in the number of working trains.

As regards the progress made to teach the men to read and write, a night school has been started here since March last, and a school master purposely employed to conduct the same. The attendance has been satisfactory on the whole.

During the year eight failures have occurred to engines under the charge of native drivers. Since the 1st of this month no Europeans have been employed on goods, local or material trains, the work having been entirely and satisfactorily performed by natives. An up and down local, an up and down goods, two ballast, and one material train having been regularly running.

It is therefore clear that our present staff of native enginemen is sufficient for our requirements until the line opens out or the traffic increases, and I consider that they have performed the work allotted to them for the year in question in a satisfactory manner.

CALCUTTA AND SOUTH EASTERN AND NALHATI STATE RAILWAYS—The Locomotive Superintendent reports—

Arrangements have been made to establish a night school on the Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway similar to that established at Saidpur, with a view to give a rudimentary education in Bengali and Hindi to these men, as well as to the workshop apprentices.

The comparative statement showing the number of native drivers employed in various grades on the Calcutta and South Eastern and Nalhati State Railways during the year 1882-83, and the salaries drawn in each grade is as under—

Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway

	Number of men	Salary Rs		Number of men	Salary Rs
20 to 40	3	30	20 to 40	1	34	7 Drivers 4 Shunters, and 1 Assistant shunter
	1	20		2	30
				4	15
				1	12

The seven drivers are employed in running trains.

Of the four shunters, one died in June last, and the three are employed as yard shunters at Calcutta and Diamond Harbour.

The assistant shunter is employed at Calcutta.

	Number of men	Salary Rs		Number of men	Salary Rs
20 to 40	2	30	20 to 40	2	30
	1	16		1	15

All these men have given little trouble. They are regular in attendance and careful in the performance of their duties.

* Three of these men are actually working trains at present time.

Three drivers of the Nalhati line, and two of the Calcutta and South Eastern State Railway line, can read and write

RESOLUTION—The large increase in the number of native drivers and shunters employed during 1883, as compared with the number during 1882, and the favourable reports with reference to the attendance of the men, and the satisfactory performance of the duties entrusted to them, are a sufficient proof that the training of natives for employment on locomotive engines has now passed beyond the experimental stage, and that the difficulties at first experienced in carrying out the measure have been fairly overcome

It is noted, however, that the men are as yet employed only on goods, local, or material trains and though, with the class of men now obtained, this limitation may be advisable for the present, and for some time to come, the Lieutenant Governor trusts that every endeavour will be made to obtain the services of a class of men of somewhat superior intelligence, who, with the necessary experience, might reasonably be expected to become competent for the working of fast mail trains. With that object in view, the night schools now provided (the attendance at which is still somewhat unsatisfactory) should be made as efficient as possible by granting prizes for regular attendance, and by regulating the pay of the men on promotion according to the result of their examinations

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department, for information, also to the Managers of the Northern Bengal, Inchoot, and the Calcutta and South Eastern and Nalhati State Railways for information and guidance

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette for general information period for the past one year. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered, the whole being denoted by 10. Under the head "district" are the names of the districts in which the stations are situated. The means for the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received from all the stations in the district for the period in question during the past 15 years. SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS

TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING 16TH MAY 1884

The chief feature in the meteorology of the past week has been the commencement of the south west monsoon in Ceylon and over the south of the Bay. This has affected the meteorology of Bengal by diminishing slightly the strength of the southerly winds crossing the Bengal coast from the head of the Bay. This was probably due to slight indraught from the north to the front of the advancing south west monsoon current where heavy rain usually falls. The effect of this decrease in the southerly winds has been marked. There has been much less atmospheric disturbance and consequently diminished rainfall. The rainfall has also been local in character and confined almost entirely to Bengal, and more especially North and East Bengal.

Atmospheric Pressure—The movement of the barometric column during the week has been somewhat irregular. Pressure increased slightly on the 10th and 11th and then fell slowly until the 14th and 15th and was again rising on the 16th. Pressure was generally below the normal, the deficiency averaging 0.2 in Orissa, South West Bengal and East Bengal 0.3 in Behar and 0.4 in Chutia Nagpur. Pressure continues relatively low in Chutia Nagpur as represented by Hazaribagh.

Temperature—The mean temperature of the week was below the average at all the reporting stations. The amount of the deficiency was as usual largest in those districts where the rainfall was heaviest viz East and North Bengal and the central and eastern districts of South West Bengal. The deficiency in this area varied from 6° at Berhampore and 5° at Jessore to 3° at Chittagong and 2° at Dacca. The deficiency was least in Behar, where it averaged 1°. Moderately high maximum temperatures were recorded at the central and southern stations in Behar during the week. Amongst the highest were the following—

Cyva	111.2	Chyebassa	106.1°
Dchree	110.5	Buxir	105.9°
Arrah	108.1°	Chuprah	105.0°

Winds—The same lower air currents generally prevailed over the Province as during the preceding week. South westerly to southerly winds blew across the Bengal coast and were continued as south easterly and easterly winds up the Gangetic plain beyond Behar.

Humidity—The air was as during the previous week generally more humid than usual, but to a less extent. The decrease was most marked in Behar.

Rainfall—Less rain was received than during the previous week. General rain fell during the 24 hours preceding 6 P.M. of the 10th in the western districts of South West Bengal, the central and northern districts of East Bengal and in North Bengal. The heaviest falls were—

	Inches
Sherpur in the Bogra district	3.60
Nattoic in the Rajshahye ditto	3.50
Serajgunj in the Dubua ditto	3.13

Local showers occurred during the next 24 hours chiefly in East Bengal. The Mymensingh district received several very heavy showers amongst which were—

	Inches
Mymensingh	4.08
Netrokona	3.70

On the following two days fairly general rain occurred in Orissa and in South East Bengal. Some very heavy showers were received in the south eastern districts of East Bengal. The largest amounts exceeding three inches registered on these two days were—

	Inches
Fenny, on the 12th	3.80
Comilla on the 12th	3.63
Dacca on the 12th	3.21
Patuakhilly on the 13th	3.40
Burrisal on the 13th	3.17

During the remaining three days of the week light local showers occurred, chiefly in North and East Bengal, excepting in Rungpore, Cooch Behar, and Julpigoree where heavy rain fell.

The largest amounts recorded during this period were—

	Inches
Cooch Behar, on the 15th	5.08
Matabhanga, on the 15th	3.30

The rainfall of the week was hence below the average over the greater part of the Province, including Behar (except the Sonthal Pergunnahs) Chutia Nagpur (except the Hazaribagh district) and South West Bengal, excluding the Moorshedabad and Jessore districts. It was generally above the average in East and North Bengal, more especially in the Burdwan and Mymensingh districts of the former, and in the Rajshahye, Rungpore, Julpigoree, and Cooch Behar districts of the latter.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday the 16th May 1884 —

The mean pressure, temperature, &c are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h 10h 16h and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmann's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables II, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ENQUIRE AND CONSIDER WHAT MEASURES SHOULD BE ADOPTED FOR PLACING THE ENTIRE SYSTEM OF THE VILLAGE WATCH IN BENGAL ON A MORE SATISFACTORY FOOTING

POLICE

Dated Darjeeling, the 21st May 1884

READ—

The Report dated the 27th April 1883 of the Committee appointed to enquire and consider what measures should be adopted for placing the entire system of the village watch in Bengal on a more satisfactory footing

Read also—

A separate Note without date, by E V Westmacott, Esq, one of the Members of the Committee.

In acknowledging the receipt of the Annual Report on the Administration of the Police Department for 1881, and the Resolution of this Government recorded thereon, the Government of India, in their letter No 402, dated the 18th September 1882, expressed a hope "that His Honour the Lieutenant Governor will take an early opportunity of considering the whole subject of the village watch in Bengal, and, if necessary, adopt measures for placing it on a more satisfactory footing. The unsatisfactory working of the present arrangements, and the necessity of bringing the force more under control, without depriving it of its local character, appears to be brought out more clearly in each departmental report. It seems possible that the regular payment of the men belonging to the village police through the District Superintendent of Police, might effect the reform needed, and this could probably be effected without unduly interfering with the other functions of the punchayets."

2 In reply to their letter, the Government of India was informed, in the letter from this office, No 1047J—D dated the 18th October 1882, that the Lieutenant Governor proposed to appoint in the coming cold season a Committee to consider and report upon the whole question affecting the village watch in Bengal, and that the results which might be arrived at would in due course be communicated for the information of the Government of India.

3 In the subsequent letter from this office, No 8LT, dated the 10th November 1882, the Government of India was informed that a Committee, consisting of Mr J. Monro, the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, as President, Mr Worsley, the Magistrate of Mozufferpore, and Mr Westmacott the Magistrate of Dacca, as Members, had been appointed for the purpose of the proposed enquiry. It was also stated that, during his recent tour in Eastern Bengal, the Lieutenant Governor had had many opportunities of obtaining information on the working of the present Chowkidaree Act (VI B C of 1870), and that he was of opinion that there was much in its provisions that needed amendment, especially in the view of its being made to supplement the general scheme of Local Self Government, then under consideration. In the letter of this Government, No 3242J, dated the 22nd November last to the address of Mr J. Monro, the President of the Committee, the principal points to which enquiry should be directed were indicated.

4 Previous to this, viz, in May 1882, the Government of India had suggested to this Government certain alterations in, and amendments of, Acts XVI of 1873 (the North Western Provinces Village and Field Police Act) and XVIII of 1876 (the Oudh Laws Act). The proposed alterations were to invest chowkidars with powers to arrest, in certain cases persons suspected of having committed offences, or against whom a hue and cry has been raised to interfere for the prevention of certain offences, and to exercise the powers of police officers under sections 97, 98 and 103 of the old Code of Criminal Procedure. It was also proposed that village and road chowkidars might be employed temporarily beyond the limits of their village and beat. Upon these several points the opinion of the Lieutenant Governor was asked, and the Commissioners of Divisions and the Inspector General of Police were consulted. The opinions of these officers were in due course sent to the Committee for consideration, and are referred to in their present report.

5 The report which was received by this Government on the 27th April 1883 reviews from its inception the whole working of the law since its introduction, and brings out in a clear and concise way the many defects which interfere with its successful application. Practical action upon the recommendations of the Committee has been delayed, because the view which the Lieutenant Governor took upon the matter when the report first came before him was that the solution of many of the difficulties connected with the village police might be found in the introduction of an extended system of Local Self Government, with which the control of the rural constabulary might possibly be amalgamated. At the time however, this Government was not in a position to say what form the Local Self Government Bill would take, and it was not till the end of last cold season that the outcome of the deliberations upon that particular measure could be declared. The Bill for the introduction of Local Self Government has now been submitted with the report of the Select Committee which had been considering the subject, and it has been circulated for an expression of opinion by district and divisional officers. It seems to Mr Rivers Thompson desirable that while that important measure is under the notice of Commissioners of Divisions the question as to the future constitution and position of the village police should also be considered by them, and especially as regards one of its principal features—the supervision and control of the punchayets created by the Act of 1870.

6 At the time when this law was under discussion, the condition of the village chowkidar throughout the country was most deplorable. Though the supposed guardians of the village against criminals, there was only too good reason to conclude, from repeated cases of heinous crime in which they had been convicted, that the chowkidars themselves were hand in glove with the criminal classes, and often the direct organizers and promoters of the worst forms of gang robbery. It is not necessary now to dilate on facts which were notorious throughout the country at the time, and which a reference to the reports of police administration of the day would conclusively establish. Enquiry into the cause of a very dangerous state of things showed, amongst other incidents, that not only was the village chowkidar very inadequately paid for the services he was supposed to render, but that such wage as was due to him was most irregularly received. The position was also complicated by the fact that the chowkidar was in a manner a subordinate of the zemindar of the village in which he was employed and between the incompatible duties of a public officer and a private servant, for which he received no regular payment, he was not unnaturally forced into crime to obtain a means of livelihood. The main object of the law of 1870 was to define and improve the status of the rural police, and as the Committee remark, "the chief evil which the Act was intended to remedy was the habitual denial to village chowkidars of payment of wages." To carry out this object the liability for the payment of the local police was transferred from the zemindars (whose connection with the chowkidars was absolutely dissolved) to the village community, and the system which received legal sanction was that punchayets should be established in every village where a chowkidar was maintained, to whom the Government would look for the assessment of the village residents, for the collection of the rate, and for the direct and regular payment of the chowkidar by monthly salary. As a recognition of the not very great responsibilities imposed upon them, the punchayets were vested with the right of selecting and nominating the chowkidar of their villages, and of generally supervising his duties. Considering the fact that the amount which the punchayet had monthly to realize under this system ranged between Rs 3 and Rs 6 only, and that ample powers were given under the law to recover by distraint from defaulters the rate of monthly assessment, it was hoped that a self acting procedure would in time be established, under which, without any necessity of recourse to magisterial and police interference, a regular system of pay and a better selection of men and a general improvement in the condition of the village police would be secured.

7 The report of the Committee shows the results of 13 years' working of the Act. It establishes—and this quite justifies the enactment of the law—that now the "wages of the chowkidars are paid on the whole with tolerable regularity once a quarter, and that, in the case of only rather more than 8 per cent in Bengal and rather more than 6 per cent in Bihar, are arrears of pay allowed to accumulate for periods of more than three months." To those who remember or had to deal with the condition of things before 1870, when Magistrates had to maintain a continuous pressure upon zemindars for the realization of dues often more than eighteen months unpaid, the present facts undoubtedly indicate a very remarkable change for the better. And when the report goes on to prove that "under the existing law the chowkidar receives more pay than he did under the old regulation, that he has therefore less temptation to be dishonest, and that there seems to be a growing tendency on the part of the present chowkidars to value their appointments and to consider them of some worth," it is evident that it is rather to a reform of the defects of the Act, and not to the abrogation of its principle, that the attention of the Government should be directed. What the defects are is clearly brought out in the Committee's Report. Success has not been attained in the selection and appointment of the punchayets. They have signally failed voluntarily to accomplish the chief object with which they were constituted. It is shown that regularity of payment has been secured rather by extra legal powers exercised by the magistracy than by the good will and interest of punchayets in the discharge of their duties, that the office of punchayet is extremely unpopular for reasons given in clause (c), paragraph 18 of the Report, that the assessment of the chowkidars' rate has been conducted with unfairness in the interest of the higher and without consideration of the lower classes, that the accounts of the punchayets are generally very imperfect and often fictitious, that the full amount of wages due to chowkidars is occasionally withheld by the fraudulent action of punchayets, and that their influence in any improvement of the rural police in reporting crime is at least very doubtful.

8 It is not very surprising to Mr Rivers Thompson to find these results, for it is clear from the Committee's report that very little was done by executive authority, after the passing of the Act, to give it a fair chance of success. The Commissioners record in the 10th paragraph that 'unto the year 1878 the village communities were allowed to work the Act very much in their own way, and special attention does not seem to have been directed to the question of the regularity of payment of chowkidars' salaries.' It was not till 1879 that special measures were taken to investigate the position of things, so that for nine years this special law, involving an entirely novel procedure, and establishing an entirely new system as regards the constitution of the village police throughout the country, was apparently left to drift into irregular channels without any active attempt at guidance from superior authority. It may be quite true that the principle of the measure being to leave the widest freedom of action to village communities, the intervention of magisterial or police authority might not have been approved, but the fact remains that in one of the most important points connected with the inauguration of the Act, viz, as regards the selection of proper persons for the office of punchayet, the requirements of the law had been most perfunctorily discharged. A reference to paragraphs 30 to 32 of the report under review will show the character of the proceedings and establishes beyond question that while the Act recognized the necessity of special care in the selection of the members of a punchayet, and imposed the duty upon the magistracy with special injunctions to carry it out, after personal communication with the residents of a village and after a full explanation of the duties of the office, the practice generally prevalent has been to leave this work altogether in the hands of the regular police. Not only were the provisions of the law neglected, but it seems to the Lieutenant Governor the worst possible agency was employed to give effect to the law. In this connection the Committee say very appropriately "that the selection should to such a large extent have rested with the police we think was a mistake, and we are inclined to believe that a decided improvement in the constitution of the punchayets would result from the question of the appointment of members being taken up and dealt with as originally contemplated in the Act." The excellent success which the Act has had in places where an interest has been shown in its working by sub divisional or police officers, as noticed by the Committee, indicates that some form of control and supervision should receive the legal sanction of the law.

9 The question mainly to be settled is, in whose hands should such direction and control be placed? The majority of the Committee would apparently bring the rural police and its management in direct subordination to the regular thana police. Mr Westmacott dissents from this view, and while recognizing the chowkidar rather as the servant of the villagers than of the Government, would leave things very much as they are as concerns the punchayets, but would give the ultimate appeal for assistance in difficulties to the Magistrate of the district. In any case some separate agency appears desirable for the collection of the rate assessed by the villagers, and probably on the lines which Major Ramsay, the District Superintendent of Police, very successfully introduced in the Patna district. The object is to obtain much more of a self working arrangement, and to avoid the maintenance of extra establishments in the Magistrate's office for the returns and registers and issue of warrants which the present procedure involves. Mr Westmacott seems to be of opinion from many passages in his note that the remedy of the present evils can only be effected by "a stronger staff of magisterial officers in every district." It is out of the question to entertain such a proposal. If village communities under a limited external supervision cannot carry out the objects of the Act, we must abandon the principle of working through them. But it seems to the Lieutenant Governor indisputable that the measure of success attained at Perozapore, in the district of Backergunge, through the intelligence and exertions of Baboo Shoshi Shikar Dutt, the Sub-divisional Officer, justifies the conclusion that no such extra aid is necessary. There is clear proof that the punchayets cannot stand and act alone, and that some external control is required. The Lieutenant Governor will be glad to receive the suggestions of the Commissioners of Divisions upon this main point, and the papers will now be forwarded to them for this purpose. The Lieutenant Governor's own view inclines to the conclusion that where, under the Local Self Government scheme, union committees are established, the necessary control might be vested in them. Where there are no union committees, the Local Boards under the presidency of the Sub divisional Officer would provide the necessary agency. The general opinion prevails that the quarterly payment of the chowkidar is all that the circumstances of his position call for. If a collecting officer is added to the scheme, to be paid out of the rates, and a power of supervision and interference is vested by law in some local body, there is reason to hope that a self acting plan will have been provided, which will relieve district and police officers of the demands upon their time which now prevail, and which will place the regulation and payment of the police on a sound footing. As fresh legislation would be necessary to give effect to any such scheme, the consideration of many questions of detail can stand over till such legislation is taken in hand.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, and of the report of the Committee, and of Mr Westmacott's Note, be forwarded to the Commissioners of Divisions, with the request that they will favour the Lieutenant Governor with their suggestions on the questions referred to in paragraphs 7, 8, and 9 of the Resolution, as well as with their opinion on any other points upon which they may desire to express their views.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

F B PEACOCK,

JAILS

READ—

Letter No 2859 dated the 4th April 1884, from the Inspector General of Jails forwarding the Reports of the Committee and the Superintendent of the Reformatory School at Alipore for the year 1883.

Read also—

The Reports for 1882, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

The number of boys at the Reformatory School at the commencement of the year 1883 was 79. During the year 30 boys were admitted, viz 11 from the Calcutta and Alipore Police Courts, one from the High Court, and 18 from different districts, making a total of 109. Of this total, 21 were released on expiry of sentence, one on appeal, one by order of Government, four on reaching the age of 18 years, two died, and one effected his escape. The number of boys remaining in the School on the 31st December 1883 was thus 79, the same number as at the commencement of the year. Of these, 43 were Hindus and 36 Mussulmans. There is accommodation in the School for 100 inmates.

2 The discipline and general behaviour of the boys has continued to be satisfactory. The average number of punishments fell from 47 in 1882 to 34, the lowest average that has yet been reached. The offences committed were not, it is stated, of a serious nature, and were chiefly of a kind that might be expected from boys. The average number of boys entitled to marks, and the average earnings per week, show a slight decrease as compared with the preceding year. This is explained to be due to the number of recent admissions of boys, who do not earn much during the first year of their stay. Notwithstanding this, the earnings of the boys amounted to Rs 83 11 6 or exactly one rupee more than in 1882, Rs 59 12 being also earned by 23 boys for extra work. Under the rules the boys are allowed to spend one half of the gratuities earned under the mark system on fruits, sweetmeats, and other luxuries not falling within the list of forbidden articles, the other half being retained until discharge Rupees 133 14 3 were paid to the boys released in 1883

3 The year was a remarkably healthy one, the admissions into hospital having fallen from an average of 2 90 in 1882 to 1 26 There were two deaths from fever with enlargement of the spleen—a disease which has all along been the one from which the boys have most suffered

4 The efficiency of the training and discipline in the School is best tested by the conduct of the boys after release It is therefore very satisfactory to find that of 58 Magistrates' reports regarding released boys no less than 52 were to the effect that the boys were doing well and bearing a good character

5 The cost of maintenance rose from Rs 132 3 6 in 1882 to Rs 163 12 1 per head The cause of this increase was the small average number of boys in 1883 compared with the preceding year the cost of establishment remaining the same On the opening of the Reformatory School at Hazareebagh in September 1882, 25 boys were, as mentioned in the Resolution on the Reports for 1882, transferred from the Alipore School, and the number at the latter did not increase during the year following The expenditure, however, on the whole fell from Rs 12,563 3 3 to Rs 12,282 14 3 There was a decrease of Rs 596 in cost of diet, owing chiefly to the diminution in numbers of the boys, and a decrease of Rs 53 8 3 in hospital expenses There was an increase, for various causes, in the cost of constructions and repairs of Rs 244 8 3, and in that of clothing an increase of Rs 153 15

6 The cost of the educational establishment was Rs 1,140 Under the rules the subjects to be taught are reading, writing, and arithmetic in Urdu and Bengali, with an advanced class in which the above subjects are to be taught in English, and instruction may be given in the rudiments of geometrical drawing The educational staff is stated to have worked well The report does not show, however, what progress was made by the boys and how many of them were in the advanced class This subject should be noticed in future reports

7 The salaries of trade instructors amounted to Rs 570 15 6 The trades taught were, as in the preceding year, those of a blacksmith, book binder, gardener, carpenter, cane worker and tinsmith The net profit of manufactures, notwithstanding the release of a large number of the older trained boys, has continued to rise, amounting in 1883 to Rs 10,896 8 5 In 1882, with a considerably larger number of boys working, the net profits were Rs 10,224 6 1 Considering the character of the boys dealt with, and the necessity of releasing those who have been trained just at the time when their labour becomes most productive, the result is creditable to the Superintendent, Mr Kirschner

THE REVISED BENGAL TENANCY BILL

Circular No 3T—R dated Darjeeling the 24th May 1884

From—A P MACDONNELL Esq Offg Secy to the Govt of Bengal, Reve Dept,
To—All Commissioners of Divisions

YOUR attention has already been invited to the Tenancy Bill as revised by the Select Committee of the Legislative Council of the Governor General, to the report of the Select Committee upon the Bill, with the dissents from that Report which were published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of April and subsequent dates, and to the important letter of the Government of India, No 784, dated 5th May, which appeared in the Gazette of India of the 10th instant. The Lieutenant Governor again requests your most careful attention to these documents, especially to the letter of the 5th May, in which His Excellency the Governor General in Council subjects several provisions of the Bill to examination, pointing out, in regard to some, the necessity that exists for a further discussion of their tendency and usefulness, and in regard to others the desirability of collecting more complete information. All those points, as well as other matters to be brought to your notice in the course of this letter, should now, without any loss of time, receive careful consideration from yourself, from the District Officers subordinate to you, and from such public bodies and individuals interested in the measure as may be willing and able to give assistance and advice. It will be found that on a few points local enquiries will be necessary in order to clear away the remnants of those difficulties which, at the outset, beset this question of the amendment of the Rent Law in Bengal. Those points have been generally indicated by the Government of India in their letter, and in the sequel I am to touch upon them also. Before doing so, however, I am to say, with reference to procedure, that when the matters on which further enquiry is needed shall have been duly investigated, and when your District Officers, having taken such advice as may be necessary or may be tendered by persons interested in the measure, shall have formed their conclusions on the matters referred for their opinion, then it is the Lieutenant Governor's wish that you should hold a conference of all your Collectors and such other officers as you may desire to consult, that you should thoroughly discuss the matters referred to you in personal communication with them, and draw up a report embodying the general opinion of the conference. From this intercommunication of ideas, the Lieutenant Governor anticipates not only much benefit as far as the consideration of the question itself is concerned, but also a great lightening of the work of Government in reviewing the reports to be submitted. Many views, to which officers reporting separately on the Bill might be inclined to attach undue importance, assume their proper position when examined in the light of the larger experience which many men can bring to bear upon the opinions of one. If, indeed, there be marked differences of opinion, the dissentient officers should note briefly their views, but there should be no unnecessary delay in this respect for it is expected that your report should reach this office certainly not later than the 14th August. The time allowed by the Government of India for this further discussion of the Tenancy Bill is not long, and therefore should be turned to the best account.

2 The procedure which the Lieutenant Governor has now indicated seems to him to hold out most promise of successful results, and therefore he desires that it may be followed. In any case where a Collector of a district is unable for any reason to attend the conference, he should submit a report, which should be embodied in the General Report of the Conference, as far as the views expressed in it will permit. Mr Rivers Thompson does not lose sight of the fact that this call comes upon District Officers at a very inconvenient time of the year, when they are busy preparing their Annual Reports. The call, which the Lieutenant Governor trusts may be the last he will have to make in connection with the Tenancy Bill, must, however, be met, and in order to enable you to meet it, he, as a special exception, postpones the date of the submission of the Annual Reports for one month, if such an extension be necessary in consequence of the orders now issued. It is presumed that in the case of your Collectors, whose reports are due by 1st

June, no extension will be needed, but, where needed, you may grant it. Having thus sketched out the plan of enquiry and consultation which seems to the Lieutenant Governor to offer the greatest promise of satisfactory results within the time at the disposal of the Government, I am now to direct your attention to the principal points which are to form the subject of enquiry and report. In doing this, it will be convenient to follow the order of the revised Bill, reserving for subsequent comment those large administrative questions which the Government of India raise in the initial paragraphs of their letter under notice.

3 Chapter I—On this chapter the Government of India, following the Report of the Select Committee, make no remarks. No points occur to the Lieutenant Governor to which your attention need be drawn. Should, however, any considerations or importance which have not been provided for, occur to you in connection with this chapter, you are at liberty to bring them to notice.

4 Chapter II—The provisions of this chapter exercise a very important influence on the character of the Bill, and therefore demand your special attention. It is highly desirable that a forecast should, as far as possible, be made of their probable effect by ascertaining how far similar arrangements already exist in the agrarian economy of the various districts, what the general effect of such arrangements has been, and, where no such arrangements exist, what the effect of introducing them would probably be. The chief points to which your attention should be directed are (a) whether the definition of ryot in section 5 (3) covers all classes of ryots, those holding under unregistered lakhmijdars as well as under the holders of revenue paying lands, (b) whether the presumption in section 5 (5) is, with reference to existing practice, a fair presumption, and, if not fair, what presumption of the sort would be fair, (c) whether the conversion of the subletting occupancy ryot into a tenure holder (section 37) is a workable provision, and also likely to secure the objects for which it was devised. In regard to the first and second points, the Lieutenant Governor deems it unnecessary to do more here than to bring them prominently to your notice, but in regard to the third point (c), which may, with advantage, be once for all discussed in this connection, a few further remarks are desirable, because the exclusion of this provision would naturally exercise an important influence on some other provisions contained in the Bill. In proposing in my letter No 972 of 27th September (paragraph 7) that an occupancy ryot who sublets half his holding should be converted into a tenure holder, the Lieutenant Governor had in view the twofold object of discouraging the purchase of occupancy holdings by money lenders or speculators, and, where transfers were made, of affording a protection from undue enhancement of rents to, and of facilitating the acquisition of the occupancy right by, actual cultivators of the soil. It is recognized that the formal recognition by the Bill of the transferability of occupancy rights may tend to the purchase of such rights by money lenders (whom it is not the wish or object of the Government to benefit at the ryot's expense), and consequently to the rack renting of the cultivators holding under such purchasers. From the earliest discussions of the question it has been accepted that if by any definition or legal provision the limitation of the occupancy right to actual cultivators could be secured, most, if not all, of the objections to the proposal would be removed. But the difficulties in the way of providing any efficient or practical limitation of the sort have hitherto proved insuperable, and it is therefore acknowledged that if the right of free sale as regards the occupancy tenure is to be maintained, some safeguard must be found against the dangers referred to. Accordingly the plan embodied in section 37 of the revised Bill was devised. The object of that plan was to deter money lenders from purchasing occupancy rights by exposing them to being summarily dealt with for arrears of their own rents, while curtailing their power to deal summarily with their under ryots. These objects it was proposed to secure by, on the one hand, enabling the superior landlord, in certain cases, to subject the purchaser of the occupancy right (who had sublet half the holding, and thereby rid himself of the responsibility of cultivation) to the summary procedure of the putni sale law, or to some modification of it, and, on the other hand, by raising the actual cultivator or sub lessee from the position of a khorsu to that of a non occupancy ryot, capable in course of time of acquiring the occupancy right. It was not overlooked that this plan, even if completely successful in practice, would not be a perfect preventive against the evils at which it was aimed but it was believed that it would have a wholesome effect by bringing from above and from below influences to bear upon the speculative purchaser which would depreciate the value of the occupancy holding in his eyes, and thus deter him from seeking such investment for his money. Furthermore (and this is a very important consideration), the Lieutenant Governor had looked to the acceptance (by the Select Committee) of the principle of equality between occupancy and non occupancy rates of rent, and to the adequate enforcement of that principle as a means of preventing the purchaser of an occupancy right, when converted into a tenure holder from recovering a higher rate of rent from his under tenants than he himself paid. The principle however, of equality between the maximum occupancy and non occupancy rates finds no place in the revised Bill, and this omission is an important factor as affecting the sufficiency of section 37 for the object it was intended to meet as described above. If on reviewing this subject of the transferability of occupancy rights (and it is essential that you should reconsider it with reference to the question of the "convertible tenure" holder) you are of opinion that the danger of such rights falling largely into the hands of money lenders is a serious danger then you are expected to say whether the remedy embodied in section 37 of the Bill is adequate to meet it, or whether the difficulties suggested by the Select Committee in the 5th chapter of their report, and by the Government of India at the end of their 6th paragraph, added to such other objections as may occur to you, raise doubts as to the efficiency of the remedy in question. Should no such doubts suggest themselves to you, you will be good enough to consider and report whether the practical difficulties connected with the ascertainment and registration of sub leases covering in the aggregate half the holding would be of a character likely to affect the success of the scheme.

5 Chapter III—With this chapter should be read the remarks contained in paragraph 6 of the letter from the Government of India, and especially those which refer to the difficulty of deciding what holdings are and what are not tenures. Further, it will be observed that section 8 provides for the enhancement of a tenure holder's rent in certain cases up to double the rent previously payable, while section 10 fixes ten years as the period within which enhancements once obtained cannot be repeated. These provisions differ from the analogous provisions concerning occupancy ryots contained in sections 45 to 50 of the Bill, while this chapter omits precautions of the nature provided by section 41 for cases of private agreement. You are required to take these facts into your consideration, and, with reference to the circumstances of the various districts of your division, to report whether in these respects the Bill may be fairly allowed to stand as it is or whether modifications (and if so of what character and extent) should be introduced with a view to assimilating, in regard to all classes of agricultural holdings, the periods of immunity from enhancement of rent, and to regulating on an uniform basis the maximum extent of such enhancements.

I am also to add that it is the Lieutenant Governor's special wish that you should test the practicability or workable character of the provisions in this chapter by applying them to cases of enhancement of tenure holders' rents, which have already occurred in practice, or might, with reference to the circumstances of the districts in your charge, be reasonably expected to occur. The points (if any) in which the procedure of the chapter appear inapplicable to, or divergent from, what the existing practice is should be carefully noted, weighed and submitted for the information of Government.

6 Chapter IV—Under this chapter the Government of India, in paragraph 7 of their letter, raise the question of the retention, in its present form, of the 20 years' presumption rule embodied in section 64 (2) of the Bill. As the question has been raised by the Government of India, it is necessary that you should again give it your careful consideration. This presumption is perhaps one of the most valuable provisions which the Bill contains in the interests of the ryots. It is a reasonable presumption, inasmuch as, if it be contrary to the facts, it throws on the landlord no greater burden of proof than in ordinary cases he should be easily able to discharge, it has been, as the Government of India point out, in force for a quarter of a century, and in certain districts, Shahabad for instance, it has very materially altered for the better the condition of the ryots who were able to avail themselves of it. The chief objection urged against it is that on transfers of property, particularly at auction sales, it operates with harshness against the purchaser, who is placed at a disadvantage compared with the former owner, in rebutting the presumption. To this, and to other objections (to be found in the published correspondence) which have been urged against the fairness of the presumption, you are now requested again to give your attention. You will be good enough to consider, with reference to the circumstances of your districts, and the frequency or fewness of recent enhancements, whether landlords really experience any practical or reasonable difficulty in rebutting the presumption if unjustly pleaded, and whether, having regard to the wider interests of the agricultural community, it is desirable that the presumption should be retained in its present shape or modified. The arguments which have been urged against the section as it stands will be found in the dissents recorded by the Hon'ble Mr Gibbon, the Maharajah of Durbhunga and Rai Kristodas Pal.

7 Chapter V—In calling your attention to the points raised by the Select Committee in paragraphs 11 and 12 of their Report, I am at the same time to remind you that the definition of the settled ryot is not now open to general discussion. The only questions therefore which arise on this head are—(a) should the capacity of the settled ryot to hold, on an occupancy title, land into possession of which he has been let extend over an entire "estate," or should it cover only a portion of the "estate" when the latter extends over a large tract of country, or into more than one district, and (b) should the "estate" within which such a right may accrue to the settled ryot be of the extent it was 50 years ago, or at any more recent date. On point (a) you will consider whether, with reference to the circumstances of the districts in your charge, any material or practical loss would unavoidably result to zemindars by retaining the definition as it stands, and if you are of opinion that such loss would result then you are requested to state whether that loss would be obviated without injury to the just rights of the ryots by limiting the portion of the 'estates' within which settled ryots taking lands would at once acquire occupancy rights, to the district or even to the subdivision of a district. On point (b) you will take into account the frequency of butwaras in recent years especially in Behar and Eastern Bengal, and the disintegrating influence which such divisions of property would in many cases have on old established rights if the "estate" of to day were to be taken as the envelope of the settled ryots' rights. Another minor point which claims attention is the effect of section 29 (1), and the propriety of retaining such a provision in the Bill, which seems somewhat to conflict with section 28. At the same time cases may occur in which the occupancy ryot buys a share in the estate in which his holding is situated, and you are therefore requested to consider whether to such cases a provision similar to section 29 (2) might be made applicable, so as to prevent the merger of the occupancy right in the holding as it existed previous to the purchase. The effect of such a provision would, in fact, assimilate the occupancy holding to khamar land.

8 Coming now to the incidents of the occupancy right, I am to say that the Lieutenant Governor will be glad again to be favoured with any remarks you may have to make on clauses (b), (f), and (g) of section 31. The other clauses of the section seem open to few, if any, objections, and therefore the Lieutenant Governor will not press you to discuss them if you have nothing special to urge on the subject. Under clause (f) the main question is transferability, on which some remarks have already been made, and, looking to its vast importance, it is expected that you will again discuss it carefully with reference to the facts existing in each district of your division, if comments of a general nature do not suffice to place accurately before Government the information you may have to impart. What the Government particularly desires you to do is to test, in the light of local experience and existing facts, the conclusions which have been provisionally come to on the subject, and to consider what effect on those conclusions may be reasonably expected to result from any modifications in other portions of the Bill (such as the withdrawal, if deemed inefficient or impracticable, of the safeguards against the intrusion of money lenders) which you may, on full deliberation, deem it advisable to make. The possibility of devising a plan whereby transfers of occupancy rights by sale (otherwise than in execution of a decree for arrears of rent) could be restricted to the cultivating classes only should be again considered. Hitherto all attempts in this direction have ended in failure more or less pronounced, much of the difficulty lying in the fact that the mahajun is frequently himself a cultivator. It has indeed been urged by the British Indian Association that it is not desirable to exclude mahajuns of this class from purchasing occupancy rights, and thereby bringing their capital to the promotion of agriculture, and if only some efficient checks could be imposed on the power of such purchasers to rack rent their under tenants, the Lieutenant Governor's apprehensions on the point would be mitigated. There is, however, a large mass of evidence to show that the mahajun, who buys up occupancy rights, is one of the most exacting of landlords. If occupancy rights were to fall largely into the hands of that class while no protection was afforded to their under ryots, the results would be highly undesirable. It may be added that whatever conclusion you adopt on the general question of transferability need not be regarded as in any way affecting the wisdom and desirability of declaring that occupancy holdings shall be saleable for their own arrears of rent under decrees of Court in substitution for the system of ejectment recognized by the existing law.

9 With reference to the enhancement of rent provisions (sections 39 et seq.) it is desirable that your remarks should fall under two heads—(a) the grounds of enhancement, (b) the extent to which enhancements may be had. While calling your attention on the first point (a) to the remarks made on the subject by the Select Committee, and by the Government of India in paragraph 13 of their letter, and while asking you to fully weigh these remarks, I am also to bring the following matter to your special notice. It has been objected to the first ground of enhancement in section 43, namely, the prevailing rate, that while careful enquiry has failed to discover a "prevailing rate" anywhere except in portions of Jessore, the provision in question either has been, or easily admits of being, abused by the production in evidence of collusive or fictitious rates, and thus creating a leverage for forcing up rents. On the other hand, it has been urged that this ground of enhancement is of long standing, and that, although there may not be one uniform rate for any class of land in a village still the rents generally payable for any particular class do approximate more or less to a certain standard round which they may be regarded as oscillating under the influence of special disturbing causes. You should give a close examination to these considerations, and should state whether such abuses as those to which I have referred have reached any magnitude in your districts, and whether the abolition of the prevailing rate as a ground of enhancement would tell unfairly on zemindars. Your conclusions on the point should, if possible, be supported by practical instances of the hardships which now may be found to flow from the existence of the rule, or which would probably ensue from its abolition.

10 Then, as to the extent to which enhancement of rent may be had under the Bill as it stands, the changes proposed are of the most material importance. You will observe that the Bill provides for enhancement by suit in court, and by agreement under a registered contract out of court. In court, enhancements to the extent of 50 per cent on the former rent may be had on the ground of the prevailing rate, to the extent of 25 per cent on the ground of rise in prices or increase in productiveness due to fluvial action, and to an extent which shall not be "unfair or inequitable" on the ground of improvement effected by the landlord. The ground of natural increase in productiveness owing to indefinite causes has been omitted from the Bill, as general experience has shown it to be wholly unworkable in practice. The rent, if enhanced on any of the above grounds by a decree of court, is, by the Bill, made unalterable for 15 years. On the other hand, in case of agreements for enhancement made out of court, if the term be for seven years, not more than two annas in the rupee increase can be taken, while if the term be fixed for 15 years, the rent may be enhanced to the extent of four annas in the rupee, that is to say, to the full amount which can be obtained in court on the ground of rise in prices, which is practically the most important ground of enhancement

On the broad question of enhancement out of court, it will not, of course, escape your observation that enhancements by private contract have frequently been obtained out of court of such a character as to preclude the belief that the ryots either were free agents or knew what they were doing in agreeing to them. On the other hand, it has been stated that the equalization of the limits of enhancement in and out of court tends to discourage litigation, and, as an abstract principle, any arrangement which would bring the parties together to settle such questions between themselves, without the intervention of the courts, would be a great gain. Having due regard to both aspects of the case, an expression of opinion is required whether enhancements should be allowed out of court, in cases of increased prices or fluvial action, to the same extent as in court, where the landlord's claim in all its bearings would be subjected to the closest examination under a judicial enquiry.

Generally, then, the Lieutenant Governor hopes that your attention will be specially directed to the limitations on enhancement and that you will carefully consider whether they are appropriate, or whether a more uniform proportion of increase is not desirable. The absence of a definite limit to enhancement on the ground of landlords' improvements is noteworthy, as is also the absence of any provision for deducting the increased cost of cultivation before an enhancement is decreed on the ground of a rise in price. These are important questions (the latter especially so), and should be examined with careful scrutiny.

11 It only remains to bring prominently to notice one other point on this subject of enhancement of rent, namely, enhancement on reletting [section 42 (1)]. You will observe that the provisions of Chapter VI place no limit on the rent which may be demanded from a non-occupancy ryot on his first admission to the holding, while the check imposed by section 60 (9) on enhancements demandable after admission seem to be of doubtful efficacy, as it might be held that, when the initial rent is fixed above the prevailing rate, the only limit to a future enhancement of it is the 50 per cent prescribed by the section. I am later on to call your attention to the question of non-occupancy rents as a most important portion of the Bill, but in this connection I am to point out to you that, as the Bill now stands, and putting out of sight for the moment the interaction of one class of rents upon the other, the non-occupancy ryot's rent may be raised to a much higher figure than the rent of the occupancy ryot can. This is, as far as the Lieutenant Governor knows, a novel principle which it is now for the first time proposed to introduce into the land law of Bengal, and it is requested that you will very carefully consider it in all its bearings. It will also not escape your notice that by section 42 (1) this higher figure with a still further addition of four annas in the rupee, can be made the initial rent which a settled ryot may be called on to pay for land which he desires to cultivate. It must be remembered that, through the operation of the pre-emption clauses of the Bill (if they are retained), and through the falling in of tenancies owing to ryots' deaths or desertions of their holdings, a very considerable quantity of ryoti land does yearly fall into the hands of landlords, who under the provisions of this Bill, may deal with it in the first instance under Chapter VI, and let it to non-occupancy ryots at rates above the prevailing occupancy rate. These lands might subsequently be let to settled ryots of the estate or village at further enhanced rates, and so become occupancy lands, the enhanced rate payable for which would be available as evidence to raise the hitherto prevailing occupancy rate of the village. Having regard to all these points the vast importance of the effect on the prevailing occupancy rate of section 42 (1) becomes at once apparent. The question then has to be decided whether it is requisite in the interests of the landlords, just to the great body of occupancy ryots, or desirable in the general interests of the country, that the scale of occupancy rents should, over and above the grounds of enhancements specified in section 43, be also exposed to the disintegrating and enhancing effect which the provisions of section 42 (1) are calculated to produce. It will be observed that, under the Bill as it stands, there will be classes of occupancy lands at the old prevailing rates, classes of new occupancy lands at rates [framed under sections 42 (1) and 60 (9)] higher than the old prevailing rates, and classes of non occupancy lands held at rates varying from, but mostly higher than, either of the above rates. The tendency in all these cases will be to level up rents to the highest point—a tendency which will be complicated by the restrictions on enhancement of rents of various classes of ryots holding these lands. Upon these facts you are requested to say, with reference to the circumstances of your division, whether there is any danger of intricate and costly litigation resulting from such a state of things as the Bill seems calculated to introduce. You will observe from paragraph 12 of their letter that the Government of India have doubts as to the dangerous effect of section 42 on occupancy rates, and that His Excellency the Governor General in Council has expressed a desire for the Lieutenant Governor's opinion as to whether the anticipated danger is real, and if so, in what way it might best be met. The Lieutenant Governor has no doubt the danger is real, and that it cannot be met by concentrating attention on the occupancy ryot alone. This matter will be dealt with more fully under Chapter VI, relating to non occupancy ryots.

12 In this connection also I am to call your special attention to the question of bastu (homestead) lands, or village sites, the terms on which such land are now held, and the extent (if any) to which such terms, if now different, should be assimilated to the conditions which regulate the tenure of ordinary arable land. Section 216 presupposes two cases as covering the whole ground occupied by the bastu question, (a) where bastu is an integral portion of the holding held by the ryot on no stronger or separate title, and subject to no separate conditions from those which attach to the holding as a whole, (b) where the bastu or site of the ryot's house is held on a tenure and subject to conditions different from that on which the arable land may be held. It is understood that the bastu question is affected by many and various local peculiarities, and the views provisionally accepted in regard to it by the Select Committee may be found incomplete and inaccurate. For instance, having regard to the fact that homestead lands are usually raised above flood level, and otherwise improved at the ryot's sole expense, it may be a question whether they should not, in accordance with the spirit of section 43, be exempted from enhancement altogether. It has been brought to the Lieutenant Governor's notice that excessive enhancements of rates payable for homestead lands is the screw applied for raising rents in those districts where there is still waste land and a demand for tenants. The affection inherent in the ryot for his bani prevents his leaving an exacting landlord for one more lenient. And this power of the landlord over the ryot would be more marked if the arable portion of the holding consisted wholly or chiefly of land held on an ulbundi or hal hasli tenure. These considerations will no doubt receive full attention from you, and as the importance of the question, and its relation to the well being of the ryot, cannot be overrated, it is hoped you will spare no pains to give, in regard to it, the fullest information and the best advice you can. You are specially requested to state whether, in any of your districts, a custom prevails whereby a ryot, who is ejected from, or who otherwise parts with, his holding is entitled to retain possession of his homestead lands, and if so, on what conditions. In districts where butwaras are common, detailed information must be available regarding bastu, and from that source, and from information derivable from the Civil Courts, valuable facts may be ascertained. No portion of a Butwara Deputy Collector's work is more difficult, or contested by parties, than the apportionment of bastu (unless, indeed, it be the apportionment of khamar or sir), thus showing the importance attached by both landlord and ryot to the command of the village site. It may be added that the bastu question, in the case of non occupancy ryots, is only second in importance to the question as it affects the ryots with right of occupancy, because the latter are more numerous than the former. This remark seems called for, as, from paragraph 2 (4) of the Government of India's letter, it might be inferred (the Lieutenant Governor does not think it was intended that it should be inferred) that in regard to non occupancy ryots, the bastu question was immaterial.

13 Passing on to the provisions for reduction of rent by suit in court, the Lieutenant Governor desires to ask your attention to the concluding portion of section 51 (a) As Mr Rivers Thompson reads that portion of the section, the deterioration in the land which would justify a reduction in rent must be the result of some incident admitting of precise definition as to time of occurrence and as to manner of operation. You are requested to examine, with reference to the actual facts existing in your division, whether that statement would cover all cases, or whether it may not happen that deterioration of the soil, disabling it from paying a certain sum as rent may not, as in the case of the efflorescence of reh, be brought about imperceptibly by causes of which the origin and the action cannot, with any accuracy, be predicated. A reference, too, is requested to the remarks contained in the 14th paragraph of the letter of the Government of India, and paragraph 44 of the Select Committee's Report, in regard to the commutation of grain rents to money rents (section 53). The Lieutenant Governor desires only here to invite your attention to the provisions of section 64 (3), and would ask you to consider whether, with regard to the 20 years' presumption of clause (2), a fixed proportion of the crop can be fairly considered, having regard to the rise and fall of price, as the natural and equivalent antecedent of a money rent invariable over a term of years.

14 As regards price lists (section 52), the chief matters for your consideration are whether the prices current for local markets (of which the sub divisional prices current are understood to be the averages, just as the district price current lists are the averages of the sub divisional lists) have been preserved in the district or sub divisional record offices for, say, a period of 15 years. If so, I am to enquire whether the correctness of these lists can be verified, and, when necessary, corrected by comparison with the books of grain dealers in the markets to which the lists refer. If this cannot be done for local markets, can it be done for the markets situated at the head quarters of sub divisions? Lists showing the prices prevailing at the district head quarters alone, or the averages of local prices, do not furnish the information as to prices prevailing at harvest time which the Bill contemplates. If the local price lists have not been preserved, then it should be stated, after local enquiry (which should be made in the most thorough manner and by the most trustworthy agency at your disposal), whether it is possible to ascertain and construct from the records of grain merchants, bazar chowdrys, &c, a correct list of the prices of the staple food crops of your district for the last 15 years. In order to guide your enquiries on this point, I am to attach a statement showing, according to recent information, what food crops may be considered staples in each district. Should this statement, on examination, seem to you in any way defective, either as to the sort of grain produced, or its relative proportion to other grain crops grown in the district, you are requested to introduce the necessary corrections into the statement and return it to this office with your report.

15 Turning from the preparation of price lists to the method of using them for the purpose of enhancement suits I am to call your attention to section 45 of the Bill, and to the remarks of the Select Committee in paragraphs 33 and 34 of their Report. The Government of India also deals with the subject in the 13th paragraph of its letter. The primary points for consideration are whether enhancements can be fairly allowed in direct proportion to the rise in price, or whether it is not essential that some allowance should be made for the increased cost of production which usually attends a general rise in prices, and whether, if you think this should be done, any distinction as to extent of deduction should be drawn between remote districts unconnected by railways, &c, with large markets, and districts enjoying good communications. It would greatly help the Government if the effect of the proposals could be illustrated by examples from actual practice.

It has been suggested that possibly the regulation of rents, with reference to the prices of staple food grains alone, would tell unfairly against landlords, who might thus be debarred from sharing in the increased profit arising from the cultivation of such crops as jute. The figures, however, representing the course of the jute market at Serajgunge for the last 15 years, which are appended to this letter, would seem to show that landlords have nothing to expect in the way of enhancement by including jute in the list of crops to which appeal might be made. It is, however, alleged to be the fact in the eastern districts that jute and rice are often interchangeable crops being sown in the same sort of soil. When rice stocks are large, it is said that more land is sown with jute, when rice stocks are short, the cultivation of jute is contracted in favour of rice. Thus it would happen that when rice is cheap, jute is dear, and vice versa. If such a connection as this were proved to exist between jute and rice cultivation then indeed, a stronger case than now exists might possibly be made out for appealing to jute prices as a standard of rent as well as to the prices of rice or of dhan. To this point your attention is requested if jute be a staple in your division. The Lieutenant Governor is not aware that such a question arises in case of any other crop. No other non-food crop, not even sugarcane, seems to vary as to area of cultivation with the prices of the staple food grain, but should such a state of things prevail in your division you are requested to report on it.

16 Chapter VI—Applies exclusively to non occupancy ryots. You will at once observe that its contents differ radically from the provisions of the Bill as introduced into Council, and if the provisions of the first draft told too severely against the landlords, it is open to question now whether the chapter as it stands does not err on the other side. When the Bill was first under consideration last year, Mr Rivers Thompson objected to different maxima being imposed on the rents of occupancy and non occupancy ryots, and he refers now to the remarks he then made because, although the maxima limits on rents have been withdrawn, the fundamental difference to which he then objected is still retained. In paragraph 20 of the letter of the 27th September, the Lieutenant Governor wrote as follows —

If the one fifth or 20 per cent limit be justifiable as regards occupancy ryots the question remains—Is five sixteenths or 31½ per cent of the produce fair as regards the non occupancy ryot? On this point I am to suggest for the consideration of the Council whether the provisions of section 119 of the Bill as far as they refer to what is there called the 'ordinary' ryot do not introduce an unconstitutional and dangerous principle into the law of Bengal. In the statement made by the Honble Mr Reynolds in his speech in Council to the effect that it is not and never has been the law of Bengal that an occupancy ryot should hold at privileged rates the Lieutenant-Governor concurs and it therefore becomes a matter for consideration whether if the one fifth limit be fair for ryots with occupancy rights five sixteenths is not unfair for ryots without them. The origin of the provision as it stands is probably due to Sir Richard Temple's effort to fix occupancy rates with reference to competition rates by giving the occupancy ryot a beneficial deduction on such rates. But the enquiries which were made in connection with that proposal showed that competition rates hardly existed, and that custom, not competition, ruled the rents of occupancy and non occupancy ryot alike, unless where considerations of caste intervene. Recent enquiries point to the same conclusion and it is therefore in the Lieutenant Governor's opinion a matter of doubtful expediency that a novel principle should now be introduced into the law of these Provinces which besides, would be calculated to lead to general enhancements of rent which it is the avowed object of the Government to avoid. It must not be forgotten that if we call into existence two classes of occupancy ryots—one holding at higher rates than the other (and this would be the effect of sections 79, 90 and 119 of the Bill combined)—the tendency will be towards an equalization of rates at the higher level. As at present advised Mr Rivers Thompson thinks that this is a danger which we should not run the risk of incurring and that, if a rack rent limit is to be preserved in the Bill at all it should be the same for both occupancy and non occupancy ryots. He has no objection to five-sixteenths of the produce in the case of under tenants (khurfas) who can never acquire occupancy rights but he thinks that there is great danger to the cultivating classes in the provision of a separate limit for occupancy and non occupancy ryots. Separate limits are tantamount to a premium on the discouragement of fixity of tenure.

From this passage you will perceive that the equality of occupancy and non-occupancy rates was defended as well on the ground of constitutional principle as of practical expediency. It was proposed as a substitute for different maxima limits on rent, but in the Bill as now drafted, neither the principle of limiting rents to one fifth portion of the produce, nor the principle of equality of rates, finds a place. The Government of India (paragraph 15 of their letter) have now expressed a wish to learn the views of the Government of Bengal before coming to a final conclusion in the matter, which cannot be dissociated from the question of occupancy rates referred to in paragraph 11 of this letter.

It is admitted on all hands that the status of the non occupancy ryot needs improvement, and in point of fact the question for you to advise upon is whether this chapter effects any improvement in it, or whether, having regard to the substitution of the novel English lease limiting the term of the tenancy, for the customary Indian pottah, which only prescribes its conditions, the chapter does not place the non occupancy ryot in a worse position than he is under the present law. It is true that the initial lease will apply to new tenancies only, but having regard to actual experience, it is to be feared that most, if not all, non occupancy ryots may have to relinquish and re enter under a lease. Moreover under the existing law a land lord need not, and it is understood that usually he does not, take any steps to bar the acquisition of the occupancy right till the tenth or eleventh year of the holding. Under the provisions of the present Bill, short leases will probably become the rule, and ejectment will be sued for at the close of the fifth or sixth year of the ryot's tenancy if the landlord would neutralize the effect which the concession of the statutory lease, under section 60 (7) might have on the ryot's tenure of the land. It is unnecessary to dwell at any length on the evil effects which such a condition of things would inevitably produce. It is an established fact that, especially in Behar and in Eastern Bengal, landlords do systematically oppose by all means in their power the growth of occupancy rights. It will be for you now to say, with reference to the facts of your division, whether the provisions of the Bill to which I have now drawn your attention are calculated to intensify or to remove the difficulties which are interposed to prevent the acquisition of the occupancy right, whose growth it is the policy of Government to facilitate, having due regard to the just interests of the landlords.

17 Chapter VII—The subject of this chapter has already been to some extent discussed, and here the only point in connection with it, to which the Lieutenant Governor desires to call attention, is the question whether the limitation of under ryots' rents would be fair, say to ryots holding at low fixed rates, or whether such a limitation would be effective in practice. With reference to this question you will, of course, have regard to the provisions of section 37, which, if accepted by you as workable, would no doubt have an important effect in checking rack renting. If, in your opinion, the limitations in the Bill are likely to prove unfair in certain cases, or impracticable, then you are requested to state whether you consider any limitations at all on under ryots' rents desirable, and if so, the lines which such limitations should follow. Your attention is also drawn to section 38 of the Bill, and your opinion on the propriety of the limit thereby imposed on the terms of leases to under ryots requested. The point to be considered is—would such a limitation have any effect in checking the practice of subletting?

18 Chapter VIII—As your attention has already been called to the questions of the 20 years' presumption, and the proposal to accept grain rents as the equivalent antecedent of the commuted money rent with reference to that presumption, the Lieutenant Governor will not again refer to those questions here. Nor does he think that any other provisions of the chapter, except those mentioned in paragraph 17 of the letter of the Government of India, need be brought to your notice with special prominence. The remarks of the Government of India regarding the sufficiency and propriety of the provisions of the chapter on the subject of baouli rents in South Behar should receive special attention from the Collectors of Gya, Shahabad, and Patna, as should the adequacy of the forms of receipt and account in Schedule III of the Bill from all Collectors.

19 Chapter IX—The provisions regarding improvements may not appear at the present moment to be of much practical utility, but there is reason to hope that in the future they will be found valuable. The Lieutenant Governor, therefore, wishes you to consider whether they are such as are likely to be found generally workable, and he specially requests your opinion whether, without any infringement on the landlords' rights, and with advantage to the ryot and the general interests of the country, the right of constructing a well is one to which the non occupancy ryot should be declared entitled (see section 90). The point is perhaps of more importance in Behar than in Bengal Proper, where well irrigation is not so general or necessary, but in Behar, and should the Act be subsequently extended to Chota Nagpore, in the latter division, the question is one of great and growing importance. In this connection you might conveniently enquire into the question raised in clause (1), paragraph 2 of the letter of the Government of India. In regard to it the opinion of Collectors of Canal Districts and of Irrigation Officers, and of non officials who use canal water on a large scale, such as the Sarun indigo planters and Messrs Mylne and Thomson of Behoa, would be valuable.

20 The Government of India call attention, in paragraph 18 of their letter, to section 96, dealing with abandonment of holdings, and the Lieutenant Governor also requests you to consider, with reference to local facts, whether the section as it stands exposes the occupancy or non occupancy ryot to a material danger of having actual rights, no longer capable of invalidation by the landlord, destroyed, or the further growth of inchoate rights suppressed. The question should be considered in connection with the subject of enhance-ments to which your attention has been called in paragraphs 11 and 16 of this letter, for the danger is that these provisions as to abandonment may be abused in order that land may be cleared of old ryots and enhanced rates imposed on new comers. If the difficulties pointed out in paragraphs 11 and 16 above can be satisfactorily solved, the solution would have an effect on the abandonment question also by removing the apprehended danger. That a real danger is, however, apprehended, there can be no doubt. Authentic information is before the Government of cases in which landlords have expelled ryots from their holdings without any legal formalities whatever, and introduced new ryots at higher rents. By such an exercise of power the landlord may no doubt become amenable to criminal penalties, but the ryot, once ejected from his holding, is not always able or willing to seek redress. Should then no satisfactory solution regarding the equalization of occupancy and non occupancy rates present itself to you with reference to paragraphs 11 and 16 above, the question the Lieutenant Governor would ask you to consider is whether the provisions of section 96 are calculated to promote the exercise of arbitrary power on the part of landlords or not. Should your judgment be in the affirmative, it is hoped you may be able to suggest some means of reconciling the interests of the landlord and the ryot on the question. It has been suggested that in case of an occupancy holding, which is a valuable right, the interest of the presumed deserter should be sold, but to that suggestion objection has been taken in the landlords' interests. The point, however, is still open to discussion, and Mr Rivers Thompson will be glad to have an opinion upon it.

21 With regard to the provisions for measurement of lands, you will observe that the landlord's right to measure all lands within his estate is affirmed. The present law does not allow him to measure lakhuraj lands, and a report is required whether, assuming that you generally approve of the provisions on this point contained in the present Bill, it is advisable that the measurement of lakhuraj holdings should extend to a survey of internal details, or only of external boundaries. You are also requested to state whether you think any inconvenience is likely to result from the provisions of section 101, declaring that the actual measurement shall be made not by the local, but by because it is the first earnest attempt to carry out what has often been contemplated, but never attempted, viz to record by authoritative enquiry the rights in their holdings of the entire agricultural community in Bengal. The proposal is one of very great magnitude, and its execution must extend over a long period of years, but to its successful accomplishment alone can we look for the great administrative advantages which must ensue in the security of the cultivating classes in their possessions, and the establishment of proper relations generally between landlords and tenants. The Lieutenant Governor specially requests that with the observations upon them, contained in paragraphs 71 to 77 of the Select Committee's Report, and in paragraphs 19 to 21 of the letter of the Government of India, the sections of this chapter may be carefully considered by you and by your Collectors, both with reference to the facts to be recorded, the adequacy of the powers taken for the purpose of ascertaining and recording them, and the appropriateness of the procedure for the objects in view. He also invites your attention to section 116 (2), and begs that you will give your careful opinion as to whether it is desirable that only a presumption should arise in favour of the correctness of facts ascertained with due care in the full light of publicity, and with ample opportunity to the parties interested to contest them, or whether it is to the general interest that the facts, as ascertained (and if not all, then what facts) should be regarded as conclusively established for a certain specified period.

24 Chapters XI and XII—To the points under these chapters to which the Government of India draw attention in paragraphs 22 and 23 of their letter, the Lieutenant Governor desires only to add a hope that you will, with reference to the circumstances of your division, carefully consider whether there is in existence any kind, other than the kind defined in section 158 (1), which is commonly recognized as not of a character in which the cultivator can ordinarily acquire the right of occupancy.

25 Chapter XIII—Coming now to the important subject of distraint, you will observe that, in the opinion of the Government of India (an opinion from which the Lieutenant Governor is not now disposed to dissent), the question lies between the retention of distraint as it exists under the present law (with perhaps sharper penalties in case of abuse) and distraint exercised through the courts in the way prescribed by the Bill. It is urged by the landlords that the right of distraint, though not always exercised, is essential to the recovery of their rents, especially in the case of non-occupancy ryots, in border districts or on chui lands, while, on the other hand, it is beyond doubt that the right of distraint (as it now exists) has been greatly abused with the object of enhancing rents, or of recovering legally irrecoverable arrears. It may well be, as experience has in some instances proved, that the abuse of the right of distraint is within the power of the executive to suppress, and the Lieutenant Governor himself thinks that there is a great deal in the statement that "in the case of an improvident peasantry a remedy against the crop is a more humane process than a remedy against the land." All these and other considerations which your experience must suggest will doubtless be weighed by you, and Mr. Havers Thompson trusts that, on a subject to which your attention has in all probability been specially directed by recent discussions, you will be able to give practical advice.

26 Chapters XIV and XV—The procedure in suits and in execution laid down in the Bill are subjects on which the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court have been invited to advise the Government of India, and on which the Lieutenant Governor may find it necessary to consult mofussil judicial officers. Still the views of executive officers are very desirable, particularly on sections 163, 164, 168, 171, 175, 177, 185 and 186, and I am accordingly to request that you will take the chapters, and especially the sections specified, into your consideration, and communicate to the Lieutenant Governor your opinions regarding them. As the Chota Nagpore Landlord and Tenant Act [1 (B C) of 1879, section 39] provides for suits against ryots collectively, and as it is the desire of the zemindars that a similar provision should be introduced into this Bill, the authorities in that division will again be called upon to report what has been in practice the effect of such a provision in Chota Nagpore.

27 Chapter XVI—This chapter reproduces the regulation law for the sale of patni tenures, with only such modernization of language and such few improvements in procedure as experience had shown to be necessary. The Lieutenant Governor is not aware that these provisions are open to any objection, but if you are of a contrary opinion, you are requested to state the grounds of it.

28 With reference to section 209 I am to refer you to paragraph 14 page 17 of my letter No 972T—R of 27th September, to the Government of India, and to request that, if you have any views as to the direction which legislation on the subject of the registration of tenures should take, whether on the lines of Act VII (B C) of 1876 or otherwise, you will be good enough to favour the Lieutenant Governor with an expression of them.

29 Chapter XVII—The questions raised in this chapter regarding homestead lands have been referred for your consideration in a earlier part of this letter, and need not be again alluded to. The utbandi and hal hasli system will be referred to later on, and therefore in this connection all that you need discuss are the provisions regarding chun and deana lands. I am also to ask that, having carefully examined the provisions of section 210, you will state whether you agree that freedom of contract should be barred in all the cases specified or whether you think that there are other cases also, not mentioned in the section to which the prohibition should be extended, or whether you think that, in some of the cases specified (stating which), freedom of contract might be allowed.

30 The remaining chapters of the Bill call for no particular remarks, except as regards section 227, chapter XIX. It is requested that, having assured yourself as to the custom prevalent in each district of your division regarding pasturing, you should state whether, in your opinion, the requirements of the case are sufficiently met by section 227, and if not, what you would propose in order to meet them.

31 The observations which have now been made are intended to draw your attention to the main points of the measure which are still open to discussion, in the order in which they occur in the Bill. They are not intended as an exhaustive enumeration of the sections on which you are at liberty to comment, but rather as an aid in a work which the Lieutenant Governor fears you may, amid your many other duties, find onerous, and as supplementary to the remarks of the Government of India and the Select Committee. The questions raised in the initial paragraphs of the Government of India's letter remain to be noticed. Regarding the questions raised in paragraph 1, I am to say that the Lieutenant Governor will not trouble you, for they are questions which can be adequately discussed by him in communication with the Board of Revenue alone, while to some of the points specified in paragraph 2, namely the acquisition of land for landlords' irrigation channels, the accuracy of price lists, the possibility of framing a system of enhancement on them, and the legislation necessary in regard to homestead lands, your attention has already been drawn. The points in paragraph 2 of the Government of India's letter which demand consideration are those numbered 2, 3, 5 and 6. In regard to point (2) the first thing to do is to ascertain whether the district records give any information regarding the existence in your division of dependent taluks of the kind in question. If from your records any such are found to exist, or if from sources independent of your official records, authentic information as to their existence is furnished, it will then be necessary to consider whether any inconvenience has been experienced by zemindars from the present practice and even then whether, having regard to the small proportion which the revenue fixed at the time of the settlement on such taluks presumably bears to their present value, it is desirable to subject them to the summary sale procedure provided by the Bill, or to some less drastic measure. It might also be considered whether the objects which the landlords have in view might not, in the case of the larger taluks at all events, be got over by regarding them henceforward as independent taluks liable to pay revenue to Government direct.

32 With regard to point (3), observations to some extent of a similar character apply. The tenures in question are so valuable, and the arrears due are usually so small and so well secured, that it will be well to ascertain whether the inducement to abstain from even demanding arrears from such tenure holders, in order that through default their tenures might come into the market, might not create an evil of greater magnitude than any temporary inconvenience which may now result from the existing state of things. These remarks are offered with the object of suggesting, for your consideration, certain aspects of the case which strike the Lieutenant Governor as worthy of being examined. Any suggestions you make for mitigating the difficulties complained of by the landlords will meet with Mr. Rivers Thompson's careful attention.

33 In regard to point (5), I am to say that the information before Government as to the precise nature of the utbundi and hal hosli system is not as full or precise as could be wished, and accordingly you are requested to give a clear description of the tenures in question, if any such exist, in your division, with their incidents, and a statement of the reasons why the ordinary incidents of ryoti land should not apply to them. Accounts of these tenures are, no doubt, contained in the Statistical Account of Nuddea, and in the Administration Reports or official memoranda. References to them are also to be found in various law reports, but, for the purpose in hand, it is desirable that these accounts and reports should now be examined, their defects (if any) supplied, and the result communicated to Government in concise but adequate form. At the same time you are requested to state whether, if tenures known as utbundi or hal hosli do not exist, any other tenures, bearing the generally known attributes of such, are to be found, and if so, how you would treat them with reference to the matter in hand. The reference to Chittagong is one which will be considered in communication with the Board of Revenue as well as in communication with the Commissioner, as the character of land tenures in that division have recently formed the subject of exhaustive discussions between the Board and Government.

34 With reference to point (6), it will have been observed that the pre-emption sections of the Bill apply only to occupancy rights, but there are in existence, in various portions of Bengal, certain holdings which lie on the border land between clearly defined tenures and cultivating occupancy rights. Such are the guzasta holdings in Shikharabad, the gorabundi holdings in Bhagulpore, the jotes of Rungpore, and the howals of the deltaic districts. These holdings have admittedly been transferable by custom for generations without any right of pre-emption being reserved to the landlord, and it is felt that to subject them now to the landlord's right of pre-emption would depreciate the value of the property to the owner, and possibly lead to inconveniences which it is desirable to avoid. The question then is, can all such semi-tenures, which it is not desirable to subject to the right of pre-emption, be enumerated in the Bill, and thus excluded specifically from the pre-emption clauses, or are such holdings so numerous and so ill-defined that the just interests of their owners can only be protected by such a clause as section 217, which saves custom.

35 In conclusion, I am to express the Lieutenant Governor's earnest hope that you will make sure of your report reaching this office not later than the 14th August next.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING 23rd MAY 1884

The most important feature in the meteorology of the past week was the occurrence of a cyclone in the east of the Bay. It was noted in last week's report that the south west monsoon had burst in Ceylon. Apparently the strong current advanced up the east of the Bay and gave heavy rain in Burmah. A whirl was established in the front of the advancing current to the west or north west of the Andamans on the 15th. It advanced northwards on the 16th and 17th and developed rapidly into a severe cyclone. Like all cyclones in the Bay of rapid formation, the extent or area covered by the cyclonic disturbance was not large. It crossed the Arracan coast near Akyab late on the evening of the 17th and caused great destruction of property. As usually happens during the prevalence of cyclones in the Bay, the winds fell off in strength in Bengal, and little or no rain occurred in any part of the Province. After the cyclone disappeared occasional rain showers were received chiefly in East and North Bengal. During the latter half of the week the atmospheric conditions were those which usually obtain before the commencement of the south west monsoon.

Pressure—The cyclonic disturbance off the Arracan and Burmese coasts caused a very considerable fall of the barometer on the 16th and 17th greatest in amount in East Bengal and least in Behar. This was followed by an equally rapid rise on the 18th and 19th after which the changes of pressure were small and due to the ordinary oscillatory actions always in operation in India. The average pressure of the week is below the normal of the period over the whole Province. The deficiency averages 0.1 in East and South West Bengal and Orissa, where it was greatest 0.3 in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and 0.2 in North Behar where it was smallest.

Temperature—Has been excessive over the greater part of the Province. The mean temperature was from 1° to 3° above the normal in Behar and Chutia Nagpur and Orissa. The variations in Bengal depend upon the amount of the rainfall. In those parts of South West and East Bengal represented by Berhampore and Chittagong the mean temperature was from 1½° to nearly 3° below the normal. The hottest part of India, during the week was the eastern districts of the North West Provinces and the adjacent portions of Central India. Hence high maximum temperatures were recorded at the western stations in South Behar where westerly winds generally prevailed during the week. The following were the highest —

Dehree	111 0° on the 23rd
Bankipore	110 1° „ 23rd
Arrah	109 4° „ 23rd
Gya	109 2 „ 20th
Chyebassa	109 0 „ 23rd

Winds—Were normal in direction in Bengal and Orissa. They were unsteady and variable in South and Central Behar and Chutia Nagpur alternating between west and east according to the relative strengths of the dry land winds of the Upper Gangetic plain and the moist sea winds in Bengal.

Humidity—The humidity of the air in Bengal has differed little from the average. It has varied within wide limits in Behar and Chutia Nagpur in consequence of easterly and westerly winds alternating during the week. The 21st was a very dry day in South Behar. The following humidities were observed at 10 A.M. of that day —

Gya	6 per cent
Dehree	8 „
Arrah	10 „
Hazaribagh	10 „

Rainfall—The rainfall of the past week has been below the average in every part of the Province. Moderate rain was registered on the 17th in North Bengal. The next two days formed a dry period over nearly the whole Province a few showers occurring only in East Bengal and in the western districts of South West Bengal. Shortly after the breaking up of the cyclonic vortex in Arracan rain again fell in East and North Bengal where moderate amounts were registered on the 20th and 21st. Little or no rain occurred on the remaining two days of the week except in the Cooch Behar and Julpigoree districts. The only districts in which rainfall above the average was received were the Chittagong, Noakhali, Rajshahye, Julpigoree and Cooch Behar districts. The deficiency was small in North and East Bengal, where the average amount received was 90 per cent of the normal. In South West Bengal and Behar the amount received during the week was only 30 per cent of the average, whilst in Chutia Nagpur and Orissa no rain was registered. During the present month up to date, East and North Bengal have received abundant rainfall. In South West Bengal and North Behar rainfall has been slightly above the average, and in South Behar Chutia Nagpur, and Orissa below it by small amounts. The deficiency is most marked in Orissa, and the Darjeeling hill districts.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending the 23rd May 1884 —

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h 10h 16h and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

APPLICATIONS for admission to the Government Boarding School at Kurseong for European children should be made to the Head Master before the 30th November in each year. The applications will be registered and should their number exceed the number of anticipated vacancies in the following session the admissions will be distributed to the different departments of Government in proportion to the number of applicants from each. The children of persons not in the service of Government will only be admissible to the school in case of vacancies still remaining after the applications of Government servants have been met.

Increase in the number of Junior and Middle Scholarships to be awarded at the Examinations of 1885

THE University has altered the time of holding the Entrance Examination from December to April and the sessions of colleges will henceforward begin in June instead of in January. The time of holding the middle scholarship examinations has also been altered from October to March, and high schools in which those scholarships are tenable, will henceforward re-open in June. These changes make it probable that a much larger number of candidates than usual will present themselves at the Entrance and middle examinations of 1885 including many who would otherwise have waited for the examinations next following. The Government of Bengal has consequently sanctioned a proposal to increase the number of junior scholarships to be awarded at the Entrance examination of 1885 by one-third, and the number of middle scholarships by one-half. These scholarships and all awarded in subsequent years will, as hitherto, be tenable for 24 months but the stipend will henceforward be payable from the beginning of the session, generally in June.

2 The present holders of junior scholarships will be allowed to read free of tuition fees for the time that will elapse between the expiration of their scholarships and the close of the extended session. The free scholarships awarded to middle scholars after the expiry of their stipends will be similarly extended.

Insert the following as a foot note to this Section —

In paragraph 4 of the Home Department Resolution No 24—885 96 dated the 6th July 1883 the Government of India intimated to Local Governments and Administrations that the Secretary of State had approved of the principle to which attention was drawn in paragraph 7 of the Resolution* of the 7th September 188² of imposing a check on the abuse of the Civil Furlough Rules by recurring grants of furlough on medical certificate and that the best mode of effecting that object was still under consideration

2 The Secretary of State has now decided that the Civil Furlough Rules as they stand appear to make sufficient provision against their frequent or general abuse and that any present formal modification of those rules is therefore unnecessary. Officers at home on medical leave will not be permitted to return to duty without a medical certificate of fitness for duty in India. At the same time His Lordship expresses his readiness to reconsider the subject should further experience show that more stringent precautions against abuse of the rules are necessary and is of opinion that the matter might be brought by circular to the notice of Local Governments and Heads of Departments. It is pointed out that to grant leave on urgent private affairs in consideration of the state of an officer's health is not in accordance with the spirit of the Rules. When an officer applies for repeated grant of medical leave within short intervals the attention of the Medical Board should be drawn to his case with a view to their carefully considering the term of absence necessary for his complete recovery.

3 I am to request that in future the directions may be borne in mind. Section 4 of the Civil Leave Code gives the Local Government ample powers for regulating the grant of leave of every description — [Circular in the Home Department No 22 (1884) dated 16th May 1884]

RESOLUTION

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation in Bengal for the year 1883 84 and the Annual Report of the Quinologist for the same year

A considerable change was effected during the year in the proportions of the different species of cinchona under cultivation. In the plantations at Mungpoo and Sittong, some 232,200 red bark trees were uprooted, and these were replaced chiefly by the yellow bark variety. The new plantation at Rungjung was also planted out with 42,200 trees of this variety. This reform has been introduced at the instance of the Home Government, the Secretary of State being desirous of extending the cultivation of the Calisaya Ledgeriana species, which is far richer in quinine than the red bark variety. The total number of yellow barks planted was 214,720 and these were either Ledgerianus from plantation seed, or Verdes and Moraaas from South America. The latter plants were raised from seed which had been supplied in the preceding year.

by the Secretary of State. The seed germinated freely enough, but a considerable number of the seedlings died when they were hardly half an inch in height, while the weaker surviving plants succumbed to the effects of the winter, which was unusually severe. The remaining plants look healthy and promise to be good quinine yielders.

2 In the Resolution recorded upon the proceedings of last year, analyses were given of barks of eight forms of the hybrid variety. During the year under review, barks of two more of these were analysed. The results obtained from all the ten hybrids are shown in the following table —

	No 1	No 2	No 3	No 4	No 5	No 6	No 7	No 8	No 9	No 10
Crystallised sulphate of quinine	2.87	1.48	1.88	0.97	2.12	2.04	6.12	3.99	3.12	3.24
Crystallised sulphate of cinchonidine	2.94	2.85	2.98	1.94	2.84	2.26	2.46	3.93	1.21	1.46
Crystallised sulphate of quinine	trace	trace	traces	traces	traces	traces	trace	trace	0.30
Cinchonine (alkaloid)	0.72	0.57	0.52	0.80	0.35	0.68	0.5	0.57	0.71	0.88

Most of these are excellent barks, and the trees producing them are, as the Superintendent remarks, well worthy of cultivation.

3 The total number of cinchona trees of all sorts at the close of the year was 4,740,811, namely red (Cinchona Succirubra) 3,552,000, yellow (Calsaya Ledgeriana) 854,218, yellow (Calsaya, Verde and M. rada) 8,500, hybrid unnamed variety 320,000, and other kinds 25,093. The total number planted in the preceding year was 4,711,168.

4 The entire produce of the plantations for the year was 30,160 lbs of dry bark. Of this 283,210 lbs were of red 14,320 lbs of Calsaya, 5,490 lbs of hybrid, and 2,110 lbs of Officinalis bark. The Sittong Plantation may now be considered to have come into bearing, a sixth part of the total crop having been obtained from it. With the exception of 100 lbs supplied to the Calcutta Medical Depot and 31 lbs sold to the public, the entire produce was made over to the Febrifuge Factory for disposal.

5 The total expenditure on the Plantations amounted to Rs 78,660, against the budget allotment of Rs 93,600. Of this expenditure, Rs 12,527 was incurred on the young plantation at Rungjung, and this sum is chargeable to capital account. The balance, amounting to Rs 66,133, was spent on the old plantations at Rungbee, Mungpoo and Sittong. The expenditure at Sittong, which was formerly charged to block account, has, now that the plantation has commenced to yield a crop, been changed to working expense in the same manner as the expenditure on the Rungbee and Mungpoo plantations is treated.

6 Judging from the results of the experiments made for several years past to grow on the plantations the plants yielding the Carthagena bark, it is established, almost beyond doubt, that the plant is unsuited to the climate of Sikkim. The bark, however, is not so valuable as that of the Ledgeriana, or the hybrid variety grown on the plantations. In the last year's resolution, reference was made to the Kentia plant, which produces a quinine yielding bark under the name of Cuprea, and it was stated that this bark formed a very large proportion of the quantity of quinine bark imported to Europe. Dr King has hitherto succeeded in getting only two packets of this seed. The plant raised from one of these speedily died, while the seed contained in the second packet was only sown towards the end of the year, and the result is not yet known.

7 The percentage of febrifuge obtained from the bark was almost the same as in the previous year, viz 2.72 per cent, but the cost at which the febrifuge was turned out rose from Rs 8.8 a pound to Rs 10.18 a pound. This increase is attributed to the higher cost per pound of the bark collected during the year, which was due to the smaller crop harvested. Dr King explains — "The difference is due to the smaller crop harvested, viz 30,160 lbs as against 358,100 lbs for 1882-83. These fluctuations are inevitable as long as the crop continues to be limited, not by the capacity of the plantation to produce, but by the demand for the product into which the crop is to be manufactured. The lowest price of production per pound can of course only be reached when the plantation is cropped to its full capacity to yield."

The distribution of the febrifuge was in excess of the issues for 1882 83 The figures for the two years are—

	lbs	oz	lbs	oz
To Medical Depot, Calcutta	2 000	0	2 620	0
Ditto, Bombay	1 000	0	1 000	0

Given as ampless	10	0	18	4
Total	8 901	4	9 144	12

The issues to the public declined during the year, though they are still in advance of those of 1880 81. It is probable that a supply of English made febrifuge will shortly be sent out to this country for sale at a very low rate in malarious tracts. It is hoped that its cheapness will induce the poorer classes to have recourse to it, and they will thereby have a better opportunity of discovering and appreciating its value.

8 The revenue derived from the sale of the febrifuge, seed, plants and bark amounted to Rs 1 54,463 14 0, as shown below, against Rs 1,02,807 1 0 in the preceding year—

	Rs	A	P

Ditto from the Surgeon General Bengal	10 11	8	0
Ditto from the Inspector General of Jails Bengal	0 3	8	0
Total	1 54 46	14	0

The result of the year's working was a net profit of Rs 55 700 7 7, equal to a dividend of 5½ per cent on the capital outlay. Dr King points out that this does not represent the whole of the actual gain for the year. The cost of the febrifuge used in substitution for quinine in Government hospitals and dispensaries during the year was Rs 80,045, whereas an equal quantity of quinine would have cost three times as much.

9 The Lieutenant Governor is again glad to acknowledge Dr King's excellent management of his department during the year. He fully appreciates the services of Mr Gammie who held immediate charge of the factory. The other assistants are also well spoken of.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the reports referred to, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department and that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Superintendent of the Cinchona Plantation for information.

Ordered further that a copy of this Resolution, and of the reports, be forwarded to the Medical Department of this Government, and also to the Government of Madras, and to the Surgeon General, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO REVISE THE RULES AND PROCEDURE UNDER THE MAHOMEDAN MARRIAGE REGISTRATION ACT

JUDICIAL

READ—

The Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant Governor on the 25th July 1882 on the Report of the Committee appointed to consider and report upon the subject of the registration of Mahomedan Marriages and Divorces in Bengal

The Report No 1333 dated the 18th January 1884 of the Committee appointed for the purpose of revising the rules and procedure under the Mahomedan Marriage Registration Act and of supervising the Kazis appointed in Bengal and the general working of the Act

The note submitted by Nawab Mir Mahomed Ali embodying his views on the subject

In the Resolution of the 20th July 1882 the Lieutenant Governor reviewed the Report of the Committee appointed by Sir Ashley Eden to consider and report on the subject of the registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces in Bengal. The proposals adopted by the majority of that Committee were five in number, and were as follow —

- (1)—That registration should continue to be voluntary
- (2)—That a Kazi ul Kiziat, or head Kazi, for the province should be appointed in Calcutta
- (3)—That Kazis should be appointed throughout Bengal to perform the functions of Registrars of Mahomedan Marriages
- (4)—That Naib Kazis should be appointed by the Kazis the appointments being subject to the approval of the District Registrar and the sanction of the Kazi ul Kazart
- (5)—That the responsibility for registration of marriages should not, as at present, rest on the contracting parties but that the official in whose presence the marriage is celebrated should be looked to directly for the necessary registration

The Lieutenant Governor accepted all the proposals but the second, the adoption of which would involve a revival of the old procedure of Regulation XXXIX of 1793 passed by Lord Cornwallis, and as it would apart from other considerations, be scarcely possible, at the present time, to find any Mahomedan gentlemen possessing the requisite qualifications to fill such an office, who would satisfy the views and secure the respect and co-operation of the dissentient sections of the Mahomedan community. As regards the fifth proposal, the Lieutenant Governor was of opinion that all that was required could be effected by altering the procedure as laid down in the rules promulgated under sections 18 and 24 of Act I (B C) of 1876. But as any measures for the improvement of the existing procedure would be incomplete and inadequate unless they provided for a thorough revision of the existing rules, a Committee, composed of the gentlemen named in the margin, was appointed for the purpose. The Committee have finished their labours, and submitted an expression of their views and proposals in the report cited in the preamble. Mr Rivers Thompson proposes to consider the points which occupied their attention, and to deal with them in the order in which they are placed in the Report

2 The first point discussed relates to a reduction in the initial expenditure incurred by Mahomedan Registrars. Under the provisions of section 5 of Act I (B C) of 1876, the Government is to supply the registers, forms, and seal to be used by the Registrars, and under clause 14 of the Rules, dated the 25th March 1876, all these are to be charged at cost price and ordinarily paid for by the Registrar at the time they are supplied, though the District Registrar has a discretionary power to postpone payment for a period not exceeding three months. The Committee have shown that, on his first appointment, a Mahomedan Registrar has to incur on this account an expenditure of Rs 52 11 6, and they propose to reduce this to Rs 17 4 6, if it be decided that these registers, forms, &c, should still be a charge on the Registrar instead of being supplied free as they recommend, on the ground that this concession is made to Ministers of established churches. The Committee propose the abolition of Indents for Forms, Register of Appeals, and Form of Application, which at present cost Rs 5 7 11. They also suggest that forms numbered 3, 7 and 11 which are copies of the entries in the Registers A, B, and C to be given to parties, forms 4, 8 and 12, which are copies of the same for the District Registrar, and forms 5, 9 and 13, which are copies of the same for issue under section 15 of the Act, and which cost Rs 19 3 4 might be supplied on ordinary country paper by the Registrar in the form prescribed by the Rules or the Act. The Committee further propose that the Book of Refusals (No 14), index sheets (No 17) and the catalogue (No 19), which cost Rs 2 14 1, should be similarly furnished. This would reduce the books to be purchased to the three Register Books A, B and C, costing Rs 5 1 6 each and the Index Book costing Rs 1 2 8. Lastly the Committee suggest that the seal instead of costing, as now, Rs 8, might be of a cheaper description costing Rs 2. The Lieutenant Governor does not understand how the Committee arrive at the conclusion that this would bring the

Index Book	1	2	8

cost of registers, &c, &c, down to Rs 17 4 6. The price would be really Rs 18 7 2, as shown in the margin. The Lieutenant Governor is unable to entertain the proposals made by the Committee in their entirety. He thinks that Mahomedan Registrars should be supplied at the prices now charged with the Registers A, B and C, the Index Book, the necessary forms, and with a seal at a cost of Rs 2. They should also be supplied with a few copies of indents for forms free of charge. Registrars, however, should not supply forms 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12 and 13 on cheap country paper, as it is desirable that these should be as durable and lasting as possible. Form 14, Book of Refusals, might be kept up by Registrars themselves on country paper, so might Form 15, Book of Appeals. Index sheets (No, 17), which are important should be supplied on indent, so also should Form of Application (No 18) for the sake of uniformity, and the catalogue which under Rule 45 is to be permanently preserved. As regards the question whether these books, &c, &c, should be supplied free, this has been already answered, but the Lieutenant Governor is of opinion that the same practice which prevails in the case of Registrars of Christian Marriages should be adopted, viz, that the first set of registers and forms should be issued free, and all subsequently supplied being paid for by the Registrars.

3 The second point relates to the distribution of Mahomedan Registrars over the 14 districts in which the Act and Rules are in force. The Committee have pointed out that in only three of those districts, viz, Chittagong, Mymensing and Noakholly, is there a Mahomedan Registrar for each thana, and they recommend that there should be at least one for each thana in all the other districts, though they would prefer to see the unit of a Mahomedan Registrar's jurisdiction being brought down to an outpost. This, the Lieutenant Governor thinks, is unnecessary at present. He would make the thana the unit, extending, or rather contracting, it to the outpost in places where, from the number of registrations, this might be considered advisable.

4 The next point which engaged the attention of the Committee is the extension of the registering agency by the introduction of Act XII of 1880 for the appointment of Kazis. This question has already been considered by the Lieutenant Governor, who, in paragraph 10 of the Resolution dated the 25th July last, ordered that steps should be taken to extend the Act to the districts named in the margin in which Act I (B C) of 1876 is in force, and that competent persons should be selected to act as Kazis. The notification required by section 1 of Act XII of 1880, extending that Act to these districts, will now be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and District Registrars will be asked to submit nominations of properly qualified persons for the office of Kazi and Mahomedan Marriage Registrar for places where these officers are required to be appointed to the permanent Committee at Calcutta for the supervision of Mahomedan Registrars appointed under Act I (B C) of 1876, and of Kazis appointed under Act XII of 1880. This Committee will, it is hoped, have been formed by the time the District Registrars' nominations are ready. The suggestion made by the Committee that no person should be appointed a Kazi within the jurisdiction of a Mahomedan Registrar, except the Registrar himself, was also a point which Mr Rivers Thompson had under his consideration in the previous stage of this case as will be apparent from the concluding sentence of the paragraph of the Resolution cited above, to the effect that every Kazi will also be appointed ex officio Marriage Registrar under Act I (B C) of 1876. He considers the reasons advanced by the Committee in support of their recommendation sound, and directs its adoption. The Kazi being a Mahomedan Marriage Registrar would also have, as pointed out by the Committee, the assistance of his Naib Kazis in informing him of marriages about to take place, and in inducing persons to register marriages after they were contracted. More than this Naib Kazis could not be empowered to do without a change in the law, which is not desirable at present, as under section 3 of the Act no more than two persons can be licensed within the same limits, and when two persons are licensed, one must be a member of the Suni and the other of the Shia sect. The same objection applies to a Mahomedan Registrar nominating a friend or relative to be a Mahomedan Registrar at his head quarters. For the present, therefore, the Lieutenant Governor is of opinion that Naib Kazis must act simply as agents for the Kazi, informing him of marriages which they have performed in order that he may endeavour subsequently to get the parties to register it.

5 The Lieutenant Governor is not disposed to accede to the proposal made by the Committee for placing the registration of kabinnamahs in the hands of Mahomedan Registrars, instead of in those of the ordinary Registrar (rural or other) of Deeds, as this too would involve a change in the law.

6 The last points which the Committee notice are the amendments of Rules 18 to 21 of the Rules, dated the 25th March 1876, regarding the attendance of Mahomedan Registrars upon the requisition of parties. The Lieutenant Governor accepts the views of the Committee on this point as expressed in the concluding portion of paragraph 10 of their report. He is of opinion that it is useless to have rules the practical enforcement of which is difficult, if not impossible, and that it will be better to allow such matters to be settled by the Registrar and the persons who desire his services. The rules proposed in lieu of those at present in force are therefore approved.

7 The Lieutenant Governor also approves of the other modifications proposed by the Committee in the Rules of the 25th March 1876, but desires to point out, with reference to the addition made to Rule 11, empowering District Registrars to appoint temporary substitutes for Mahomedan Registrars on leave or absent from duty from among the list of candidates for Mahomedan Registrarships registered in his office, that if temporary substitutes be appointed, they must be licensed (vide section 3 of Act I of 1876).

Rule 14, regarding the supply of books and stationery to Registrars, has not been altered by the Committee pending the orders of Government on their proposals on the subject, which are contained in paragraph 2 of this Resolution. The rule has therefore been modified in accordance with the views expressed by the Lieutenant Governor in that paragraph.

Rule 39 — The Lieutenant Governor thinks there is no necessity of keeping up the registers and indexes both in Urdu and Bengali. One language will be quite enough. In Bengali districts Bengali is what nearly all Mahomedans speak and read, if they can read at all, and Mr Rivers Thompson thinks Bengali therefore should be the language used in the registers, &c. The rule has been altered accordingly.

8 The Lieutenant Governor approves of the rules framed by the Committee for the supervision of Kazis appointed under Act XII of 1880.

9 Mr Rivers Thompson also approves of the rules proposed for the guidance of the permanent Committee for the supervision of Mahomedan

Registrars, appointed under Act I (B C) of 1876, and of Kazis appointed under Act XII of 1880

The Committee propose that this permanent Committee should consist of five members, the Inspector General of Registration for the time being to be ex officio President, three members to form a quorum and the appointments to be gazetted. The Lieutenant Governor accordingly directs the establishment in Calcutta of a permanent Committee, which will be composed of the gentlemen named below, if they be willing to serve on the Committee —

- The Inspector General of Registration, Member and President, ex officio
 „ Hon'ble Syed Ameer Ali
 „ Nawab Abdul Lutef, C I E
 „ Mir Mahomed Ali
 „ Moulvi Abdul Hai, Head Moulvi of the Calcutta Madrasah

10 The thanks of the Lieutenant Governor are due to the President and Members of the Committee for the time devoted by them to the consideration of the very important questions which engaged their attention, and for the valuable proposals they have made

11 As regards the views expressed by Nawab Mir Mahomed Ali, the Lieutenant Governor observes that the adoption of his proposals, as regards the registration of kabins and of contracts for dower, would involve a recourse to legislation which he does not think desirable at present. In the event, however, of any change in the law being undertaken at any future time, the Nawab's proposals will receive full consideration

ORDER — Ordered that this Resolution the Report of the Committee with its enclosures, and the revised Rules, be published in the Calcutta Gazette

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution, with a copy of the Committee's Report and of its enclosures, together with a copy of the revised Rules, be forwarded to the Inspector General of Registration, and to the District Registrars of the districts named in paragraph 4 of the Resolution, for information and guidance

3 The rules at present in force were sanctioned by Government Notification No 1078 The annual reports of the Registration

Department have shown that the Act and rules do not work at all well. Our colleague, Nawab Abdool Lutef has, however, maintained that the rules and the present cumbrous procedure are susceptible of simplification, and the Committee have endeavoured to suggest such modifications as will further that result.

4 The first point to which the attention of the Committee has been directed is the reduction of expenditure to Mahomedan Registrars by lessening the number of forms in use. The present system of registration of marriages for all creeds is that the Registrar should pay the cost of all forms used for the purpose of such registration. The practice in the case of Registrars of Christian marriages is to issue the first set of forms gratis. Thereafter the Registrar pays the cost of all forms expended from time to time. The Mahomedan Registrars on the contrary are required, as a condition precedent to their appointment, to pay the cost of all forms, registers, and seals. The following list shows the number of such books and registers, and the cost —

Price list of Mahomedan Registration Forms and Books, and Seals, &c

It will be seen that upon appointment, a Mahomedan Registrar is required to pay Rs 52 11 6 as a condition of such appointment. The Committee, moreover, consider that many of the forms and registers the Registrar is required to keep are unnecessary. They would recommend the abolition of the following forms — 1 Indent for forms, 10 Register of appeals kept by the District Registrar, who should provide it himself, 18 Applications. The following forms, the Committee consider, could be furnished by the Registrar on ordinary country paper (of course in the form prescribed by the Act or the rules) — 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 17, and 19. This would reduce the books to be purchased by the Mahomedan Registrar to Registers A, B, C, and the Index Book. If at the same time a smaller and less expensive seal were provided at a cost of about Rs 2, the amount required to be paid by a Mahomedan Registrar upon appointment would be reduced from Rs. 52 11 6 to Rs 17 4 6. The Committee would, however, go a step further, and recommend that these forms be supplied gratis to the Mahomedan Registrars. It is believed that registers and forms are supplied to ministers of the established churches free, and in view of the acknowledged evils of the want of more extended registration of marriages among the lower classes of Mahomedans, the Committee think that this concession can be granted by Government.

5 The next point to consider is the distribution of Mahomedan Registrars over the 14 districts in which the Act and rules are in force (vide Table A annexed). This table shows that in no districts but Chittagong, Mymensingh, and Noakhally is there a Mahomedan Registrar for each thannah. Considering the large area of most police thannahs and that a Mahomedan Registrar is required to attend marriages upon requisition and to proceed upon tours for the purposes of registering marriages, the Committee think that the number of Mahomedan Registrars should be increased, so as to allow of at least one Mahomedan Registrar to each thannah. The Committee would encourage the extension of the system wherever practicable, to allow of one Mahomedan Registrar to each outpost. In each of the districts of Chittagong and Noakhally there are four outposts, forming the exclusive jurisdictions of Mahomedan Registrars, in Mymensingh two outposts, in Furrædpore one, and in Rungpore one. If the jurisdiction of an outpost in those districts is able to support a Mahomedan Registrar, it is possible that in other districts the unit of a Mahomedan Registrar's jurisdiction may be brought down to the limits of an outpost.

6 By thus limiting the jurisdiction to a more compact area it is thought probable that the Mahomedan Registrars may be induced to proceed more actively about their jurisdictions. At present a Mahomedan Registrar is apt to remain at his head quarters and expect the public to resort to him for registration, as in the case of an office for the registration of deeds but apart from the difference between the compulsory registration of the greater number of deeds as compared with the voluntary registration of marriages, from the circumstances of the case, it is difficult to procure the attendance of the parties to the marriage, one of them being always a purdahnashin woman.

7 The third point is to extend the registering agency, and this will be aided by the introduction of the Act for the appointment of Qazis (XII of 1880). The Committee would urge most strongly that no person be appointed a Qazi within the jurisdiction of a Mahomedan Registrar except the Registrar himself. This would strengthen his position. As the Qazi appointed by Government, it would lend the Mahomedan Registrar more prestige. He would be in more frequent request to attend at and celebrate marriages and wherever he attended as Qazi he could register the marriage as Registrar. Further under section 3 of the Act, as Qazi he would be entitled to appoint Naib Qazis, who would act as his agents in informing the Qazi of intended marriages, and in inducing parties to register the marriages performed by persons other than the Qazi or his naibs. By selecting the most active and intelligent of the village Mollahs and Khundkars, and appointing them Naib Qazis, the Mahomedan Registrar should be able, by their co-operation to encourage registration of all marriages and divorces by his influence as the Qazi and Mahomedan Registrar appointed by Government. Under this head also falls the proposal of the Committee to extend the period of three months allowed for the appearance of parties for registration under Rule 23 to six months. It is generally considered the limit of three months is too short for the appearance of all parties.

8 Of course to secure the more efficient working of the Mahomedan Marriage Registration Act, it is desirable that the person actually officiating at the marriage should also be empowered to register the marriage. To this, however, there are practical difficulties. To meet the chief of these difficulties, it has been proposed that the register books should consist of loose sheets, numbered consecutively which the Mahomedan Registrar as Qazi would distribute to his Naib Qazis for the registration of such marriages as they might perform. But under the Mahomedan Marriage Registration Act, only an officer appointed under that Act is empowered to register marriages. So that no Naib Qazi who was not also a Mahomedan Registrar licensed under that Act could register such marriages. The Committee propose that any Mahomedan Registrar may be allowed to nominate any of his Naib Qazis (subject to the Naib Qazi being found qualified under Rule 3) for appointment as a Mahomedan Registrar with concurrent jurisdiction over so much of the head Mahomedan Registrar's jurisdiction as he may determine. Thus, a Mahomedan Registrar of a thannah, who is also a Qazi, might nominate Naib Qazis with concurrent jurisdiction over one or more of the different outposts within his jurisdiction. The Naib Qazi would only require a separate set of registers, and the index could be drawn up by the Mahomedan Registrar of the thannah. By the above plan of leaving the initiative in the nomination of Naib Qazis for the appointment of Mahomedan Registrars with the Mahomedan Registrar and Qazi of the thannah, the latter would be likely to nominate only so many Registrars as there might be work for within his jurisdiction. Again, a Mahomedan Registrar might nominate a friend or relative to be Mahomedan

Registrar at his head quarters, so that when the Mahomedan Registrar was absent on circuit there might be some one to register the ceremonies of such as attended the head quarters during the Mahomedan Registrar's absence on circuit. As the law is at present, there is no provision by which Naib Qazis can be empowered to register marriages without a special license under section 3 of the Act, and whenever a Mahomedan Registrar who is a Qazi is unwilling to nominate any of his Naib Qazis as Mahomedan Registrars within his jurisdiction he must be content to look on his Naib Qazis as mere agents to inform him of the celebration of marriages, and to induce parties to register marriages. The Mahomedan Registrar as Qazi would be able to make such terms with his Naib Qazis as might be agreed upon by the parties.

9 Another proposition laid before the Committee is to place the registration of kabinnama in the hands of Mahomedan Registrars. But to give effect to this proposal would require fresh legislation, empowering Mahomedan Marriage Registrars to register such deeds. The Committee venture to think that to withdraw the registration of kabinnamas from the ordinary registering officers and to place it in the hands of Mahomedan Registrars would be productive of beneficial results. It would improve the position of Mahomedan Registrars, attract better men to the appointment, and would probably lead to the more extended registration of both kabinnamas and marriages. Under the present procedure it is highly inconvenient that the parties are obliged to register the deed of dower and the fact of marriage before different officers and at different places.

10 The last points which the Committee would propose to remedy are Rules 18, 19, 20, 21 regarding the attendance of Mahomedan Registrars at marriages upon requisition by the parties. By Rule 18, any party requiring the attendance of a Mahomedan Registrar at a ceremony of marriage may make an application to the Mahomedan Registrar to that effect but his attendance under the rule is discretionary with the Mahomedan Registrar himself. Under Rule 19 the Mahomedan Registrar may travel on circuit or not, but if the Mahomedan Registrar decides to proceed on circuit he is bound to issue notice specifying the dates and the places to be visited on such tour, and the Mahomedan Registrar is bound to attend on the requisition of any resident of any place included in the said circuit if notice has been served on the Mahomedan Registrar requiring his attendance a week before his arrival at that place. Under Rule 20, the Mahomedan Registrar is bound to give effect to priority of application if any question of precedence arises, and under Rule 21 the Mahomedan Registrar is prohibited from demanding more than a fixed scale of commission and 4 annas a mile travelling expenses under Rule 18, or of more than Rs 2 without any travelling expenses under Rule 19.

The Committee consider these rules cumbrous and unnecessary. There is no control and supervision to enforce the observance of such rules. The Committee would prefer to leave the matter to be settled between the Mahomedan Registrar and the public, fixing a lower limit of fees of Rs 3, and 3 annas a mile, travelling allowance, more within the means of the classes who would chiefly resort to registration. The Committee think an active Mahomedan Registrar would proceed on circuit at times and to places where ceremonies requiring registration would be most likely to occur, and would accept such fees as the parties might be willing to give. If his attendance was required on any special occasion, the parties should pay one general fee analogous to the issue of a commission in the Registration Act, especially when it is considered that the Mahomedan Marriage Act provides for the acknowledgment of a marriage or khula on behalf of a pardanashin by the agency of a wakil.

11 In conclusion, the Committee regret that without fresh legislation they are unable to put forward any better suggestions than the above for the remedy of the acknowledged evils arising from the want of proper and more extended registration of marriages and divorces among the lower orders of Mahomedans in Eastern Bengal. But owing to the fact that such registration is voluntary, and owing to the apathy of those classes of the Mahomedan population for whose social regeneration the Mahomedan Marriage Registration Act was first passed, the Committee can only hope that in time the Mahomedans of Eastern Bengal may be brought to appreciate the advantages of registration of these ceremonies by experience and by the teaching and example of the local heads of their communities.

REVISED RULES UNDER ACT I (B C) OF 1876

1 As soon as the Act has been extended to any district under section 1, the District Registrar shall nominate a sufficient number of persons possessing the qualifications specified in Rule 3 to be licensed as Mahomedan Registrars under section 3. The District Registrar shall also specify the limits within which each of the persons so nominated shall exercise the functions of a Mahomedan Registrar.

2 The District Registrar's nomination shall be submitted to the permanent Committee in Calcutta, and shall be accompanied by the original application of the candidate in the form appended together with a certificate of good moral character and (unless the applicant holds a certificate of qualification from any Madrasah) every candidate shall be required to furnish a certificate of his possessing sufficient acquaintance with the Arabic language and the Mahomedan law of marriage and divorce, signed by three Mahomedan gentlemen of respectability and position and countersigned by the District Magistrate or District Judge.

3 Candidates selected for the post of Mahomedan Registrar should be possessed of sufficient acquaintance with the Arabic language and Mahomedan law of marriage and divorce, and be of good moral character. Preference shall ordinarily be given to ex-Qazis and Government pensioners being Mahomedans, Maulvis, Khundlars and Mullahs who reside, or are willing to reside at a convenient place within the limits of the proposed jurisdiction, provided they are possessed of the above qualifications. But no person shall be nominated merely by reason of some supposed hereditary right.

4 The limits within which a Mahomedan Registrar shall be licensed to act shall coincide with the limits of a sub-district under the Indian Registration Act or with the jurisdiction of one or more police stations or parts thereof as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct. The head quarters shall be at some convenient place within those limits.

5 The District Registrar's nomination with the accompanying applications and certificates shall be forwarded to Government by the permanent Committee with their remarks and recommendations. Should the nomination of the District Registrar be disapproved, the District Registrar may be requested to submit a fresh nomination or the permanent Committee may select any other candidate. For this purpose a list of candidates willing to serve as Mahomedan Registrars in any district to which they may be appointed, shall be kept in the office of the Inspector General of Registration.

NOTES ON THE REVISED RULES

Rule 3 — It is considered essential that the candidates selected for appointment as Mahomedan Registrars should possess some acquaintance with Arabic and the Mahomedan law of marriage and divorce. This is the cardinal point for which Nawab Abdol Latif contends that the Mahomedan Registrars selected have not been men of sufficient standing and learning to command the respect of the communities over whom they have been appointed. If the District Registrars are unable to find such men in their own districts, Nawab Abdool Latif thinks that candidates can be found from the different madrasahs who would be willing to accept such appointments as in the case of Rural Sub Registrars many of whom are residents of distant districts, who make their homes in the districts to which they are appointed. The concluding portion of the rule whereby Sub Registrars of Assurances being Mahomedans may be nominated Mahomedan Registrars has been omitted. A Sub Registrar of Assurance is an officer who cannot leave his registry office (except to execute commissions or on leave). He would be unable to proceed about his jurisdiction with the freedom a Mahomedan Registrar should without detriment to his Registration duties.

Rule 2 — It is thought advisable to encourage men of learning and education to come forward for nomination as Mahomedan Registrars, by requiring a certificate of proficiency from a madrasah or a certificate from three Mahomedan gentlemen of position of acquaintance with Arabic and the Mahomedan law of marriage and divorce. The application may also be countersigned by the District Judge, as it is pointed out some applicants may not be acquainted with the District Magistrate.

Rule 5 — If the District Registrar's nomination is not accepted, the permanent Committee can either call for a fresh nomination, or select a candidate from the list of applicants, registered in the office of the Inspector General of Registration as willing to serve anywhere.

Rule 13 — This enables a District Registrar to avail himself of the services of Mahomedan officers for inspection, in addition to the ordinary inspecting staff.

Rules 19 20 — Rule 19, while legalising the travelling on circuit by Mahomedan Registrars abolishes the cumbersome procedure of publishing notices to that effect, and requiring written applications to be filed before the Mahomedan Registrars. An active Mahomedan Registrar will proceed on circuit about the time of religious festivals or at times when marriage ceremonies are most frequent Rule 20 reduces the limit of charge for attendance at a ceremony to Rs 3 and Annas 3 a mile It must be noted that registration of any marriage divorce or khula can be obtained without the attendance at the registration office of any pardanashin woman by the provision in the law for the acknowledgment of the ceremony on behalf of a woman by a wakil Hence all ceremonies can be registered without the attendance of pardanashin women, and any parties who require the attendance of the Mahomedan Registrar should pay for that attendance at a reasonable rate, analogous to the system in the Registration Act of requiring all parties to attend before the registering officer and charging those who claim exemption from such attendance fees for the issue of a commission

4 The limits within which a Qazi shall be appointed to act shall coincide as much as possible with the limits of jurisdiction of Mahomedan Registrar a police thannah or outpost being taken as the unit of jurisdiction according to local circumstances as the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct

5 The Committee shall consider the District Registrar's nomination with the other applications and shall forward their nominations to Government with their remarks and recommendation

By virtue of the authority conferred upon His Honor the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal by Act XII of 1880 (an Act for the appointment of persons as Qazis) you are hereby appointed Qazi of thannah _____ for the celebration of marriages and the performance of other rites and ceremonies, when application is made to you to perform any such functions

2 It will be your duty carefully to observe the provisions of the above mentioned Act

3 This sanad (license) shall continue in force until it is revoked or suspended by the said Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

By order of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

7 When a Qazi desires to give up his license or is about to leave permanently the local area for which he has been appointed Qazi, he shall report the fact, tender his resignation and forward his license for cancellation and return to Government.

8 Every Qazi shall provide himself at his own expense with a seal bearing the following superscription in the Persian character —“The seal of the Qazi of thannah.”

This seal shall remain in the personal custody of the Qazi and shall be delivered up with his license upon the death, removal, or resignation of the Qazi.

9 Every Qazi shall be empowered to appoint any number of Naib Qazis within the local area for which he holds a license. He shall submit the names of the said Naibs for the consideration and approval of the District Registrar and when approved by the District Registrar the Qazi shall give each of his Naibs a letter of appointment bearing his signature and seal and countersigned by the District Registrar.

10 When a Qazi suspends or removes any of his Naib Qazis, he shall record a proceeding in his diary or ‘rozenamchah’ specifying the offence for which he suspends or removes the Naib Qazi after allowing the Naib every opportunity of submitting an explanation and of making due submission. When a Qazi removes his Naib Qazi, he shall recall and revoke the letter of appointment granted to the said Naib.

11 The District Registrar shall keep a register of Qazis and of the Naib Qazis appointed by the Qazis respectively. In the event of any Naib Qazi being removed by his Qazi, as provided for in Rule 10 the Qazi shall forward notice of the fact to the District Registrar who shall make the necessary correction in the register.

12 Every Qazi shall keep a diary (rozenamchah) of his proceedings and the ceremonies he performs, the names of the parties, the dates on which, and the places where, he attends to perform such ceremonies. Such diary shall be liable to inspection whenever necessary by inspecting officers of the Registration Department, or any one specially deputed by the District Registrar for that purpose.

NOTES ON THE RULES FOR THE QAZIS

Rule 3 —It is absolutely necessary for the working of the Mahomedan Marriage Act that the only Qazis at first appointed should be the Mahomedan Registrars. At present, probably, Qazis exist in some form or other and the appointment of Mahomedan Registrars as Qazis under the Act would only give them prestige and strengthen their hands as regards the registration of marriages and divorces which is the result to be attained. Hereafter the post of Qazi would be thrown open to all applicants.

Rule 6 —Under clause 2 of the license it will not be possible to require the Qazis to consent to bind themselves under rules issued by the Lieutenant Governor because the power of making rules is not reserved under the Act under which the license is issued.

Rule 10 —This does not provide for any appeal by a Naib Qazi against suspension or dismissal because section 3 of the Act expressly gives the Qazi the power of suspending & removing his Naib. The only remedy, if any, would be for the Naib to sue in the civil court.

Rule 1 —It is considered advisable that every Qazi should keep some record of his Acts and deeds as Qazi and that in cases of necessity this record or diary should be liable to inspection by inspecting officers. But the Committee would deprecate anything in the nature of inquisitorial investigations into the performance of their duties by Qazis.

The mean pressure temperature, &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h 16h, and 22h
The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.
The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.
The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.
The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.
The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation of Summary — The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the year. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast by 100. The normal means of the rainfall are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-stations. The total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A for the past one year. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head district names are the stations for the period in question during the past 12 years. The means for the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received, one on which at least an hundredth of an inch fell.

The weather during the past week has been that which usually occurs immediately before the setting in of the south west monsoon. Heavy rain has fallen on the Burmah coast and it is almost certain that the south west monsoon has commenced on both the Burmah and Arracan coasts. In Northern India the temperature was excessive during the week. This gave rise to a steady fall of the barometer in the Gangetic plain and delta during the week which was accompanied by a steady and continuous increase in the strength of the sea winds blowing into Bengal from the head of the Bay. On the last three days of the week unusually strong winds blew over the greater part of the Province, which in some cases almost approached a gale. As usually happens with strong sea winds in Bengal due to excessive temperature little rain fell during the period of their greatest force but as will be seen in next week's reports heavy rain fell over the greater part of the Province when they commenced to diminish in strength.

Pressure diminished steadily in every part of the Province until the 29th when it was more than a tenth of an inch below the normal pressure of the day. It fell during the period from the 24th to the 29th on an average throughout the Province. The fall was greatest in South Behar and produced a small but well defined barometric depression in that district on the 28th 29th and 30th. Pressure increased slightly on the 30th. The mean pressure of the week was below the average at all stations except Chittagong. The deficiency ranged between 0.2 and 0.4 and was greatest in the northern districts of South West Bengal.

Temperature was as during the previous week excessive over the whole Province (excluding Chittagong). It increased considerably in Behar and Chutia Nagpur and very high maximum temperatures were registered. The following were the highest —

Gya	116.2	on the 30th
Chyebassa	114.5	, 30th
Dehree	113.5°	, 28th
Ariah	113.4°	, 30th
Doomka	112.7°	, 30th
Raneegunge	112.5°	, 30th
Buxar	112.4°	30th

The 30th was a very hot day the hottest day during the present year up to date. The mean temperature of the week was 6° above the average in Chutia Nagpur, and between 2° and 3° above it in Behar Orissa and South West Bengal. The excess was greatest in Chutia Nagpur, as hot westerly winds prevailed there during the whole week.

Winds as already remarked increased in strength generally during the week. They were somewhat variable in direction in South Behar where westerly winds advanced and retreated with the variations of the strength of the winds in Upper India. They were normal in direction over the remainder of the Province.

Humidity and cloud — The humidity of the air during the week was slightly greater than usual. In South Behar it varied very considerably with the changes of wind. Low humidities were observed in Chutia Nagpur and the more westerly districts of South Behar. The most remarkable were—

Hazaribagh	9	on the 29th
Gya	11	28th
Dehree	11	, 28th
Buxar	11	, 28th
Ranchi	12	, 29th

The sky was clear during the week in the greater part of Behar and in Chutia Nagpur, and more or less clouded in Bengal and Orissa.

Rainfall — The rainfall of the week was unusually small and below the average in every part of the Province except North Bengal. A few light showers fell on the 24th (i.e., the 24 hours preceding 6 p.m. of that day).

General and in many cases heavy rain was received in North Bengal, South West Bengal, and the western districts of East Bengal on the 25th. The heaviest rainfalls were —

Atia in the Mymensingh district	3.70	inches
Julpigoree	2.86	, "
Sherpore in the Bogra district	2.70	, "
Raigunj in the Dinagepore district	2.55	, "
Rungpore	2.35	, "

Fairly general rain again fell on the 27th in the northern districts of East Bengal and in North Bengal, heaviest in the Cooch Behar, Julpigoree and Rungpore districts. The heaviest falls were—

Micklegunj in the Cooch Behar district	3.55	inches
Matabhanga	2.32	, "
Cooch Behar	2.23	, "
Kurigram in the Rungpore district	2.31	, "
Siliguri	2.25	, "

These three districts in North Bengal received frequent moderate showers during the remainder of the week. Elsewhere little or no rain occurred. Hence the greater part of

North Bengal received average rainfall during the week South West and East Bengal obtained from 10 to 60 per cent of their normal amount No rain fell in Orissa Chutia Nagpur or Behar except the Sonthal Pergunnahs

The only districts which received rainfall in excess of the normal amount were the Julpigori Rungpore Dinagepore and Bogra and Pubna districts

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday the 30th of May 1884 —

Increase in the number of Junior and Middle Scholarships to be awarded at the Examinations of 1885

THE University has altered the time of holding the Entrance Examination from December to April, and the sessions of colleges will henceforward begin in June instead of in January. The time of holding the middle scholarship examinations has also been altered from October to March, and high schools in which those scholarships are tenable, will henceforward re open in June. These changes make it probable that a much larger number of candidates than usual will present themselves at the Entrance and middle examinations of 1885, including many who would otherwise have waited for the examinations next following. The Government of Bengal has consequently sanctioned a proposal to increase the number of junior scholarships to be awarded at the Entrance examination of 1885 by one third, and the number of middle scholarships by one half. These scholarships and all awarded in subsequent years, will, as hitherto, be tenable for 24 months but the stipend will henceforward be payable from the beginning of the session generally in June.

2 The present holders of junior scholarships will be allowed to read free of tuition fees for the time that will elapse between the expiration of their scholarships and the close of the extended session. The free scholarships awarded to middle scholars after the expiry of their stipends will be similarly extended.

The 23rd May 1884

A W CROFT, Director of Public Instruction

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE METEOROLOGICAL REPORTER TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1883 84

THE Bengal Meteorological Department was under my control during the whole of the past official year, except the months of August, September and October, when I was absent on privilege leave. Mr Alexander Pedler, who had acted previously for me on four occasions was again appointed to officiate as Meteorological Reporter during my absence.

During the past year the extensions of the Bengal Meteorological Department, which were proposed and sanctioned during the preceding year, and the character, extent, and scope of which were stated in my Administration Report for the year 1882 83, were completely and successfully effected. The past year has hence been one of considerable importance in the working of this department, and it seems desirable to place on record a statement of the manner in which the proposed extensions were carried into effect during the year.

The proposals which were finally sanctioned in March 1883 by the Government of India, at the request of the Government of Bengal, authorized and provided for a number of changes, of which the following were the most important — 1st — The establishment of a large number of additional stations recording observations at 10 A.M. only, to be distributed throughout the province in such a way as to give a fairly complete view of all the more important meteorological changes in the province.

2nd — Provision for additional inspection of the observatories at all seasons of the year, so that the source of any error in the observations detected by the examination of the returns sent to the office might be immediately traced, if necessary, by a visit of an inspecting officer to the observatory. By this means errors, whether due to instrumental changes, or to carelessness, or ignorance, or other defects on the part of the observer might be speedily rectified, and the accumulation of inaccurate observations prevented.

3rd—Special arrangements for the speedy and continuous transmission of the meteorological and rainfall observations taken throughout the province, day by day, to the Bengal Meteorological Office where they may be at once reduced and tabulated, and the various meteorological returns be prepared for publication without any unnecessary delay.

4th—The publication of daily weather reports for the province of Bengal during the south west monsoon, or from May 15th to November 15th, and of weekly and monthly meteorological and rainfall returns in the Calcutta Gazette with short summaries giving the more important features of the weather and rainfall for the period in question, and their distribution to district officers and certain officers in the Irrigation, Public Works, and other departments.

5th—An increase in the number of clerks in the Bengal Meteorological Office in order to enable the additional work to be performed fully, accurately, and rapidly. A considerable increase was necessary, in order not merely to deal with the larger number of observations transmitted to this office in consequence of the increased number of observatories, but also to bring up and to maintain the whole of the office work up to date, and to go through the whole of the observations taken at the older established stations and obtain daily and weekly means of the elements of meteorological observation in order to enable the peculiarities of the weather for any period in discussion to be stated quantitatively as deviations from the normal or average conditions for that period.

The scheme in its final and complete form was submitted by the Government of Bengal to the Government of India on the 29th January 1883 and sanction was granted by the Government of India on terms which were accepted by the Government of Bengal. These terms were in effect that the Bengal Government should contribute a sum from its provincial funds equal to the estimated cost of the extensions to the Imperial Meteorological grant, and that the money should be expended in carrying out the proposals of the Government of Bengal, but that the control and supervision of the additional observatories should be exercised by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India. The effect of this is that the whole of the observatories now established in Bengal are, as before, subject to the control and orders of the Imperial Reporter, and the working of every part of the system is under his supervision. This arrangement has been perfectly satisfactory during the past year. It has secured on the one hand the extension of the department, which was considered essential by the Government of Bengal, whilst it has maintained uniformity of system and control by a single head—most important features in a scientific department, such as a Meteorological Department is or ought to be.

Establishment of additional observatories—The stations at which it was finally decided to establish observatories were as follows—

Orissa	Balasore
South West Bengal	{ Midnapore
	{ Rangunge
	{ Noakholly { Burrissaul
East Bengal	{ Serajunge
	{ Commillah { Furreedpore
	{ Mymensingh
	{ Rampore Beaulah
North Bengal	{ Dinagepore
	{ Rungpore
	{ Julpigoree
	{ Bhagulpore
	{ Chupra
Behar	{ Motihari
	{ Buxar
	{ Arrah
	{ Dehree
	{ Nya Doonka.
Sonthal Pergunnahs and Chutia Nagpur	{ Ranchi
	{ Chyebassa

It was originally intended to establish and work these observatories entirely through the agency of the Public Works Department, but this was found to be in a few cases (viz Serajgunge, Chyebassa, Ranigunge and Nya Doomka) impracticable

As soon as the letter of the Government of India sanctioning the proposals was received (March 15th, 1883) instructions were issued by the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, to the Executive Engineers in whose divisions the stations selected for observatories were situated, requesting them to choose sites and arrange for the early construction of sheds and the selection of suitable officers in the establishment of the Public Works to take the observations. Copies of plans of the pattern thermometer shed approved and adopted by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India were sent and a few rules for guidance in the selection of a suitable site. It was originally intended to commence the work of observation under the new system from the 1st of April, but this was of course not possible in consequence of the sanction of the scheme by the Government of India not being received until nearly the end of March. As early erection of the sheds and the establishment of the observatories was an imperative necessity in order to commence the publication of the Bengal Daily Weather Reports on the 1st May, it was necessary to leave the selections of sites entirely to the judgment of the Executive Engineers or their subordinates. In the great majority of cases very suitable sites were chosen, and the sheds erected as rapidly as could be expected under the circumstances. In one or two cases unexpected difficulties arose in obtaining well exposed sites, the local authorities opposing the erection of the shed. In one case the Executive Engineer, after the shed had been built on a suitable site was ordered by the Commissioner of the Division to take it down and erect it on a distant and much more objectionable site.

The following table gives the dates on which observations were first taken and transmitted to the Bengal Meteorological Office at the newly established observatories —

METEOROLOGICAL DIVISION	Station	Date of commencement
Orissa	Balasore	22nd May 1883
South West Bengal	Midnapore	1st June

Inspection of observatories—This is, as I have frequently pointed out, of the utmost importance in order to secure continuous accuracy of observation. It is the one part of my duties as Provincial Reporter which I can only perform during the cold weather vacation. In consequence of the changes in the college vacations recently introduced I shall have less opportunity than previously of inspecting observatories. I proposed last year that an inspecting officer should be sanctioned who should perform the combined duties of draughtsman and inspecting officer. A passed student was obtained from the Thomason Engineering College, Roorkee. It was, however, found that his time was so fully occupied with the preparation of the ordinary and the additional rainfall charts (which I submitted to the Government during the course of the south west monsoon) that it became necessary to propose another arrangement. Advantage was taken of his transfer to the office of the Executive Engineer, Cawnpore, to appoint a draughtsman on a slightly lower salary, and I applied to Government to sanction the transference of the amount saved to increase the pay of the head clerk, on condition that he assisted me in the work of inspection. This arrangement was approved by Government. As it is inconvenient for both the head clerk and myself to be absent at the same time, I was only able to take him with me on inspection to a single observatory. After the termination of my cold weather vacation I sent him to inspect the observatories in Eastern Bengal. He did this in so efficient a manner as to fully satisfy me of his ability and capacity to perform the duties of inspecting officer. He will thus in future be of valuable assistance and enable me to secure the inspection of any observatory at any time that it may seem necessary or desirable.

The work of inspection during the past year was almost entirely confined to the cold weather period—November to March. The amount of inspection done will shew the value of this new arrangement. The following stations were inspected by myself—

Arrangements for transmission of the observations to the Central Office—The methods I proposed to employ for the regular transmission of the meteorological and rainfall observations were given in the last Administration Report.

The 10 A.M. observations taken at the various meteorological stations are forwarded daily to the office in various ways according to the position of the observatory with respect to telegraphic and postal communication and the purposes for which the observations are utilized.

Urgent telegrams are sent daily throughout the whole year by the following stations. These are required for the Bay of Bengal Weather Report—

Saugor Island	Dacca	Cuttack
Balasore	Chittagong	False Point

Similar telegrams are also sent by the following stations which are not in Bengal —

Diamond Island	Vizapatam	Nadias
Akyab	Cochinada	Nagapatam
Gopalpore	Masulipatam	Trincomalee
	Galle

The following stations send urgent or ordinary telegrams during the period, 1st May to 1st November, when the 10 A.M. observations are required for the compilation of the Bengal Weather Report —

Mymensingh	Furneah	Rampore Beaulah
Comillah	Durbhunga	Bhawalpore
Serajunagar	Motihari	Lahna
Runpore	Chupra	Airah
Dinapore	Midnapore	Buxar
Jalpaiguri	Burdwan	Dehree
Darjeeling	Raniganj	Gya
	Jessore	Hazaribagh

The remaining observatories are at stations to which telegraphic communication has not yet been extended, hence they can only transmit their observations by post. These are—

Ranchi	Burrisaul	Furreedpore
Chyebassa	Noakholly	Berhampore
	Nya Doomka

Those stations which forward weather telegrams also transmit by post copies of the observations sent by telegraph, so that errors, due to transmission, are eliminated before the determination of the weekly and monthly averages for publication in the Gazette and the entry of the reduced observations in the volumes of records in which they are filed. In the case of the Imperial observatories this is done by means of Form B supplied by the India Meteorological Office and at the provincial or newly established observatories by means of postal cards. These are despatched daily by the first post after the time of observation.

The non telegraphing provincial third class observatories forward their observations daily by means of post cards. During the past year they have almost without exception transmitted the observations regularly, and have thus enabled me to publish the weekly meteorological returns in a complete form.

The only station, the name of which appears in the weekly meteorological forms, but which fails to send in its observations in time is Demang. This however is not an observatory maintained by Government, but a voluntary observatory started in 1881 by the medical officer.

The rainfall observations at the 166 rainfall-recording stations are forwarded mainly by postal cards daily or weekly.

If rain falls during any day, the amount is entered in a postal card, Form C, and sent off by the first train leaving the station after the hour of observation (6 A.M.) for Calcutta. The returns of actual rainfall are by this means forwarded immediately after occurrence. As returns are occasionally lost, all stations are also required to send a weekly return on a postal card giving the amounts (nil or otherwise) of the rain on each day of the preceding week. This is useful as a check on the daily returns as received, and also as confirming the non occurrence of rainfall during any week, which otherwise would be indicated only by the non arrival of daily post cards.

The number of postal card forms supplied to the observatories during the year was—

	Number
Form G for meteorological observations	9,450
„ C for daily rainfall	30,66
„ D for weekly rainfall	12,994

A few stations are so situated that postal communication is very slow, and the returns for the last day of the week and the weekly return itself would in variably be received too late for inclusion in the weekly rainfall report. In these cases special arrangements were made for the transmission of the weekly returns by dāk to the nearest telegraphic offices, from which they are telegraphed to Calcutta.

The rainfall stations which report weekly in this manner are—

Jamalpore	Ruma	Pooree
False Point	Sorah	Cox's Bazar
Saugor Island	Jellasore	Bhola
Rangamati	Jagatsingpore	Palamow
	• Barripada

The arrangements are thus somewhat complex and required some time to effect. However, the great majority of the officers co-operated most heartily, and the changes were made on the whole with less trouble and much greater readiness than I expected.

Publication of Returns—The frequent publication of meteorological statements giving the latest possible information was one of the most important features of the sanctioned extensions. This was carried out during the past year by the publication of—1st The Bengal Weather Report from the 15th of May until the 6th November. When the extended system was fully established, telegrams giving the 10 A. M. observations were received daily from 31 stations in the province. These were reduced and tabulated as they arrived. The whole of each day's telegrams were received and the observations tabulated ready for the press by 3.30 P. M. daily. A brief summary was then written describing in words the salient features and peculiarities of the weather of the previous 24 hours, and the whole sent off at 4 P. M. to the Bengal Secretariat Press, where it was printed in time for distribution to district officers by the mail of that evening. The work of distributing the report was done entirely by the Bengal Secretariat Press.

2nd A weekly meteorological and rainfall statement. The first part of this gives the average and extreme values of the elements of meteorological observations at all the observatories of the province for the week, and of the average district rainfall for the week, and its variation from the normal rainfall for the week. The second part gives the amount of the rainfall day by day for the preceding week at each of the 166 sub-divisional and rainfall recording stations, the total rainfall of the week, of the month up to date, and of the total rainfall from 15th May up to date, with corresponding normal or average amounts for comparison. A summary is added directing attention to the more important features of the meteorology for the week, more especially the distribution of rainfall. This return is published in the Calcutta Gazette every Wednesday morning, and gives the meteorological and rainfall observations for the week preceding the previous Friday evening.

3rd A monthly meteorological and rainfall statement published usually during the second week of each month, and giving averages of the observations taken at the 44 observatories during the preceding month, a complete statement of the daily rainfall during the month at the 166 rainfall recording or sub-divisional stations, and a summary giving the characteristics of the meteorology of the province during the previous month, and its more important points of difference from the normal weather of the period, and a brief analysis of the distribution of rainfall over the province during the month.

Preparation of daily averages—The only other point which it appears necessary to describe was the method adopted to obtain the daily and weekly averages of the barometric height, maximum and minimum temperature, and rainfall required for the comparative statements and columns in the daily and weekly weather reports. The only averages hitherto obtained and used in the office were monthly averages. The reduced observations were recorded on large forms, each form containing the observations at a single station for a month, and the averages of these observations. This was a sufficient and satisfactory mode of preserving the observations so long as all that was required was the preparation of monthly averages for the India Meteorological Office and for publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

The record of the observations in monthly sheets was on the other hand extremely inconvenient for the calculation of daily and weekly averages. It was hence found necessary to copy them into books specially prepared so that the observations for the same day of the year might be found in the same column. These books thus contain a systematic record of the elements of observation to which they refer, and enable the average values of those elements of observation at any of the meteorological stations to be immediately determined for a day, week, or any other short period. The tabulation of the results in this way has also the further advantage of enabling the highest and lowest values of the elements of observation at any meteorological station recorded since the establishment of the observatory at that station for any period of the year to be immediately ascertained.

Last year the 10 A M barometric readings, the maximum and minimum in shade temperatures and the rainfall observations taken at the eighteen observatories that have been established for some years in the province were copied from the monthly sheets into four large folio volumes, which will form the permanent record of these observations in future. If the strength of my office enable me to do it, I hope during the present year to have the humidity, cloud and wind amount tabulated in the same manner, when it will be possible to compare all the elements of observation (except wind direction) at 10 A M on any day of the year with the corresponding mean values for that day.

The rainfall observations at all the sub-divisional stations (160 in number) preserved in the office were also collected together and tabulated in the same manner, and the daily and weekly means obtained. These are the actual means and are employed for comparison in the weekly reports. The rainfall returns for each station will continue to be added so that the twenty-four folio volumes which contain these observations will form the permanent record of the rainfall of the province.

Five of these observatories, viz Dhubri, Hazaribagh, Cuttack, Chittagong and Saugor Island have self registering anemographs. At the three first named stations the anemographs are of the Casella pattern, which record the wind direction and amount at intervals of one hour. The remaining stations—Saugor Island and Chittagong—are provided with Beckley's anemographs which register wind direction and amount continuously. There were several breaks exceeding 24 hours in the working of these instruments, the dates of which are given in the following table —

St tions.	Date f ommencement f w k	Por o l l n nt w l s w l h instru t f der p 1833 81

Three of these observatories were visited during the cold weather viz Dhubri, Sibsagor, and Bankipore

Dhubri Observatory—Was inspected on the 14th and 15th of December 1883. No change of importance has been made in the position of the shed or the arrangement of the instruments since my last inspection in March 1882. The anemograph tower was erected shortly after that visit, and is situated on a fairly open site near to the thermometer shed. The tower is well built and in good repair. The barometer is kept in the lower room. The recording part of the anemograph is placed on a table in the upper room of the floor, which is by no means so steady and rigid as it ought to be for such an instrument. The observer is however very careful in looking after it, and has made one or two slight additions which not only show his interest in it, but which improve, to some extent the working of the instrument. The anemograph and barometer were both found to be in very good order. The barometer was also cleaned in order to free it from the large amount of oxidized mercury which had formed in the cistern.

The thermometer shed was in good order. The instruments were clean and in very satisfactory condition. The observatory continues to maintain its high character, and is thoroughly satisfactory in character and accurate and valuable in its observations.

Sibsagor Observatory—Was inspected on 20th to 22nd December 1883 for the first time since its establishment in 1874. The station is situated at a distance of about nine miles to the south of the Brahmaputra in a flat open district. Much of the country between the station and the river is covered with cane jungle. To the south of the station, at a distance of over 20 miles, the Nagai Hills rise up to a height of 2,000 to 6,500 feet and form a very marked feature. The Himalayas, the nearest snow peaks of which are at a distance of 70 miles, are also very distinctly visible in clear weather. The station itself is built on the banks of a very large square tank, about two miles in perimeter, the level of the water of which is about 20 feet above that of the adjacent country. The banks, supporting and containing this water, are very wide and large. The observatory is situated on ground formerly occupied by the civil jail on the eastern bank of the tank. The shed is unfortunately placed on the edge of the bank where it begins to slope down to a large shallow excavation, from which the earth was removed to form part of the bank, and is now filled with water. It is also shut in between two buildings (detached portions of the old jail), one of which is used by the observer as his residence, and the other as an office. The second or northern building contains the barometer. This instrument was placed in good light and was in good order, except that the surface of the mercury was oxidized. This was removed. The thermometers were tested and were all in good order. The shed was in fair condition. It was surrounded by a bamboo fence. The observer was requested to cut down several shrubs and high grass which interfered to some slight extent with the free circulation of the air in the shed. The anemometer and wind vane are placed on the roof of the building contain ing the barometer, to which access is given by a strong iron ladder. They were in good order. The only defect was that the anemometer was screwed to the top of a long iron rod fixed on the roof, and hence oscillated to some extent with the motion of the air. The observer was instructed to have a small brick pillar built and the anemometer fastened to a shorter rod, the lower end of which is to be buried in the brick pillar. The observer is very neat, careful, and accurate in his work, and the observatory in thoroughly good order. The observer deserves much credit for this, more especially as the station has hitherto been beyond the range of inspection by the Bengal Meteorological Office.

Bankipore—Was inspected on the 23rd of November 1883. No change has been made in the observatory since my last visit. It was found to be in the same satisfactory condition as last year.

Imperial third class observatories—These are 15 in number. Ten are situated in Bengal, one (Akyab) in Burmah, two (Silchar and in connection Tura) in Assam, and two (Gopalpore and Coconada) in Madras. The two last are maintained in connection with the Bay of Bengal Weather Service.

Special allowance of Rs 5 a month stopped for 2 months from January 1884 for neglect of duties.
Received a special allowance of Rs 10 a month for meritorious service.

I was unable to inspect the majority of these observatories during the cold weather college vacation which was fully occupied in visiting the Assam stations and the new or provincial third class observatories. Durbhunga, Gya, Darjeeling, and Jessore were visited by myself, Silchar by Mr. Blanford, Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India and Dacca by my head clerk. The majority of these observatories are satisfactory in character, and the observations accurate and reliable. Two of them, I regret to state, although slightly improved do not yet furnish observations upon which I am able to place implicit confidence. The observations sent in do not harmonize with those of the neighbouring stations, and the only possible inference I can form is that the discrepancies are due to carelessness or ignorance on the part of the observers. The observatories in question are those situated at Gya and Durbhunga. The only other explanation is that these stations possess very peculiar meteorological conditions, and that the discordance the observations at these stations present, when compared with those of neighbouring stations, is due to a want of uniformity in nature and not to defects in the observer or in his instruments. This solution of the discrepancy has been suggested in correspondence on the subject, but I am unable to accept it as the true solution, or to recommend it to Government as an explanation of the peculiarities in the observations at these stations.

Durbhunga Observatory—Was visited on the 20th of November 1883. The observer was absent from the station and had left his duties to be performed by a friend without giving any intimation to the Meteorological Office. As specific orders had been given to the observer on a similar occasion in November 1882) not to absent himself from his duties without giving the usual intimation to this office and obtaining the necessary sanction, the observer was called upon for an explanation. This was not satisfactory. The state of the observatory last year was disgraceful, and it was mainly in consequence of the observer's promise to be very careful in future and to carry out the various regulations and orders with respect to the taking of observations diligently and exactly that he was not deprived of his special allowance of Rs. 5 per mensem. As he has failed to comply with the clear and precise orders necessary to secure the continuity of accurate observation, I had no alternative but to recommend the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India to withdraw his special allowance for a period of six months when he will be again permitted to draw it, if in the interim his observations are found to be satisfactory in character by comparison with those at neighbouring stations.

The shed was in good order and the thermometers fairly clean. The barometer was also satisfactory. The clock which was sent a few months previously was out of order, apparently due to carelessness on the part of some one, as there were signs of its having been dropped, or of its having fallen down. The wind vane was excessively stiff and had evidently not been oiled for months. I turned it round through an angle of 120°, and a small puff of wind which caused the anemometer to make 30 revolutions in a minute had no effect in moving it. The wind directions at Durbhunga for months past are hence, I fear, of little value. The anemometer was clean and in fair order. The observatory has improved since last year, but is by no means satisfactory, and I am unable from my continued experience of the observer's carelessness and neglect of orders to place confidence in his observations. If considerable improvement does not occur during the next year, I shall be compelled to call the attention of the Government of Bengal to the unsatisfactory character of the Durbhunga observatory.

Dacca Observatory—My head clerk, who visited Dacca on his way to the new third class observatories in Eastern Bengal, reports as follows on the observatory at that station —

The Dacca observatory was inspected on 13th February 1884. The barometer was in the same position as on the last inspection. The room has, however, been converted into a sitting room for the use of the Superintendent of Telegraphs of the Dacca Division, and he suggested that the barometer should be placed in another room. It was therefore decided to remove it to one of the office rooms where a suitable exposure will be provided for it. (This has since been done.)

The thermometers were in good order, but very dirty. The bulbs of the wet bulb thermometers were thickly covered with encrustation. The observer was instructed how to keep them clean for the future The receiving bottle in the raingauge was found to be full of dust There was a depth of a least a quarter of an inch of earthy matter collected at the bottom

The anemometer and wind vane worked well They were clean and properly oiled

The observer takes his readings accurately The want of cleanliness in the thermometer shed is a fault which should be remedied An observer who is interested in his work will always be careful to keep every instrument he uses as clean as possible compatible with the conditions of observation, and want of cleanliness is an almost unfailing evidence of carelessness and inaccuracy of observations

Provincial third class observatories — These are the additional observatories established in accordance with the extended system sanctioned last year, and maintained from the Provincial Meteorological grant They are 22 in number The names of the Superintendents and observers at these stations is given in the following table —

As the orders of the Government of India sanctioning the proposals of the Government of Bengal for the extension of meteorological work in Bengal were not received until the middle of March (Revenue and Agricultural Department No 17 Meteo, dated 13th March 1883) it was not possible to arrange that the sheds should be built and the work of observation commenced by the date originally proposed, viz 1st April 1883

My college duties prevented my visiting the various stations to select the sites for the observatories, it was therefore necessary to leave this to the judgment of the Public Works officers. Instructions were communicated to them, and in the great majority of cases excellent sites were chosen. In some few instances difficulties of various kinds prevented the utilization of the most suitable site selected by the Public Works officer. In these cases sites more or less inconveniently situated and badly exposed were necessarily chosen. The observatories erected on these sites will, as the value of the extended meteorological system is recognized, I feel confident, be permitted to be removed to more suitable positions than they at present occupy.

I deemed it advisable to spend a considerable part of the college vacation in visiting these observatories to ascertain the condition of exposure of the instruments and to remedy any defects that might have arisen in the construction of the sheds, arrangement of the instruments and the methods of observation. The sites, it should be remembered, were selected by Public Works officers in accordance with instructions issued from this office, and the work of observation carried on by Overseers or Sub overseers of the Public Works Department who had received no previous training, and merely carrying out as they best could (frequently with the assistance of the Assistant Engineers or Executive Engineers) the methods and instructions as described in the Vade Mecum. The results, as will be seen from the following reports on the stations visited, were very much more satisfactory than I expected. A few defects were observed, but in the great majority of cases the work of observation was performed quite as satisfactorily and accurately as at the third class stations. The reports are given in the order of place and not in the order of time of inspection.

Rangunge Observatory—Was inspected twice during the year. The observatory is attached to the subsidiary jail, the hospital assistant who is in charge of the jail taking the observations. The shed is erected in a large open space enclosed by the jail walls, and is constructed in accordance with the standard plan. The walls enclosing this compound are from 6 to 10 feet high, and are at distances varying from 20 to 60 yards from the shed. The instruments were in good order. The rain gauge is placed in the open near the observatory shed, at a distance of about 10 yards.

The barometer is kept in the office room, and is in good light.

The wind vane and anemometer are placed on the roof of the office room, and are well exposed, as they are on the highest part of the jail buildings, which are on the highest ground in the station, and at a considerable distance from large trees.

The observer had some difficulty in learning to read the barometer and anemometer correctly. He was not able to procure any assistance in Rangunge, nor was he able to leave his post to come to Calcutta for a course of instruction at the Alipore observatory. Hence my two visits were chiefly spent in teaching him to read these instruments correctly.

The observer appears to be careful in his work and willing to do his best. The observations have been during the latter part of the year fairly satisfactory and trustworthy.

Noakholly Observatory—The Noakholly observatory was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 6th February 1884. The shed is in the Circuit House compound, and is generally built in accordance with the standard plan. The eaves were found to be $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet higher than they ought to have been. The instruments were in good order. The anemometer worked very heavily. On examination it was found to be defective. The teeth of the cog wheels were worn away. The instrument was returned to Calcutta and replaced by another.

The observations at Noakholly have hitherto been taken by the Overseer, who is frequently obliged to leave the station on duty, there have hence been frequent breaks in the observations. The Magistrate suggests certain changes, which will, if carried out, secure continuous observations. He proposes that the shed be removed to the jail compound (in which there is a very large open space where it would be conveniently placed) and that the anemometer and wind vane be placed on the roof of the collectorate and the barometer in one of the rooms of the Collector's cutcherry (viz. the Collector's waiting-room). If this were done, the civil hospital assistant, who is in charge of the jail dispensary, would be able to take the observations, and as he is very intelligent and lives in quarters in the jail, his appointment as observer would secure regular and continuous, and in the opinion of the Magistrate, accurate and trustworthy observation. The changes suggested by the Magistrate will therefore, if possible, be carried out.

Burrisaul Observatory—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 31st January and 1st February 1884. The observatory is situated at a distance of about one and a half miles from the circuit house bungalow and close to the Burrisaul river. To the south of the observatory shed, at a distance of about 250 feet, is the dépôt for the night soil of the district jail prisoners (numbering 500). The site is objectionable on this and other accounts. The ground is low. The site is near the river, and during the rains, when it is full, the water overflows and reaches within 50 or 60 feet from the shed. There is also a large tope of mango and other trees at a short distance to the south west. The site is open in other directions. The barometer is, however, kept in the Public Works Department inspection bungalow, at a distance of one and a half miles from the shed, and a single set of observations hence requires two observers, one to read the barometer and the second the remaining instruments. The shed was originally erected in the circuit house compound, but was removed by the orders of the Commissioner according to information received by the Inspector.

The Magistrate suggested its retransfer to its previous site, where it would be near to the room in which the barometer is kept, and also to the Public Works offices in which the observer is employed.

The instruments were found clean and in good order. The wind vane and anemometer are placed on posts about 10 feet high. The barometer is kept in the Public Works Department inspection bungalow, and was found to be in good condition. The Public Works Department Overseer, who has taken the observations since the establishment of the observatory, takes much interest in his work and reads the instruments carefully and correctly.

Seragunge Observatory—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 20th, 21st, and 22nd of February 1884. It is situated in the grounds of the telegraph office close to the circuit house bungalow. The district is low and flat. The soil is sandy and very porous, and dries rapidly after rain. In the rainy season the whole district is flooded.

The observing shed is wellbuilt, and is of the standard pattern, but of dimensions slightly different from those in the Vade Mecum. The whole structure stands on masonry work two feet eight inches from the ground. This was necessary as the ground is covered with water during the rains to a depth occasionally exceeding one foot and a half. The eaves of the shed being so high from the ground, the sun and rain strike inside the shed. The cage was found to be shaky. This has since been made right. The barometer is kept in the signal room of the Telegraph office, which is a thatched shed. There is no pucca Government building near the Telegraph office where the barometer can be placed. The instrument is in good order.

The cage instruments are in good order, excepting the wet thermometer, the bulb of which was partially covered with encrustation. This was owing to the use of well water for the reservoir. The observer was cautioned against the use of any water except rain and distilled water, and in their absence well boiled water.

The rain gauge requires to be embedded in masonry work at least one foot high to protect it from being flooded over during the rains. The observer did not know that he had to use the receiving bottle for the gauge. It was kept aside in a godown. His attention was drawn to the chapter in the Vade Mecum on "Rain gauge."

The wind-vane and anemometer are placed on the roof of the sub collectorate, a one-storied building about 15 feet high. The instruments are reached by a strong ladder, and are at present fixed on two small blocks of wood on the parapet of the roof, but they are likely to be blown down. The observer has therefore been asked to submit an estimate of the cost of erecting masonry pillars on which to place the instruments as directed in the Vade Mecum. It is proposed to erect a block of two storied buildings for the collectorate, and when they are completed, the wind vane and anemometer might be removed to the top of the new building, which will give a good exposure for the instruments.

The level of the barometer has not yet been determined for want of a datum level, the nearest bench mark being several miles off from the station.

Commillah Observatory—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 9th February 1884. The station is situated on level ground. Throughout the district, are scattered numerous large tanks. To the north east rise the Tipperah Hills, which are visible from Commillah in clear weather, and form a prominent feature in the landscape. The river Goomtee passes to the east of the station of Commillah at a distance of about half a mile, and to the west the Megna, a deep and very broad stream.

The barometer is kept in a room of the road cess buildings and is in good order. The thermometer shed is erected on the western edge of a large tank, at a distance of about 10 feet from the edge of the water. It is well built and in good order. Except on the side towards the tank, it is surrounded by a fence at a distance of about 30 feet from the shed. The maximum thermometer was found to be out of order, and another was called for by telegram. The wind vane and anemometer were originally placed on the roof of the collectorate, at a distance of about 150 feet from the room containing the barometer and 300 feet from the thermometer shed. The anemometer was returned to Calcutta as defective in August 1883. The roof of the collectorate is, however, not a very suitable place for the wind vane, as it is a low one storied building surrounded by tall trees, many double the height of the building. Hence the wind observations are not taken under satisfactory conditions, and it may be desirable to erect the wind vane and anemometer on posts or pillars in the open ground near the thermometer shed.

The observations are taken by the supervisor and two sub overseers of the Public Works Department, and have been accurate and satisfactory in character from the commencement. The shed is neatly constructed and the instruments very clean and in capital order. The condition of the observatory generally reflects very great credit on the supervisor.

Mymensingh Observatory—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 25th, 26th, and 27th of February 1884. The town is situated on the west bank of the Brahmaputra river, which runs as a shallow broad stream (during winter) with high banks. The whole of the district is level and open, with the exception of the Muddapore jungle, which lies to the southwest, comprising an area of about 45 miles in length by 6 to 16 miles in breadth. This part is slightly elevated, averaging in height some 50 to 60 feet above the general level. The district is also intersected by many small rivers.

The observatory is situated in an open field close to the zillah and vernacular schools, the collectorate, and the Public Works Department offices. The shed is of the standard pattern and well built. The ventilating hole required to be replaced by a section of a bamboo as directed in the Vade Mecum. The site is open, but being near the play grounds of the two schools, the instruments are subject to interference from the boys. There is a bamboo fencing round the shed, but it does not appear to be strong enough to keep off mischievous boys. It is desirable therefore to have a strong wooden fence round the shed with a small gate for entrance, which should remain closed against outsiders.

The barometer is kept in an office room of the Public Works Department, and well placed. The instrument is in good order. The height of the mercury in the cistern of the barometer above sea level has not been determined for want of a datum level. The observatory was without the hygrometers. They were reported to have been broken by some of the boys of the neighbouring schools. The maximum and minimum thermometers were properly exposed and were in good order. From a local investigation of the circumstances attending the breakage of the thermometers, the Head Clerk ascertained that the mischief was due to one Rajendro Kissors Roy of the 4th class of the Hardinge School, who was willing to pay for new instruments. The head master was asked to recover from the boy Rs 20—the cost of the thermometers—and pay it into the treasury.

The wind vane and anemometer are placed on two pillars on the top of the turret clock tower in the collectorate, 52 feet high. The position is quite open and equal to that of the Alipore observatory. The rod of the wind vane (Adie) was found to be slightly bent, this was (as reported) owing to the injury it had received during transit to Mymensingh. The instruments worked well and were found to be well oiled. The rain gauge is well placed. The fence was a little too near. It has been removed further off.

The observer reads his instruments correctly. The Assistant Engineer takes great interest in the proper working of the observatory, and has trained the observer (a sub overseer) well. The Public Works Department is providing a ladder to reach the top of the clock tower.

Furzedpore Observatory—Was inspected by my head clerk on the 16th of February 1884. The shed is situated in the centre of a fairly large open maidan near the police lines, and at a short distance from the circuit house.

It is well and strongly built, but, through some oversight, not exactly in accordance with the Bengal pattern. The chief defects were that there was no ventilating hole in the roof to permit the escape of heated air, and that the eaves were somewhat too high. These defects have since been remedied.

The thermometers were generally in very fair condition. The wet bulb was covered with a thickish encrustation in consequence of the use of tank water instead of rain water. The barometer is kept in a room in the jail building, and was found to be in good order. The rain gauge is placed near the observer's home at a distance about half a mile from the shed, and was in good order. The wind vane and anemometer were erected on a platform supported by posts with a bamboo ladder to reach them. The latter instrument was somewhat dirty. It was hence taken down and cleaned, and the observer instructed in the method of cleaning and oiling it.

The only defect in the observatory is that the instruments (barometer and rain gauge) are situated at considerable distances from one another and the shed, and also from the house and office of the observer. My head clerk suggested the removal of the shed to a position in a field belonging to the municipality. I have, however, not thought it advisable to make any change at present, as the observations under the present system seem to be quite trustworthy and taken at the proper hour daily, and the removal of the observatory from one part of a station to another, to suit the convenience of the observer, would speedily do away with uniformity in the conditions of observation and registration.

Rampore Beaulah Observatory—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 10th and 11th January 1884. The observatory is situated near the Executive Engineer's office at about a mile and a half from the city. The river Ganges (Padma) flows as a deep wide stream to the south of the observatory at a distance of about 500 feet from the shed.

The barometer is kept in a room in the Executive Engineer's office. It was in a bad position as the light came directly from the front. The instrument has since been removed to a better and more secure position in the same room. The sea level height has not been affected thereby.

The thermometer shed is of the standard pattern, but the air hole on the top of the shed instead of being a ventilating pipe was found to be of the form of an elliptical hole (about 2 feet by 1½ feet) permitting the sun's rays to enter at certain hours of the day, and affecting the thermometric readings. This has been remedied.

The thermometer cage instead of being set upon the southern pole in the shed had been fixed by means of two additional posts in the middle of the north and the south poles supporting the ridge. The observer was asked to set it in the proper place.

The thermometers were in good order with the exception of the wet bulb hygrometer. The bulb of this instrument was found to be completely coated with a thick deposit, and the muslin had evidently not been changed for some time, as it was very dirty. The muslin was removed. Instructions for keeping the instrument in order were also given to the observer.

The anemometer and wind vane are placed on the terrace roof of the Executive Engineer's office, and appear to be in a satisfactory position. There are several high trees to the north and north east of the building, at a distance of about 100 or 150 feet from it, but they probably do not influence the wind direction to any appreciable extent. The anemometer was full of dirt and appeared to work with much friction. It was taken down, cleaned and oiled and reset in position, and the observer instructed to keep it clean in future.

The rain gauge is in the garden compound of the Executive Engineer. The mouth of the funnel was not level. The funnel hole was completely choked up by dirt and earth. The rain receptacle was also far from being clean.

The observer read the instruments well.

Dinapore Observatory—Inspected by my Health Clerk on the 8th January 1884. It is situated near the circuit house in a fairly open space, but on low ground. The river Poonarvava flows to the west and north west of the observatory at a distance of about one fourth of a mile.

The barometer is placed in a brick built store room of the Public Works Department, and is in good light. The instrument was clean and in good working order. The shed is entirely of bamboo work, but strong and well thatched, and laid out according to the standard plan.

The thermometers are all properly exposed and in very good order. The anemometer and wind vane are placed on the terrace of the Judge's court house at a distance of about 725 feet from the thermometer shed. To the north and north west of the building, at a distance of 100 to 140 feet, there are several large trees which overtop the instruments on the terrace. The instruments were in good order.

The rain gauge is well placed, but the fencing was too near the instrument. The observer was instructed to remove it to a further distance, and this has since been done.

The observer is a subordinate of the Public Works Department. He appears to take great interest in his work, and reads the instruments correctly.

Rungpore Observatory—The station of Rungpore is in the plains of Northern Bengal on low flat land between the rivers Teesta and Cossy. The observatory is erected on a large open maidan near the Collector's cutchery. The ground is somewhat low and apt to be flooded during heavy rains. The barometer is kept in an out room of the Collector's court, and is conveniently situated in a good light.

The thermometer shed is situated about 100 feet to the north west of the northern extremity of the Collector's cutchery. The post office is situated in about the same distance to the west. With the exception of these two buildings, the ground in the neighbourhood is very open and quite free from trees. The shed is very well built and was clean, and the instruments in satisfactory working order.

The anemometer and wind vane are erected on the school house—a building about one fourth of a mile to the south of the observatory. The building is a lofty one, and the instruments are placed on small brick pillars and are thoroughly well exposed. They are approached by substantial ladders.

The observatory is well built and the observations trustworthy. It reflects much credit on the Assistant Engineer who selected the site and superintended the erection of the observatory and the commencement of the work of observation.

Jalpaigore Observatory—Inspected on the 6th January 1884. The observatory is situated on a large open maidan near the Executive Engineer's office and within a few minutes' walk from the railway station. The site is open, as the nearest trees and buildings are at a considerable distance. The river Teesta flows past the station at a distance of about half a mile to the east and northeast of the observatory The banks of the river are low, and the district is alluvial

In the absence of any brick building near the observatory, the barometer is kept in a thatched godown belonging to the Public Works Department walled by thick durma mats all round It is in fair light and in good working order

The shed is constructed of bamboo on the pattern laid down in the Vade Mecum It is neatly and strongly built The thermometers are in good order The raingauge is well placed and free from any obstruction in all directions

The anemometer and wind vane are placed on a wooden platform 18 feet high, supported by poles with ladders to reach them The vane is correctly set The anemometer worked somewhat heavily and had evidently not been cleaned or oiled since its erection It was taken down, cleaned, oiled, and reset in position and the observer instructed how to keep it clean and in good working order The head clerk of the Executive Engineer's office is the observer He reads the thermometers correctly, but was doubtful and slow about the barometric and anemometric readings Fortunately the Executive Engineer is much interested in the observatory, and frequently takes the barometric readings, so that the barometric observations hitherto taken have generally been satisfactory

The observer was drilled for some time in reading the two instruments with fairly satisfactory results

Bhaulpore Observatory—Inspected on the 17th and 18th November 1883 The observatory is situated in the compound containing the dispensary and the Assistant Surgeon's quarters It is on fairly open ground and well situated The barometer is kept in a room of the dispensary, and is placed in a satisfactory light The anemometer and wind vane are both erected on the roof of the dispensary and are reached by strong ladders There are numerous trees in the neighbourhood, but they are at some distance away, and do not influence the readings of the wind gauging instruments The observatory is fairly good as to situation the instruments well placed and in good order The observer is also head clerk to the Executive Engineer, and is apparently both accurate and careful in his work

Chupra Observatory—Was inspected on the 5th and 6th of December 1883 The station is situated on the northern bank of the Ganges, and is in the midst of a flat, well cultivated alluvial district The observatory shed (well fenced in) is erected in the compound of the circuit house bungalow in one of the rooms of which the barometer is kept The shed is neatly and strongly built in accordance with the Bengal pattern, and was found in very good order The thermometers were all in good order, except the wet bulb, which, on examination, was found to be wrongly graduated This defective instrument had apparently been issued without due examination by some oversight in both the Bengal and India offices The readings of the wet bulb for the preceding months are hence entirely wrong, and the deduced humidity values of this station published in the Bengal daily weather reports during last year incorrect and misleading A new wet bulb was sent very shortly afterwards to replace this defective instrument

The wind vane and anemometer are erected on the roof of the road cess offices They are about 30 feet from the ground, and the neighbourhood is fairly open and free from large trees, so that the exposure is satisfactory

The raingauge is kept in the compound of the same buildings The distance between the circuit house bungalow and the road cess offices is between one fourth and half of a mile This separation of the wind recording instruments is not very satisfactory, but I was unable to propose any other arrangement, as it is very difficult to obtain a good exposure for wind vane and anemometer in a mofussil station

The instruments were all in good order, and the observer was accurate in his readings

Moohani Observatory—Inspected on the 21st and 22nd November 1883 The station is in the Chumparun district, and is situated in a level alluvial district about 20 miles to the east of the river Gunduck The observatory is placed on a large maidan or open space between the new collectorate offices and the railway. There are no trees in the neighbourhood, as the new collectorate buildings have been erected at some little distance from the old station, and hence its exposure is much more open than in the case of the majority of our stations, and represents more closely the atmospheric conditions of the surrounding district than is usually the case. The shed is very substantially and neatly erected. It is enclosed at some distance by an open lattice-work which allows complete circulation of the air, but prevents admission to the cattle which pasture on the maidan. The thermometers were all clean and in good working order, except the maximum in shade, which had apparently reached the observatory in a defective condition (it was replaced by a correct instrument). The barometer is kept in the Collector's waiting room. The light is good, and the instrument in efficient working order. The anemometer is placed on one of the highest points of the collectorate building in a capital position. The wind vane has been for the present placed on the top of the central pole of the shed, and is reached by means of a ladder reaching on the roof of the shed. This is the only instrument that is not satisfactorily placed, and it would be very desirable to have the wind vane placed on the top of the collectorate building in the position which I pointed out to the sub-overser and observer. Strong ladders should be provided to enable the observer to mount to the roof of the collectorate with comfort and rapidity.

The observatory is in a very satisfactory state, and reflects much credit on the observer.

Buxar Observatory.—Inspected on the 7th December 1883. The observatory at this station is in the fort. The interior of the fort is considerably elevated above the surrounding ground. At a short distance to the north of the fort the Ganges flows past. The river here has the same character as at Benares. It flows as a deep stream between high banks. The southern bank appears to be the higher at Buxar. There is no wide stretch of sand through which the river flows as is the case in the lower reaches of the river. The only building in the fort is the office and residence of the Executive Engineer of the Buxar Canal. The barometer is kept in a room of the office and is in a very good light. The shed is erected in a small depression in the mud wall enclosing the fort, and is well exposed. The instruments were very clean and in good order. The wind vane and anemometer are erected in one of the corner bastions, and are thoroughly well exposed and in perfect order. The observer read the instruments carefully and correctly. This observatory is in very satisfactory order, and the observations of high value for accuracy.

Arrah Observatory.—Was inspected on the 14th and 15th December 1883. The observatory is in the compound of the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Sone Canals at a short distance from the railway station. The site is fairly open. The shed is strongly built, and is in very good order. The barometer placed in a large office room and is in a capital light. The thermometers were all in good order, except the minimum in shade, the column of which had given some little trouble from its tendency to break. The observer was taught how to remedy this defect. The sun-gage is in open ground near to the observatory. The wind vane and anemometer are on the roof of the building, and are well exposed. The observatory is very satisfactory, and the observer careful and careful in his work.

Dehree Observatory.—Was inspected by my Head Clerk on the 2nd March 1883. It is situated in the Dehree Work shop dispensary compound. The shed is very old and shabby, and the thatching is thin and worn out. The instruments in the cage were not set according to the approved standard regulations. They were correctly placed. There should be a fence round the shed. The barometer is placed in a room in the dispensary building, and was found in good order.

The thermometers were clean and in good order. The minimum thermometer was found to have some cotton stuffing inside the hole on the wooden board near the bulb. This has since been removed. The presence of the cotton stuffing quite close to the bulb may have slightly affected the minimum thermometer readings of the past months.

The anemometer and wind vane are set up on the top of the dispensary bungalow. They are reached by a strong ladder and a flight of steps on the sloped roofing. The instrument is fixed to the upper end of a gas pipe five feet high, and is hence shaken by the slightest wind. The wind vane (Adie) is placed close to and on a level with the cups of the anemometer, and is kept in continual motion by the rotation of the anemometer. As an effect of the shaking the pivot screw nut on the back of the dial wheels of the instrument had been thrown off from the worm of the screw and lost. The observer was asked to have the nut replaced from the workshops. Other instruments were found to be quite satisfactory.

Baboo Peary Lall Sen, Assistant Surgeon, is the observer. He reads the instruments fairly, and takes much interest in his meteorological duties.

Nua Dookka—Is situated in the Sonthal Pergunnahs at an elevation of about 500 feet in the midst of the bio'en country between the plains of Southern Behar and the Gangetic Delta. The station itself is situated on fairly level and open ground, but in its neighbourhood there are many low hills more or less wooded.

The observatory shed is in the compound of the dispensary. The shed was erected according to the pattern plan under the supervision of the Civil Surgeon, and is well built and in good order. The instruments were properly exposed and in satisfactory condition. The barometer is well placed in the office room of the Civil Surgeon.

The rain gauge is placed at a short distance from the shed. The wind vane was erected on the top of a pole about 16 feet high, and was read from below. The anemometer was not in position, as there is no proper building near the dispensary with a flat roof on which to erect the wind vane and anemometer. I have since my visit sanctioned the erection of a brick pillar with a brick staircase for the accommodation of these instruments.

The observatory is in very satisfactory order, and the observer careful and accurate in his record of observations. The observatory is the only one as yet in operation in the large district known as the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and will, I trust, give observations of very considerable value. Its establishment was due to a suggestion from the Civil Surgeon, who has taken much interest in it, and made it one of the most efficient of those started last year under the new system.

Rainfall recording stations—There has been a slight increase in the number of rain recording stations during the past year. In 1882-83 the number was 162 and in the official year 1883-84 it was 167. This increase is due to the establishment of the following rainfall stations—

	Date of first sending in returns
Naraingunge	June 1883
Nowgong	July "
Silboree	do "
Dehree	do "
Lohardugga	January 1884

The returns from the great majority of these stations were received punctually and regularly. Delays occurred in the submission of the returns occasionally. The only stations which gave frequent trouble in this respect were Bagirhat (in Khoolna district) and Jagatsingapore (in the district of Cuttack). It was necessary on several occasions to call the attention of the sub-divisional officer in charge of the former station to the delay and inaccuracy in his rainfall reports.

Some of the rain registering gauges for revenue purposes (viz at Commillah, Mymensingh, Rampore Beaulah, Burisaul, Scrajgunge) were examined by my Head Clerk on his visit from district to district during his inspection of the local observatories. He found in the case of every rain gauge that he examined a large accumulation of dirt in the gauge and glass receiver, hence it appears to me probable that the rain gauge and appendages are generally not kept as clean as they ought to be. Experience shews me that carelessness in not keeping instruments clean is frequently accompanied with carelessness of observation. I am of course not able to assert that such is the case in the rainfall registration of Bengal. So far as I can judge from the examination of the rainfall returns, the registration of rainfall is effected with approximate accuracy, and the returns give generally consistent and continuous variations from district to district, which are the strongest proof of their correctness. In a few cases during the year they were evidently inconsistent, and probably wrong, due either to careless reading or neglect to measure the rainfall at the proper hour.

Instruments—The following tables shew the number of instruments that have been broken, or lost, or rendered unserviceable during the year 1883, at the Imperial and Provincial observatories, and of the instruments supplied to them during the year. The additional Provincial observatories, 22 in number, were furnished with complete sets of instruments shortly after the commencement of the official year. These instruments were received almost without exception in good order, due mainly to the careful way in which they were packed by the Mathematical Instrument Department.

(a) To replace a defective instrument

(c) Out of order in transit

The number of instruments destroyed by accident during the year was unusually small. The Chittagong, Purneah, Durbhunga, and Sibsagor observers each broke a thermometer during the course of the year whilst handling them at the time of taking the observations. No breakages have occurred during the year at the new stations. This is partly due to the fact that they are not provided with radiation thermometers which are the most liable to damage on account of the conditions of their exposure. It, however, indicates that the new observers have been very careful of their instruments, and it is exceedingly creditable to them.

A grass radiation thermometer was stolen at Dhubri. Efforts were made to discover the thief, but without success. Two thermometers, the wet and dry bulb thermometers, were broken at Mymensingh in the month of January. Suspicion fell on one of the boys of the vernacular school, and when my Head Clerk was in the station inspecting the observatory, he enquired carefully into the matter. The result was that the cost of the instrument was recovered from the guardians of the boy who broke the instruments and paid into the treasury.

A fifth table is added giving the instruments that have been returned by the observatories and made over to the store of the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India

Central Office —The office establishment on the 31st March 1884 consisted of the following clerks —

- Baboo Chand Charan Chatterjee, Head clerk
- , Purna Chandra Mukerjee, 2nd
- , Bireswar Mukerjee 3rd
- , Kamini Mohun Bose Tabulator
- , Joggeswar Roy
- , Debendra Nath Banerjee
- , Rakhal Das Chuckerbutty
- , Ashutosh Roy Chowdhuri
- , Nibharun Chandra Chatterjee
- , Joti Lal De
- , Nogendra Nath Paul, Draughtsman

The amount of work which had to be done in connection with the extension of the system was much larger than I anticipated, and it was therefore necessary to employ temporary clerks for some months. Four were employed from 16th May to 15th July, and three from 16th July to 15th November.

The clerks generally have assisted zealously and intelligently in carrying out the extensions, and have worked very laboriously during the past year. Baboo Chandī Charan Chatterjee has, as last year, been a most efficient Head Clerk. I desire also to place on record my recognition of the hard and useful work done by Baboos Kamini Mohun Bose and Debendra Nath Banerjee, the former of whom was in charge of the rainfall registration and tabulation, and the latter of the preparation of the Bay of Bengal and Bengal Daily Weather Reports.

The following gives a brief summary of the work done by the office during the year —

1 The correspondence which included 1,750 letters received and 2,440 letters issued, or 4,190 letters in all docketed and filed for reference. The following table will shew the very large increase that has taken place in the office correspondence consequent on the extension and the rapid rate at which the correspondence has increased during the past two years —

YEAR	Letters received	Letters issued	Total number
1879	621	579	1,200
1880	672	629	1,301
1881	601	635	1,236
1882	917	1,112	2,029
1883	1,750	2,440	4,190

2 The reduction and tabulation of the 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. observations taken at seven second class stations, and fifteen Imperial third class stations, and of the 10 A.M. observations taken at twenty-two Provincial third class stations, and also of the hourly observation taken on four days of each month at the following second class stations —

Dhubri	Patna
Sibsagar	Cuttack
Hazariabagh	Chittagong

3 The entry of all the observations taken previous to the year 1883 at 18 stations in Bengal in books for reference, and in such a manner that the mean pressure, maximum or minimum temperature, and rainfall for any day of the year at any of these stations can be at once obtained. These are filed in four thick folio volumes, and the observations which continue to be taken are added, so that they form a continuous record of all the observations taken at each station, arranged in the simplest way for reference.

4 The entry of all the rainfall observations taken at the revenue stations filed in the office records into twenty-four large folio volumes in a similar manner to the preceding, so that the average rainfall for any day, or any week or month, or any other portion of a year, may be determined with the least possible labour.

6 The preparation of the weekly and monthly meteorological and rainfall reports for the province published in the Calcutta Gazette.

7 The preparation of four sets of three rainfall charts monthly during the south west monsoon period 1883 (i.e. from May to November), shewing by colours—

- (1) the average distribution of rainfall over the province for the month,
- (2) the actual distribution of rainfall for the same month,
- (3) The variation of the actual from the average rainfall, indicating whether it was in excess or defect, and the amount

The four sets were all drawn and coloured by hand. One set was forwarded about the 8th of the succeeding month (to that to which it referred) to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, a second set to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department, a third to the Sanitary Commissioner, and the fourth was kept for office reference.

8 Preparation of special returns and a special set of charts, illustrating the distribution and partial failure of the rains in Bengal during the south west monsoon period of 1883 (i.e. from May 15th to November 15th). These were submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department, and were referred to in the Resolution of the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department, dated 18th December 1883, in the following terms — "These results are shewn upon charts which have been prepared by the Meteorological Reporter to this Government. The Lieutenant Governor would have been glad had time permitted of these charts being lithographed and published with this Resolution, for an inspection of them, and a perusal of the correspondence published herewith, would have shewn in a striking manner the intimate relation which exists between deficient rainfall and crop failure. In fact, it may be said that the information supplied to Government by the Meteorological Reporter suggests practically the same conclusions which an examination of the local reports dictates."

9 The preparation of tables giving the average and actual rainfall and the difference between the actual and average rainfall (or variation) for each month of the year 1883 and for the whole year at 166 rainfall recording stations. These returns were published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 30th January 1884.

Storm signals — No very severe cyclone was generated in the Bay of Bengal during the year 1883. A number of smaller cyclonic storms occurred during the prevalence of the south west monsoon over the Bay. They gave rise to strong winds and stormy weather, and in one or two cases to winds of hurricane force over a small part of the Bay, more or less dangerous to any ships involved in them near the centre. The following is a list of all those which are known to have occasioned wind and sea, trying, if not dangerous, to shipping —

1 Storm of June 13th to 16th at the commencement of the south west monsoon, and which gave the first heavy burst of rainfall to Bihar. It formed near the Balasore Coast on the 13th, and advanced into Bihar where it broke up on the 20th.

2 Storm of June 26th to July 4th. This was generated slowly near the Sandheads on the 26th and 27th, and was of considerable intensity, and remained nearly stationary until the 29th. It crossed the Balasore coast early on the morning of the 30th.

3 Storm of July 6th to 8th. This was formed at or near the Sandheads under similar conditions to the preceding, but was of small intensity. It crossed the Balasore coast on the afternoon of the 7th.

4 Storm of the 12th to 14th of July. This began to form on the morning of the 12th off the south Orissa coast, across which (between False Point and Gopalpore) the centre advanced on the evening of the 13th, or early on the morning of the 14th into the Central Provinces. It was of slight intensity.

5 Storm of the 16th to 18th of August. This was formed in the north west angle of the Bay, and crossed the north Orissa coast near Balasore. This storm was very small, and of very slight intensity, and of no importance.

6 Storm of the 23rd to the 26th of August. This was generated further to the south than the preceding storm, and crossed the Ganjam coast between Gopalpore and Vizagapatam on the evening of the 25th. It was of slight intensity.

7 Storm of the 30th August to the 3rd of September. This depression crossed the coast near Balasore on the afternoon of the 2nd of September, and was of moderate intensity.

8 Storm of the 6th and 7th of September. This was formed immediately after the preceding, and followed along nearly the same track crossing the Orissa coast to the south of Balasore on the morning of the 7th. It was of small intensity.

9 Storm of the 11th to the 15th of November. This was apparently generated in the Martaban Gulf, and advanced first in a north westerly direction.

to latitude 16 N and longitude 93° 45E in the neighbourhood at Diamond Island, and then recurved slightly and moved northwards parallel to the coast and broke up in the neighbourhood of Akyab during the afternoon of the 14th. This was the most severe and intense storm of the year in the Bay, but was of very limited extent, and hence did not apparently affect the weather in the north west angle of the Bay.

10 Storm of the 2nd to the 4th of December

The above list of storms for the year 1883 presents two important peculiarities, which are both illustrations of generalizations and deductions, to which attention has been called in my cyclone reports. The first is the unusually large number of small cyclonic storms during the period when the south west monsoon was in force at the head of the Bay and in Bengal. The south west monsoon of last year was unusually weak, and terminated abruptly in the latter part of September. A weak monsoon is usually accompanied with heavier rainfall than usual near the head of the Bay, and with the consequent formation of a larger number of cyclonic storms or atmospheric whirls. The past south west monsoon has apparently been a well marked illustration of this principle. The other important feature was the absence of storms during the period extending from the 15th of September to the 10th of November. After the abrupt termination of the south west monsoon in Northern India north easterly winds set in almost immediately on the Coromandel Coast and gave heavy rain for several weeks, so that the commencement of the north east monsoon in Madras last year was one of the most favourable for agricultural operations which that presidency has experienced for some years. Heavy continuous rain on the Madras coast during the October transitive period is, as indicated by the condensation theory of cyclones, unfavourable to the formation of cyclonic whirls on the Bay at that time. Experience confirms this, and indicates that a strong north east monsoon on the Madras coast, with heavy and more or less continuous rain over the land, is associated with an absence of cyclones in the Bay. The past year was a remarkable example of this principle. The October transition period was characterized by unusually fine weather in the Bay, and by the non occurrence of a single storm until the 11th of November, when rainfall ceased for some time in the Madras Presidency.

Nine of these storms, viz Nos 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, although giving strong winds and a high sea at Suvar Island, did not appear to be of sufficient intensity to warrant the hoisting of storm signals. Warning signals were hoisted for storm No 2 only.

On the approach of this storm, bad weather signal No 6 was hoisted at 11.30 A.M. on the 28th June, intimating that a small cyclonic storm was formed near the head of the Bay. This was changed on the receipt of further telegraphic weather reports to signal No 8, at 1 P.M. of the same day, intimating that the storm was advancing from the Bay to the coast on the west of the Hooghly or between Saugor Island and False Point. The storm signals were taken down at 2 P.M. on the 30th.

Daily Weather Reports.—As stated in my last report, the form of the Bay of Bengal daily weather report was altered at the commencement of the official year. The size of the sheet was reduced, a better quality of paper was used, and a chart and form lithographed for it at the Lithographic Department of the Government Trigonometrical Survey. The new form of report was first issued on the 15th May. The character of the report was not altered, but advantage was taken of the establishment of an observatory at Balasore to increase slightly the number of the stations sending observations for this report. The report now furnishes observations taken at 17 stations on or near the coast of the Bay, together with a summary of the more important features of the weather as indicated by the observations, and a chart giving the distribution of pressure, air motion and rainfall. This report was supplied to 29 subscribers and 30 Government officials at the commencement of the year, and to 29 subscribers and 32 Government officials at the end of the year. The receipts from subscription during the year covered the cost of printing and distributing the reports. There was a small balance of Rs 160.56 at the end of the year 1883-84, which was kept in hand in order to meet any repairs to the lithographic presses.

The Bengal daily weather report was first issued on the 15th of May. The first reports gave observations taken at 14 stations with a short summary. The number of stations was gradually increased by the establishment of the additional observatories and from the beginning of August daily weather telegrams were received from 51 observatories, including four in Orissa six in South West Bengal, four in East Bengal, six in North Bengal, four in North Behar six in South Behar, and one in Chutia Nagpur.

These reports were published and issued by the Bengal Secretariat Press, and were supplied to 94 Government officials and to three subscribers.

Copies of the weekly and monthly meteorological and rainfall returns (as published in the Gazette) were struck off for the convenience of the public, and were supplied at a charge just sufficient to cover the actual expense of printing and distribution.

Marine Meteorology—A fair amount of work has again been done in this Department. In consequence of the unusually heavy work thrown upon me during the past year in carrying out the extensions required for the Bengal Government and of my absence for three months on privilege leave, I was not able to do as much as I desired. Mr. Dallas has continued to work steadily at the charting of the barometer and wind data of the Bay and has finished this work up to the month of June. Two hundred and fifty three sets of returns, giving meteorological extracts from logs were sent in to me by the Captains of vessels arriving in the Port. The officers of several steamers belonging to lines trading between Calcutta and England tele special observations in the Bay and Arabian Sea on their way home and back again. Log books have been sent to me on several occasions with permission to make any extracts that were required.

The results of the working of the past two years has shown it seems to me, conclusively that a large amount of valuable meteorological information can be easily obtained from the Captains of vessels navigating the Bay, and that the majority of Captains and officers of vessels, from the interest they take in the weather, are ready even at considerable trouble to themselves to fill in the returns in the hope they may be of some use in the investigations of the Meteorological Department.

Although the number of returns sent in is smaller than were received last year, they have been of higher quality. A fair proportion of the observations have been as accurate and carefully taken, judging from internal evidence and from a comparison with the land observations on the coasts of the Bay, as at our best land observatories.

I have utilized the information they have supplied in preparing an account of the two most severe storms in the Bay during the year 1883 viz that at the head of the Bay in the last week of June, and that off the Burma and Aracan coast in the second week of November. It is intended to publish this and the cyclone reports which were nearly finished last year during the present year.

In addition to the information derived from the meteorological extracts from the logs of vessels, meteorological observations were taken at 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. on board the light vessels near the mouth of the Hooghly.

The following gives the names of the vessels at which observations were taken, and the period during which they were recorded—

Financial Statement — The following gives the expenditure on account of the Bengal Meteorological Department during the year 1883 84, and the total grants sanctioned by Government under each of the various heads —

The amount is Rs 11,898 15 4 in excess of the actual expenditure of last year, but Rs 12,205 2 9 less than the sanctioned grant. The savings have been mainly under the head of telegraphic messages, postage, and payments to provincial observers. The amount of the Bengal Provincial grant was calculated on the supposition that the new observatories would be in working order on the 1st April. Hence as the majority of them were not established until the middle of June or beginning of July, there was a considerable saving in the amount of payments to observers, and also under the head of telegraphic messages or weather telegrams. The transmission of observations by telegram and post under the extended system has also, in consequence of the ready co-operation of the various officials and the almost exclusive use of postal cards in place of the meteorological forms such as have hitherto been employed, been less expensive than I anticipated, and I have therefore proposed to Government that a portion of the Bengal Provincial grant, which would otherwise lapse yearly, be utilized to provide for certain additional observatories which are much needed to give additional information, and for a further increase of my office establishment.

There is apparently a large saving under the head "Building and repairs," but this is, so far as I can ascertain, not real, but due to the fact that the cost of several of the new observatories has not been debited yet against the Meteorological Department by book transfer between it and the Public Works Department.

The figures in the statement give the total expenditure so far as can be at present ascertained by my office.

The statement does not include the cost of instruments supplied to the observatories by the Indian Meteorological Department, nor of the cost of stationery supplied to the Central Office, nor of the cost of printing the meteorological returns given in the Gazette or otherwise, or the forms required in the Meteorological office, by the Bengal Secretariat Press.

• RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR 1883

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE

Dated the 7th June 1894

READ—

A letter No 1328 dated the 8th March 1884, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal forwarding the Report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for 1883

The Sanitary Commissioner forwards the Report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta with no further remark than that he will comment upon it in his Annual Departmental Report. As the review of the Health Officer's proceedings cannot be postponed until the submission of the Sanitary Commissioner's Report for the entire Province, the Lieutenant Governor desires that Dr Liddell will in future in his covering letter, make such remarks on the Health Officer's Report as the circumstances may require.

2 Dr Lynch, by whom the report is submitted, was Health Officer of the Port throughout the year, and inspected all European vessels. The inspection of the native population also was in the hands of the native Inspector, who is stated to have sought out causes of sickness, and to have endeavoured to get the sufferers removed to hospital. He appears to have shown activity and zeal in his work, but in future the Lieutenant Governor would be glad to be furnished with further details regarding this officer's work, particularly in respect of the influence exercised by him upon the native population of the Port.

3 The number of vessels inspected by the Health Officer rose from 167 in 1882 to 1464 in 1883, and the number of steamers from 235 to 300. The average number of European seamen in the Port was 1,860 against 1,350 in the previous year, the total number of arrivals being 21,000 against 19,764. The increase in the number of European seamen was therefore proportionately much less than the increase in the number of vessels arriving in the Port. On the other hand, there was a remarkable increase in the strength of Indian crews: the total of such seamen on board the vessels inspected rising from 4,361 in 1882 to 8,606 in 1883.

4 In spite of a high mortality from cholera, the death rate (13%) among European seamen was lower than in any of the four previous years, except in 1880, when cholera mortality was exceptionally low. Bowel complaints and fever caused fewer deaths than in 1882, and though there were five cases of small pox no deaths occurred from this cause. Five deaths from sunstroke are reported, but these are not ascribed to exposure on board ship, and the masters of vessels appear to have complied with the instructions issued by the Port Commissioners for the proper care of their crews during the hot season. In dealing with the general question of the mortality among European seamen in Calcutta, Dr Lynch draws an instructive comparison between their death rate and the death rate of the troops quartered in Fort William. Although both bodies of men belong socially to much the same classes and are exposed to the same climatic influences, and drink the same water, the death rate of the soldiers never rises beyond ten per thousand, while that of the sailors ranges from 30 to 61 per thousand. It can hardly be doubted that the chief reason for this remarkable difference is that the former body of men live under strict discipline and supervision, and are guarded in all possible ways against most of the temptations which beset the latter. Soldiers, moreover, are much less exposed to the sun than sailors. Parades are held in the early morning, sentries mount guard under cover, and a helmet is a far more efficient protection from the sun than the small caps and hats in which sailors go about.

5 The quarantine for cholera imposed in July 1882, at the instance of the Turkish Sanitary Board, on arrivals from Batavia and Sumatra, was withdrawn in May 1883. No vessels arriving from those ports were found to have cholera on board. Weekly death returns of the Port were sent regularly to Egypt and Turkey, in the hope that a knowledge of the facts would induce the Governments of these countries to remove their restrictions upon traffic. In May 1883, however, the Turkish Government imposed quarantine upon all arrivals from Calcutta, some deaths from cholera having occurred in that city, although not in such numbers as to satisfy the Medical Board that the malady had assumed an epidemic form. Dr. Lynch notices at some length the epidemic of cholera in Egypt in June last, and the belief of French sanitary authorities that the disease was introduced into Egypt by native firemen and traders landed at Port Said from English steamers. It seems to be alleged that Arab firemen come and go in British steamers between Port Said and Bombay without any control or supervision. As regards the shipping of such persons at Port Said, Dr. Lynch rightly points out that, under section 160 of the English Merchant Shipping Act of 1854, they could only be engaged through the British Consul, while in the matter of the landing either of them or of ordinary passengers at Port Said, the quarantine regulations are assumed to afford sufficient protection. Looking at the question as a whole in the light of what is known of the recent enquiries of the German Cholera Commission, it seems to the Lieutenant Governor that until scientific experts have arrived at some definite conclusion regarding the causation of cholera in general, all popular speculations as to the origin of any particular outbreak must be premature and misleading.

6 One steamer, carrying 584 returned pilgrims from Jeddah, arrived in Calcutta during the year with three cases of small pox on board. The sick were sent to hospital and the vessel detained at Garden Reach until she had been cleansed and disinfected.

7 Out of 4,783 Indian seamen employed on foreign voyages, only 15 deaths occurred, giving a death rate of 3.13 per thousand. Complaints were made in seven vessels of the quality of the rations issued. In two cases only were the complaints substantiated. Dr. Lynch remarks that native seamen are apt to make complaints to the Health Officer on arrival, which they afterwards withdraw when called upon to prove them before the Shipping Master, and suggests that arrangements should be made for the presence of the Health Officer at the enquiry held at the Shipping Office. This proposal will be separately considered. Several cases of scurvy were found among the lascars on board a vessel arriving with returned coolies from Demerara. The lime juice on board was analysed and was found to be good, and the men did not complain of their rations.

8 The sanitary condition of both banks of the river seems to have been satisfactory, with the exception of a khul in Garden Reach, which discharged filthy drainage into the river. This, however, has been improved since a reference was made to the Vice Chairman of the Suburban Municipality, which appears to be responsible for the nuisance. It is satisfactory to find that the Port Commissioners have provided a new latrine at the entrance of Tolly's Nullah, and propose to increase the latrine accommodation above the Hooghly Bridge. The attention of the Calcutta Municipality will be drawn to the necessity of providing more latrine accommodation on the town side of the Strand Road.

9 No complaints were made by the shipping of the quality of the filtered water supplied to them. An application from the crew of certain native passenger boats, for the provision of a hydrant at Prinsep's Ghat, will, it is stated, be considered by the Calcutta Municipality after the extension of the water supply.

10 Dr. Lynch brings to notice the want of legal authority to enforce measures of disinfection on board vessels where disease has prevailed, and particularly to compel the destruction of infected property. Such powers are given in England by an Order in Council, dated the 5th August 1871, and in Bombay by section 11 of Act VI of 1867, which empowers Government to make rules for the destruction of the personal property of persons suffering, or who have recently suffered, from an infectious disease dangerous to life, and for the disinfection or cleansing of vessels on board of which such persons have recently been. This question also will be separately considered.

	1883		188		1891		1890
	Admission	Deaths	Admissions	Deaths	Admissions	Deaths	Admissions	Deaths
Cholera	67	37	64	41	51	33	9	14

Total	1918	81	257	94	1799	65	605	49

The average daily population of the Port during this period having been 1,400 in 1880, 1,350 in 1881, 1,792 in 1882, and 1,860, in 1883, the death rate per 1,000 was 35 in 1880, 48 in 1881, 51.8 in 1882, and 43.5 in the past year. In respect of general health, then, the year 1883 compares favourably with the other years of the series except the year 1880, which was exceptionally healthy. The same remark applies to all diseases except malicious fever, the death rate from which was slightly in excess of that recorded in 1881 and 1882. There were no cases of enteric fever, which has in all former years caused heavy mortality.

12 The total mortality among natives living afloat gave a death rate of 6.9 per thousand as compared with 7.2 in 1882. Out of the 175 deaths among natives, 116 were caused by cholera, being one more than in 1882. On the whole, the year was a healthy one for the native population living on the river. Useful work was done among these people by the native Sanitary Inspector appointed in the end of 1882. This officer visited no less than 12,830 boats, of which 542 were found to be dirty. He also inspected the latrines, the police water boats, and the conservancy arrangements on both banks of the river. For these purposes the river has been divided by the Health Officer into six sections, each of which is visited by the Inspector once a week.

13 The duties of Port Health Officer have been efficiently carried on by Dr Lynch during the past year.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MacDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal

The mean pressure, temperature, &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground.

The weather was overcast, gloomy, passing temporary showers, drizzling rain, thunder, lightning, strong wind.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1884

THE meteorological conditions of the Province of Bengal during the month of May are similar to those of April. The area of maximum temperature in India during the month includes the western districts of South Behar, the North Western Provinces, Rajputana and Central India. Very dry and hot westerly winds blow down the Gangetic valley into Behar and Chutia Nagpur, chiefly during the daytime. These winds, probably by their action in elevating the sea winds blowing across the Bengal coast into West Bengal and Behar give rise to the formation of nor' westerly winds in Western Bengal. Strong winds from the south west prevail at the head of the Bay. Usually the winds at Saugor Island and False Point are stronger in May than they are during the height of the south west monsoon. These winds carry large amounts of aqueous vapour into East and North Bengal. Ascensional motion takes place chiefly in the neighbourhood of the hills. Hence arise the frequent thunder storms of the month, and the large rainfall in Bengal generally but more especially in the northern districts of North Bengal (Cooch Behar and Julpigoree) and the north eastern and eastern districts of East Bengal (Mymensingh and Comillah and the Chittagong Hill Tracts). The average rainfall of the month is less than 2 inches over the southern parts of the Sarun and Mozufferpore districts, the Gya and Shahabad districts and Chutia Nagpur. It increases from 2 to 5 inches from a line limiting the preceding districts to a line running through Arrareah (in the Purneah district) Raigunj (in Dinagepore) Meherpore (in Nuddea) Burdwan Ghattal and Saugor Island. Between this line and a line passing through Rungpore Jamalpore, Mymensingh, Brahmunberiah Comillah and Cox's Bazar, the average rainfall increases eastwards from 5 to 10 inches. To the east of that line it exceeds 10 inches and increases rapidly in amount in the neighbourhood of the Garo and Khasia hills and the hills of the Western Duars, and up the southern sides of these hills to an elevation of perhaps 3000 or 4,000 feet. The largest average rainfall of the month in the plains of Bengal is that of Dinhatta in the Cooch Behar district which is 15.1 inches. Buxa in the hills of the Western Duars has the largest known average rainfall in the Province viz 21.58 inches.

The weather during the past month has been fairly normal in character over the Province of Bengal. The unusual heat and dryness of the months of March and April in Behar, Chutia Nagpur and the adjacent districts of the Central Provinces and the North West Provinces gave rise in the latter month to stronger sea winds at the head of the Bay than usual. This was shown most markedly by the extension of easterly winds over nearly the whole of Behar at the end of April. These conditions initiated a series of disturbances over the Province during the first fortnight of May. Frequent storms occurred and rain fell more or less abundantly over the whole of the Province except Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and a few districts in South and West Behar. They cooled the air very considerably and the sea winds consequently diminished in strength. Dry hot weather again set in over Behar, Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the western districts of South West and North Bengal and lasted during the remainder of the month. Storms continued to occur at frequent intervals over the greater part of East and North Bengal but gave less rain generally than during the first fortnight of the month. They also occurred at longer intervals in South West Bengal, and gave occasional rain.

The rapid increase of temperature during this period accompanied a fairly steady and continuous fall of the barometer until the end of the month which preceded and initiated the first burst of the south west monsoon over the Province during the first week of June.

The first heavy rainfall and stormy weather in Ceylon, due to the south west monsoon of the present year, appears to have occurred early in the second week of the month. Strong south west winds were then blowing over the south of the Bay and advancing northwards over the eastern half of the Bay. They appear to have given rise to heavy rainfall and a large atmospheric whirl to the north west of the Andamans about the 12th or 13th. This advanced first northwards and then curved slightly to the east and crossed the coast near Akyab on the evening of the 17th very shortly after which it was broken up. The storm was a small one but unusually violent near the centre where winds of hurricane force were experienced by vessels involved in it.

Probable character of the South West Monsoon of 1884—An examination of the 10 A.M. observations published by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India indicate that the following are the characteristic features of the pressure variations during the months of March, April and May—1st—Pressure was generally below the average in March over the whole of India, above it in April by an equal amount (0.20'), and below it in May by a smaller amount (0.06").

2nd—During the same period pressure was relatively low over Assam, Bengal, Behar, Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the North Western Provinces. The deficiency was least marked in March, and increased in amount and extended westwards during the months of April and May. This deficiency of pressure is most marked in Behar, Chutia Nagpur, Orissa and the northern districts of the North Western Provinces, i.e., Rohilkund and adjacent districts.)

3rd—Pressure is relatively high over the whole of the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, the Central Provinces, Burmah and Arracan. The excess of pressure is greatest in Ceylon and the extreme south of the Peninsula, and in the districts represented by the stations of Bombay, Poona and Khandwa.

Assuming that the observations and results are correct the following appear to be the inferences—

1st—That so far as can be judged by the land observations the south west monsoon of the present year will be of ordinary strength.

2nd—That the Bombay branch of the monsoon current will probably be later than usual in establishing itself over the west coast and that it will be weak and give deficient rainfall which will be most marked in Ceylon and Southern India including the south of Mysore and, to a less extent probably, in the Bombay and Poona and adjacent districts of the Bombay Presidency.

3rd—The Bengal branch of the monsoon current will be of average strength at least and give average or abundant rainfall over Bengal and Behar and probably over the greater part of the North West Provinces.

4th—The weakness of the Bombay branch of the monsoon current and the slight excess of pressure in the Punjab and Rajputana indicate a probable deficiency of rainfall in these areas and perhaps in the adjacent districts of the North West Provinces.

These conclusions are more likely to be true for the first half of the monsoon (i.e. till August) than for the whole monsoon.

Atmospheric Pressure—Pressure was above the average at the commencement of the month. It fell rapidly over the whole Province from the 6th to the 9th by amounts which slightly exceeded a quarter of an inch at the western stations. The barometer then rose and its movements were small and irregular until the 15th. A considerable fall occurred on the 16th and 17th due mainly to a cyclonic disturbance which advanced northward over the east of the Bay and struck the Arracan coast near Myith. This was followed by small oscillations for some days until the 23rd when a steady fall commenced which continued until the 29th when pressure was slightly more than a tenth of an inch below the normal pressure of the period.

The mean pressure of the month varied by small amounts from the normal means. It was in defect at all stations except Dacca. The deficiency was greatest in the case of the Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar stations for which it averaged .03.

Temperature—The past month has been marked by a wide range of temperature. During the first fortnight the atmosphere was in a slightly disturbed state and frequent showers occurred. Temperature was hence considerably below the average.

The mean temperature of the first week of the month was 6° below the normal for South West Bengal, 1° for Behar and Chutia Nagpur, $3\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ for East Bengal and 1° for Orissa. The deficiency during the second week was equally marked. It was greatest in East and North Bengal and the central and eastern districts of South West Bengal. It varied over this area from 6° at Durrampore and 3° at Jessore to 5° at Chittagong and 2° at Dacca. The deficiency was least in Behar for which it averaged 1° . The rainfall of the second half of the month was limited and below the average. Hot westerly winds prevailed over a large portion of Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Temperature consequently increased steadily and rapidly over the western and central districts of the Province and slowly over the eastern districts. The mean temperature of the third week of the month was from 1° to 3° above the normal in Behar, Chutia Nagpur and Orissa and was below it generally in Bengal by small amounts. The mean temperature of the fourth week of the month was 6° above the average in Chutia Nagpur and between 2° and 3° in Behar, Orissa and South West Bengal. The 30th was a very hot day, the hottest day of the month and probably of the present year in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The following table gives the maximum temperature of that day at several stations and the highest May temperature observed in certain cases—

	High temperature May 1884	Highest temperature May

Winds were normal in direction and slightly above the average strength in Bengal. They alternated over the greater part of Behar between west and east according to the relative strengths of the land winds of Upper India and the sea winds. Easterly winds chiefly prevailed during the first half of the month and westerly winds during the latter half. In Chutia Nagpur winds from the west blew during the whole month.

Rain—The rainfall of the month was brought up by local sea winds from the head of the Bay. It occurred mainly during thunder storms and nor' westers which as is usually the case were most frequent and severe in the neighbourhood of the hills of East and North Bengal. The first twelve days of the month was a period of general disturbance. Showers fell in every part of the Province occasionally in the western districts and frequently in the northern and eastern districts. During the remainder of the month little or no rain was received in Orissa Behar (except the Purneah district) and Chutia Nagpur. It was also a dry period with the exception of the 25th and 31st in South West Bengal. East and North Bengal received frequent showers with short intervals of clear weather. The 25th and 31st were the only days of fairly general and heavy rain during this period over the whole of Bengal.

The rainfall of the month was in excess in Midnapore, the 24 Pergunnahs, Howrah Bankoora districts of South West Bengal, the whole of East Bengal excepting part of the Furredpore district, and the whole of North Bengal excepting the southern portion of the Rungpore district and the Darjeeling hills. It was also above the average in the Sonthal Pergunnahs. The excess did not exceed two inches over the greater part of the area of increased rainfall, and was locally large in three districts. The first was the Chittagong and Noakholly districts. The excess was mainly due to the rainfall which accompanied the Akyab cyclone of the 16th and 17th. Cox's Bazar received 7.18 inches more than its average amount during the month. The second area of excess rainfall included Mymensing Pubna, and Bogra near the Garo and Khasia Hills. The excess was greatest at the station of Mymensing where it was 9.16 inches. The third area of unusually heavy rainfall included the Cooch Behar and Julpigori districts at the foot of the Darjeeling Hills. Cooch Behar received an excess rainfall of 11.77 inches.

The rainfall was in defect over the whole of Orissa (excluding Pooree) the Hooghly, Burdwan, Nuddea, Jessore and Moorshedabad districts of South West Bengal, and the whole of Behar (excluding the Sonthal Pergunnahs a portion of the Rungpore and Dinagepore districts and the northern part of the Durbhanga and Purneah districts) and Chutia Nagpore. Over a large part of this area including nearly the whole of Behar, the deficiency was small and did not exceed one inch. The deficiency was largest over a large portion of Orissa, and the Nuddea and Jessore districts of South West Bengal where it varied between two and three inches. It was absolutely greatest in the Darjeeling Hill Tracts where the rainfall was unusually small and contrasts strikingly with the heavy rainfall in the neighbouring plain districts of Cooch Behar and Julpigoree.

The relative general distribution of the rainfall was thus similar to what it was in April. It also resembles in its more important features the distribution of rainfall during the corresponding month of last year. In both cases the rainfall was in excess over East and North Bengal and deficient in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The chief feature in which they differ is in the small rainfall of Orissa in May 1884 as compared with May 1883.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of May 1884 —

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park street Observatory) The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and other things being equal, reads therefore 003 lower The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0 5° greater, and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0 6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory

N B —In the monthly abstract for April 1884 read 30 instead of 29 as the number of hours under the direction West

Explanation of Summary — The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings at the stations of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and a rainy day by 100. The normal means are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in from the district (i.e.) the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations.

The south west monsoon may fairly be considered to have commenced over the Province during the past week. The directions of the winds which have prevailed during the week are those which obtain during the monsoon. Heavy rain has fallen almost continuously during the week in North and East Bengal, and moderate rain over the remainder of the Province except in one or two districts bordering on the North Western Provinces and in Orissa. The monsoon has established itself very quietly, and is as yet somewhat feeble but this is probably due to the fact that it has begun slightly earlier than usual in Bengal, and that the main body of the monsoon current as shown by the weakness of the winds in the south of the Bay and the non commencement of the monsoon on the Bombay coast has evidently not yet set in. The logs of vessels arriving in the Port of Calcutta prove that south west winds of moderate strength have been established for some days over the whole of the Bay.

Pressure—The barometer was low and below the average over the Province, except in East Bengal on the morning of the 31st. It thence increased steadily until the morning of the 3rd when it was above the normal pressure by amounts which varied between 0.4 (in Orissa) and 17" (at Calcutta). The changes were irregular during the next 24 hours, after which the barometer again began to fall steadily and continuously and was falling at the end of the week. The effect of the continued rise during the first four or five days of the week has been to give a mean pressure for the week considerably above the normal over the whole Province. The excess averages 0.7 for East Bengal, 0.5 for Behar, 0.4 for South West Bengal, 0.1 for Chutia Nagpur and 0.05 for Orissa. Chutia Nagpur and Orissa form as they have so frequently done for several months past, an area of low pressure relative to the remainder of the Province.

Temperature—In consequence of the occurrence of general and heavy rainfall over nearly the whole Province temperature has been unusually low during the past week. The only districts where the mean temperature of the week was above the average are Chutia Nagpur and Orissa, where the rainfall has been markedly deficient. The mean temperature of the week was 3° above the normal at Hazaribagh and 2½° at Cuttack. The reduction of temperature due to rainfall, was greatest in East and Central Bengal and in East and Central Behar. The mean temperature of the week at Chittagong was 6½° below the normal at Berhampore 6½° and at Dacca, Jessore and Patua 5°. It was about 1½° below it in the western districts of South West Bengal.

Moderately high maximum temperatures were registered in the western districts of Behar during the earlier part of the week. The highest were—

C. va	114.2	on the 31st
Chupra	111.5	, 31st
Dhree	111.5°	31st

Winds—Have blown from their ordinary south west monsoon directions over nearly the whole Province. They were from directions between south and south east in South and East Bengal, and from east in North Behar and Behar. They were variable at Hazaribagh alternating between west and east dependent on the relative strength of the land winds of Upper India and the sea winds in Bengal. Winds were slightly stronger than usual over the north west angle of the Bay as shown by the following—

	Average number of miles travelling in the direction of the wind during the week	Average daily air motion June
Sauger Island	391	342
False Point	387	275

Humidity—In consequence of the prevalence of sea winds, and the early establishment of the south west monsoon the humidity of the air has been above the average by small amounts, the success being greatest in the case of the Behar stations.

Rainfall—The southerly winds have brought up much aqueous vapour during the week, and deposited it as rain chiefly during thunder storms which occurred at frequent intervals in every part of the Province. Orissa is the only division which has received little rain during the week. The 31st, 1st, 3rd, and 5th were days of more or less heavy general rain in South West Bengal. Rain occurred abundantly in North and East Bengal on every day except the 4th and 6th. In Behar and Chutia Nagpur the 3rd and 5th were the only days of general rain, but the amounts received were considerable, and gave a rainfall in excess of the normal amount of the week.

The rainfall of the week was below the average over the whole of Orissa (more especially the Pooree and Cuttack districts), Chutia Nagpur the Bankoora and Beerbhoom districts of South West Bengal, the Purneah and Shahabad districts of Behar, and the Dinagapore, Rungpore and Julpigori districts of North Bengal. The deficiency is small except in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur. The former has received 8 inch or 48 inch less than the normal amount, and the latter received an average fall of 7 inch or 36 inch less than the normal.

Rainfall was above the average over the remainder of the Province, that is over nearly the whole of Bengal and Behar.

It was most abundant in East Bengal which received 2 inches in excess of its normal amount and South West Bengal, which received one inch in excess. South Behar received an average of 1.3 inches as compared with .7 inch its normal fall. The Chittagong district received very heavy rain. The average fall of the district for the week was 11.12 inches, the normal average being 4.27 inches. The districts of Noakholly, Comillah, Furreedpore and Mymensingh also received amounts considerably in excess. In South West Bengal the Moorshedabad, Nuddea and Burdwan districts and the 24 Pergunnahs received the largest amounts.

The average fall for the week was more than an inch in excess in each of these districts. The Bogra, Pubna and Rajshahye were the only districts in North Bengal where the rainfall was considerably in excess. The increased rainfall of South Bihar was mainly due to heavy falls in the Bhagulpore and Patna districts.

The past week has thus given satisfactory rain to several districts more especially South Behar and the Nuddea district in Bengal where it was hitherto deficient.

The only part of the Province where rainfall continues conspicuously below the average is the area including the Cuttack and Pooree districts of Orissa.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday the 6th of June 1884,—

MEMORANDA

The first class Municipalities in Bengal presented during the week ending 24th May 1884, the mean birth and death rates of 19.5 and 34.9 per 1000 of population against 18.8 and 41.6 per 1000, respectively during the preceding week ending 17th May showing a small increase in the registration of births against a large decrease in that of deaths.

(2) The Municipalities which returned the highest proportions of births and deaths are —

Births	Rate per mille	Deaths	Rate per mille
Bhagulpore	38.9	Bhagulpore	105.9
Purneah	34.6	Burdwan	53.1
Midnapore	34.1	Patna	45.8
Durbhanga	32.3	Suburbs of Calcutta	40.5
Chittagong	30.5	Gya	38.9
		Chittagong	35.2
		Dacca	35.0
		Midnapore	34.1
		Durbhanga	31.5
		Serampore	31.4

(3) The principal diseases columned in the table appended to this memoranda furnished the death rates indicated below —

	Rate per mille during the week ending —
	24th May 1884	17th May 1884
Cholera	7.6	11.4
Small pox	3.1	5.4
Fever	12.3	11.7
Bowel complaints	4.2	4.8
Injury	4	6
Other causes	7.3	7.5

indicating chiefly that in comparison with the preceding week the severity of cholera and small pox had, on the whole declined considerably, but that the mortality from fever had increased somewhat.

(4) Excluding injury the mortality from which was nowhere high the rest of the death causes proved most fatal to life in the Municipalities named below —

Cholera	Small pox	Fever	Bowel complaints	Other causes
Rate per mille	Rate per mille	Rate per mille	Rate per mille	Rate per mille
Bhagulpore 41.3	Bhagulpore 11.9	Burdwan 32.0	Purneah 13.8	Poori 15.0
Beaulah 23.6	Gya 8.9	Chittagong 28.2	Patna 8.4	Dacca 14.3
Midnapore 15.5	Patna 7.1	Bhagulpore 23.5		Bhagulpore 13.6
Durbhanga 14.2	Dacca 5.8			Kishnaghur 11.3

Howrah 9.3				Patna 10.1
Burdwan 6.1
Dacca 5.2
Patna 4.9
Gya 2.7

showing that Bhagulpore continued to suffer with marked severity from cholera and small pox, and Gya and Patna from the latter disease that conspicuously high mortality from cholera also occurred in Beaulah, Midnapore and Durbhanga and that the casualties from fever were noticeably large in Burdwan.

(5) The mortality referable to Sex, Class and Age stands as follows —

According to Sex		According to Class		According to Age
	Ratio per mille		Ratio per mille		Ratio per mille
Males	34.5	Christians	56.5	Under 1 year	286.5

during four weeks ended 26th April 1884*

INCREASES

Coal—There was an increase in the upward and a decrease in the downward coal. The improvement in the upward despatches was due to heavy demand from the Outh and Rohilkund, Suleimanabad and Dehli and Rajputana Malwa Railways. The falling off in the downward coal is attributable to want of demand in Calcutta.

Salt—An increase in this staple is accounted for by ordinary fluctuation of trade.

Railway Materials Foreign—Due to the extension of the railway system on the north bank of the Ganges being in active progress.

Linseed and other oilseeds (excluding Mustard seed)—The increase in this staple is accounted for by business having been very brisk in the Calcutta market and the prices good in the early part of the month.

DECREASES

Wheat—The serious falling off in this staple is attributable to an absolute want of demand in the English and Continental markets owing to large stocks being held and the American harvest having been good.

Mustard seed—A heavy decrease is due to want of demand for export.

Sugar—Partial failure of the sugarcane crop in consequence of scanty rainfall last season occasioned the decrease in this article.

Cotton—The decrease in this commodity is accounted for by the supply in the Calcutta market being very scanty.

Piece goods—Limited demand depressed market and failures of local manufacturers led to the decrease in imported piece goods.

Government Stores—The ordinary fluctuation of supply and demand accounted for the decrease in these stores.

Cheese—Want of demand and the Calcutta market being dull led to the decrease in this staple.

Tobacco—Decrease due to ordinary fluctuation of trade.

Minerals—There has been an increase in weight and attended with a fall in the earnings, and this is accounted for by the traffic having been less than in the previous period.

Lac—Absence of demand is said to be the reason for the decrease in this article.

HIGH COURT NOTICE

Circular order issued by authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

CIVIL

No 4, dated the 22nd May 1884

THE practice which apparently obtains in some districts of showing poundage fees* as civil deposits in the accounts is incorrect. Money realized in cash in cases in which the decree holder purchases and sets off the amount of his decree against his purchase money in whole or in part, under the arrangement contemplated in Chapter I Rule 8, Clauses (a), (b), (c), (d), page 13 Civil Rules and Orders should be held, not as poundage fees, but as earnest money paid in by the purchasing decree holder, out of which the poundage fees can be realized on confirmation of sale

* Vide Note (f) Article 6 Parts II III and IV of Rule 8 Chapter IV pages 226 &c., Civil Rules and Orders.

General Letter No 7 dated Calcutta, the 8th May 1884

From—C S BAYLEY, Esq, Officiating Registrar,
To—All District Judges in Bengal and Assam

As the Order Sheet now contains every original order made in a suit or case from its first institution to its final determination (see clause (n), Rule 1, No 49, Chapter V, page 804 of the General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil Side), the Court consider it unnecessary that such orders should be entered at length a second time in the Diary. This double record creates additional work without any adequate advantage, while (regard being had to the strength of the establishments of the Civil Courts and the indispensable duties which they have to perform) it is very desirable that no unnecessary labour should be imposed upon them

2 The Judges are at the same time strongly impressed with the belief that some waste of judicial power and avoidable inconvenience to suitors and their witnesses are caused in many Courts by want of system and foresight in fixing the dates for the hearing of cases. They are satisfied that, if Judicial Officers of all grades would give some personal attention to the arrangement of their files, their own work would be facilitated by the economy of system: suitors would be saved the inconvenience and expense of constant adjournments, and witnesses, being examined and discharged in the majority of instances on the dates for which they were summoned, would respect the process of the Civil Courts without necessity for the adoption of punitive measures. The Court are accordingly pleased to cancel clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Rule 43, page 295 of the General Rules and Circular Orders (Civil), and to issue the following instructions in lieu thereof—

- (b) The Diary shall be kept in the form hereunto annexed, or as nearly thereto as may be convenient. It shall show the name of the Judge or Judicial Officer, the hour at which he took his seat, the number of petitions filed before him in Court, the manner in which the cases fixed for the day have been disposed of; and the hour at which the Court rose. It shall be signed at the end by the Judge before he leaves Court.
- (c) The cases fixed for the day shall be entered in advance under the heads shown in the form immediately upon a date or adjourned date being fixed (1) for their final disposal at the first hearing, or (2) for settlement of issues, or (3) for trial upon adjournment after settlement of issues. This portion of the Diary will therefore be filled in many days before the date, the actual proceedings of which the Diary is intended to show Upon that date it will only remain to note the number of petitions received, and to make the brief entries in column 2 These entries should be made by the Judge himself as each case is disposed of The entry of the cases in advance can be made by the clerk who attends the Bench and one leaf or two pages should be appropriated to each working day holidays being excluded All entries should be neatly made without erasures The Diary will thus serve as a Cause List It should lie upon the table in Court during Court hours and the Vakeels should be allowed access to it in order to ascertain the dates fixed for the hearing of their cases

- (d) The Court are further pleased to direct that a Register of Petitions be maintained in the accompanying form This Register may be kept in the vernacular and it requires no explanation The serial number of each petition should be written on the face of it at the top in order to facilitate reference to the Register
- (e) The majority of petitions can be disposed of by an order passed in Court as soon as they are filed Where a reference to the record or to other papers is necessary before an order can be made, they should be brought up with such record or papers on the following open day and orders should then be passed in Court All orders when entered in the Order Sheet must be signed by the parties or their Pleaders
- (f) It shall be the duty of the District Judge or Judicial Commissioner upon every inspection of a Subordinate Court to satisfy himself and report to the High Court whether the Diary and Register of Petitions have been properly maintained in accordance with these instructions A glance at column 4 of the Register of Petitions will show at once whether applications in suits have been promptly dealt with Similarly, a glance at column 2 of the Diary will show whether cases have been adjourned too frequently or to too distant dates The same column will enable the course of any suit to be traced from its first institution to its final disposal The Diary itself will show whether the Subordinate Judge or Munsif has exercised proper care and judgment in arranging the work of each day

From—C S BAYLEY Esq, Officiating Registrar,
To—All District Judges in Bengal and Assam

THE Judges have frequently observed that applications for summonses to witnesses are dealt with by a special order of the Subordinate Judge or Munsif and that such summonses are occasionally refused on the ground that they have not been applied for in sufficient time to enable the witnesses to be present at the hearing. The Court are of opinion that no Judicial Officer should take upon himself to refuse a summons on this ground, but that summonses should be issued by the Nazir without any special order of the Judge with all convenient despatch upon payment of the requisite fees. If witnesses are absent upon the day of trial, the Judge must then determine whether there has been want of due diligence fairly chargeable to the parties concerned.

General Letter No 9, dated Calcutta, the 13th May 1884

From—C S BAYLEY, Esq, Officiating Registrar,
To—All District and Sessions Judges and Magistrates in Bengal and Assam

WITH a view to the detection of delays in the issue of copies of documents in which folios are filed subsequently to the original application, I am directed to request that the heading of column 5 of the Register* of applications for copies may be altered by hand from "Filed afterwards" to "Number of folios filed after wards with date of filing."

2 The Superintendent of Stationery has been directed to make the necessary alteration in the next issue of the form

To be substituted for—

General Letter No 3, dated Calcutta, the 23rd April 1884.

From—C S BAYLEY, Esq., Officiating Registrar,
To—All Sessions Judges and Magistrates in Bengal and Assam

As considerable inconvenience in reading the records of criminal cases has been found to result from the practice of recording evidence on both sides of the paper, I am directed to request that in future all depositions may be taken down on one side of the paper only A margin of one fourth of the sheet should be kept blank The Superintendent of Stationery will be directed when next supplying paper for depositions to Session, Judges and Magistrates to furnish a certain proportion of blank half sheets uniform in size and quality with the printed form of deposition, the margin of which should be folded down These half sheets should be used to finish any deposition the whole of which cannot be written upon the paper with a printed heading on which it has been commenced

Sheriff's Office the 11th June 1884

NOTICE is hereby given that the fourth Criminal Sessions of the year 1884 of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal for the Town of Calcutta and Factory of Fort William and the places subordinate thereto will be holden at the Court House in the Town of Calcutta on Monday the Fourteenth day of July next at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and so on from day to day until the said Sessions be over And it is hereby proclaimed that all persons who will prosecute any of the prisoners to be brought up for trial at the said Sessions be present then and there to prosecute

Explanation of Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the season. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 100. The normal means of the rainfall are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions from the district, (i.e.) the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns, divided by the number of stations. period for the past one year. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represent the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head "District" are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received from the stations for the period in question during the past 10 years. The "means" for the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received from the stations on which at least six hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA,

The 16th June 1884

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING 18th JUNE 1884

The south west monsoon continues to prevail somewhat feebly over the Province. It has given rise during the past week to moderate humid sea winds over nearly the whole Province, and to rainfall which reaches or exceeds the average for the week over the greater part of the Province. The Bombay branch of the monsoon current has not yet been established over the west coast. There are, however, indications that this may occur during the ensuing week. Strong winds are blowing at present at Galle and over the south of the Bay which may extend northwards to Bengal during the next five or six days. The south west monsoon rainfall in Chutia Nagpur and in Orissa to a less extent is largely due to the influence of the Bombay branch of the monsoon current. Its non-establishment therefore explains the very small rainfall up to the present date of the southern districts of Chutia Nagpur.

Pressure—Was slightly below the normal at the commencement of the week. It then increased until the 10th or in one or two cases in East Bengal the 11th during which period the rise of the barometer averaged nearly 1. It decreased during the remainder of the week. This change was less regular than the preceding. There was a local increase of pressure in the southern districts of South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, Orissa and the western districts of South West Bengal on the 12th. The local variations of pressure are usually larger during the rains than at any other time of the year. This is mainly due to the fact that the cessation of heavy rainfall is usually accompanied by a considerable increase of pressure over and near the area of rainfall. The fall of the barometer during the last three days of the week was smaller than the preceding rise, hence the mean pressure of the week was considerably above the normal for the whole Province. The excess averaged 0.6 for Behar, 0.5 for the greater part of South West Bengal, 0.4 for Chutia Nagpur, 0.3 for East Bengal and 0.1 for Orissa. The relatively low pressure which distinguishes Orissa extends eastwards as far as Saugor Island, and is as it has been for some time the most marked feature in the distribution of pressure over the Province.

Temperature—In consequence of the prevalence of south west monsoon winds over the whole of the Province excepting Chutia Nagpur and the frequent occurrence of rain showers, temperature was unusually low during the week. Maximum temperatures exceeding 100° were registered in Chutia Nagpur, the western and southern districts of South Behar, and at Ranegunj and Cuttack. The following are the highest maximum temperatures observed during the week—

Gya	106.7	on the	8th
Chyebassa	106.1	"	8th
Cuttack	105.9°		8th

The mean temperature of the week was between 4½° and 6½° below the normal in the case of the Behar stations and between 2½° and 3½° below it in the case of the Bengal stations. The temperature was slightly above the average in the Orissa low pressure area due to a remarkable deficiency in the amount of rainfall up to the present date in that area. The mean temperature of Cuttack for the week was 1° above the normal.

Winds—Ordinary south west monsoon winds slightly weaker than the normal have prevailed during the week excepting in Chutia Nagpur where dry westerly winds alternated with easterly winds and on two occasions also extended to the Gya and Shahabad districts. The high temperature of the 8th at Gya was due to westerly winds.

Rainfall—The rainfall of the week has been fairly abundant and in some cases excessive over the greater part of the Province. The Jessore, Burdwan, Noakhally and Comilla districts have formed an area of excessive precipitation during the past week. Rainfall continues to be deficient and considerably below the average over the Pooree district of Orissa, Chutia Nagpur (more especially the southern districts), the western districts of Behar, and the Bankura and Beerbhoom districts of South West Bengal.

In Orissa the 9th was the only day on which general rainfall occurred. Moderately heavy rain was received in the western districts of South West Bengal on the 7th and 8th, a few local showers were received during the remainder of the week, but they were of little importance. The eastern and northern districts of South West Bengal, comprising Nuddea, Khoolna, Jessore and Moorshedabad, received general rain on the 7th, 8th, 10th and 11th. The rainfall registered was especially heavy in the Khoolna and Jessore districts on the 11th. The Khoolna district received an average of 2.6 inches and the Jessore district of 2.2 inches on that day.

East Bengal obtained fairly general rain on every day of the week except the 9th and 13th. The rainfall was however somewhat irregularly distributed, and it occurred rather as heavy local showers than as widely spread rain due to general actions. Two very heavy local rainfalls occurred on the 13th. Fenny in the Noakhally district received 9.2 inches and Brahmunbariah in the Comilla district 8.72 inches on that day.

The character of the rainfall in the southern and western districts of North Bengal was similar to that of East Bengal. Fairly general rain occurred in these districts on the 7th, 8th, 10th and 11th. On the other hand the northern districts in the neighbourhood of the hills received moderate to heavy showers on every day of the week.

The rainfall in Behar was much less general than in any other part of the Province excepting Chutia Nagpur. The 8th, 9th and 11th were days of fairly general rain, moderate in amount. Several districts, more especially the Shahabad and Gya obtained very little rain. It was heaviest in the Monghyr and Bhagulpore districts, and adjacent portions of the Sonthal Perganahs, where heavy showers fell, more especially on the 11th.

It should be carefully remembered in these statements that the day counts from and to 6 P.M., thus the rainfall of the 11th means the rainfall during the 24 hours preceding 6 P.M. of the 11th.

The rainfall of the week was most abundant in the Comillah, Jessore, Burrisal, Noakhally, Moosshedabad, Dinagepore and Nuddea districts, for which the excess varied from 50 to 150 per cent. Over a considerable portion of Bengal and Behar amounts either normal or slightly in excess were received. The Pooree district of Orissa, the southern districts of Chutia Nagpur, and the Gya district received barely 3 per cent of their average amount. The Midnapore, Beerbhoom and Bankoora districts in South West Bengal, the Hazaribagh and Shahabad districts obtained between 40 and 50 per cent of their normal amount. There was also a local deficiency in the rainfall of the Julpigoree and Cooch Behar districts and the Darjeeling Hill tracts, but the amount was proportionately much smaller than in the previous cases.

The only meteorological area over the whole of which the rainfall was markedly below the average was Chutia Nagpur, as is shewn by the accompanying table.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 13th of June 1884.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage saturated air being represented by 100. A comma is denoted by a dot and an overbar. The normal means of the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions of the district (i.e.) the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district during the year divided by the number of stations. SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING 20TH JUNE 1884

The chief feature of the meteorology of the past week was the formation of a small cyclonic disturbance at the head of the Bay which has preceded a strong rush of the south west monsoon current over the Province. It was noted in last week's report that strong winds were blowing at Ceylon and that this indicated the advance up the Bay of strong monsoon winds which would probably reach the Bengal coast in five or six days. This anticipation was verified. The first bursts of the monsoon winds and rains up the Bay are usually attended with much irregular and rotatory motion in front which in two cases out of three give rise to the formation of atmospheric whirls or cyclonic disturbances. The wind observations of Wednesday the 12th at the South Bengal and Orissa stations first indicated the existence of cyclonic circulation at no great distance to the south and east. The disturbance intensified considerably during the next 24 hours. The centre of the depression at 40 A.M. of the 19th was almost certainly nearly midway between Saugor Island and Palse Point. It drifted towards the west and crossed the Orissa coast between Balasore and Palse Point early on the morning of the 20th. It continued to move in the same direction during the day and passed into the Central Provinces across the Orissa Hills and broke up almost immediately afterwards. This has been followed by the establishment of strong monsoon winds over the whole of the Bay and in Bengal which are now giving overcast skies and general rain.

Pressure—It was stated in last week's report that the barometer began to rise on the 10th or 11th and that it was rising at the end of the week. This upward movement continued until the 16th or 17th when pressure was abnormally high. The excess ranged between 14 in Orissa and 17 in North Behar. Pressure then commenced to decrease. The fall in Orissa and South West Bengal was mainly due to the formation of the area of barometric depression and cyclonic disturbance in the north west angle of the Bay. The fall in Behar was produced by actions connected with the high temperature and great heat in Upper India, hence the barometer fell very irregularly during the latter half of the week. The fall exceeded 2 in Orissa whereas in North and East Bengal it was less than 1'. The mean pressure of the week was above the average. The excess was greatest in the case of North Behar where it was 11. It averaged 07 in Central and South East Bengal and 03 in Orissa and the adjacent portions of South West Bengal. Pressure was thus markedly deficient in Orissa as compared with the remainder of the Province.

Temperature—The temperature of the past week was higher than that of the previous week over the greater part of the Province viz Central and North Bengal, Behar and Chutia Nagpur. This was partly due to the small rainfall of the week, but more especially to the formation of the barometric depression at the head of the Bay which gave rise to slight indraught from the north, which partially cleared the sky of cloud and diminished the humidity of the air. The mean temperature of the week was slightly above the average (by amounts less than 1°) over nearly the whole of Bengal and Behar. It was considerably above it in Chutia Nagpur as represented by Hazaribagh where the mean temperature was 3½° in excess. It was below the average in Orissa and at Chittagong, Berhampore and Bankipore. Higher maximum temperatures were registered than in the previous week. The highest were—

Gya	109.7° on the 15th
Dehree	108.5° „ 15th
Airah	107.4 „ 15th

Winds were feeble at the commencement of the week more especially at the head of the Bay. The wind directions in Bengal had a stronger easterly element than usual. Westerly winds continued to blow from Upper India across Chutia Nagpur and occasionally extended into the western districts of South Behar as on the 13th and 14th and again on the 17th. The winds in Bengal and Orissa during the remainder of the week depended both in direction and force on the cyclonic circulation in the north west angle of the Bay. Before the centre crossed the Orissa coast very light south east to north east winds prevailed in South Bengal. These were followed by southerly winds which increased very rapidly in strength at and after the close of the week under review.

Rainfall—The only districts which received general rain during the period extending from the 14th to the 17th were those in North Bengal and the Purneah district. Some very large amounts were received over this area. Thus on the 15th the following rainfalls exceeding four inches were registered—

	Inches
Meckligunge	6.09
Matabhanga	5.55
Kissengung	4.85
Julpigori	4.27
Dinhatta	4.01
and on the 17th
Nowgong	7.22
Cooch Behar	6.73
Dinapore	4.78
Arrurean	4.25

Local showers giving generally small amounts occurred in other districts, but the rainfall was in no case large nor of much importance. During the remainder of the week little rain fell in North Bengal and the greater part of East Bengal and North Behar.

More or less general rain was received on the 19th and 20th in Orissa, South West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and to a less extent in South Behar and the western districts of North Behar. The greater part of this rainfall was due to the cyclonic disturbance and it was hence most general and heaviest in Orissa and the adjacent districts of South West Bengal. No rainfall exceeding four inches in 24 hours was registered on either the 18th, 19th or 20th.

The preceding remarks indicate that rain was deficient in amount in East Bengal during the whole week, that moderate to heavy rain fell in North Bengal during the early part of the week, and that light to heavy rain fell in Orissa, South West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and Behar during the last three days of the week.

The only districts which received rainfall above the average were the Pooree, Cuttack, and Balasore districts of Orissa, the Singhbhum district of Chutia Nagpur, and the Burdwan and Jubbulpore districts of North Behar. The rainfall in all these districts has hitherto been considerably below the average, but they have now received more than their average amount since the commencement of the month.

The rainfall was unusually small in amount over the greater part of East Bengal and in the western districts of Behar, over a large portion of which deficiency varied from 50 to 75 per cent.

In the remaining districts, excluding nearly the whole of North and South West Bengal, the rainfall, although below the average, was yet fairly abundant. The Bankoora and Beroch districts, which have hitherto received little rain, obtained an average amount.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 20th of June 1884.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the A. C. W. Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmans No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.
